Exploratory meetings held in Northwest lumber tieup

PORTLAND (UPI) — Exploratory meetings between the Lumber and Sawmill Workers Union (LSU) and various lumber firms continued here today after an announcement that the union will resume meetings with the 196-member Timber Operators Council Monday.

The LSW was to hold wage talks with Georgia Pacific Corp. today.

The union met Wednesday with Simpson Timber Co. A statement later called it a "brief exploratory meeting" and said further sessions are subject to call by either side.

"We feel that the meeting was useful and that progress was made," commented J. W. Farmer, Simpson labor relations administrator. He said the talks covered several points in addition to wages, but would not elaborate.

Officials of the other large Northwest lumber union, the International Woodworkers of America (IWA), sat in on the session. The IWA met with Simpson last week and has another session scheduled Tuesday.

Talks between both unions and representatives of the Timber Operators Council were discontinued June 4. That organization represents mills in the Douglas Fir belt from Northern California to southeastern Alaska.

Strikes by the two unions against St. Regis Paper Co. and U. S. Plywood Corp. and a retaliatory shutdown by Weyerhaeuser, International Paper, Rayonier and Crown Zellerbach have idled 19,000 workers in Oregon and Washington.

There was no indication that further talks are imminent between those groups. A hearing was scheduled today in Montana on a temporary injunction preventing the LSW from striking St. Regis subsidiary plants in Libby and Troy, Mont.

Most other firms in the Northwest are continuing to work under extensions of contracts which expired June 1.

Mrs. Suttle given eight year term

Special to The Bulletin

MADRAS — Celia Adelle Suttle, 31-year-old Madras woman, was sentenced this week in the Jefferson County Circuit Court to serve eight years in the Oregon State Penitentiary for involuntary manslaughter.

Judge Robert H. Foley ordered the sentence Monday after receiving a pre-sentence investigation report from the state board of probation and parole. The report had been ordered after Mrs. Suttle entered a plea of guilty to the charge when she appeared in circuit court on May 23.

The manslaughter charge was filed against Mrs. Suttle on an indictment by the grand jury, arising out of the death of her four-year-old step-son, Lonnie J. Suttle.

The indictment charged the Madras woman with striking, beating and bruising the head, body, and legs of her step-son with her hands, a belt, and other means unknown, which resulted in the death of the boy.

The beating occurred on April 21, and the boy died in a Redmond hospital the following day.

Little chance seen for CD matching funds

SALEM (UPI) — Prospects of Oregon getting federal matching funds to bolster its cut-down Civil Defense organization are "not encouraging," Gov. Mark Hatfield said Wednesday.

He made the comment after a 40-minute session with two regional civil defense officials from Everett, Wash.

Hatfield and his executive assistant, Warne Nunn, met with Regional Director Charles Rawls, and Regional Director of Field Operations Don Fero.

Hatfield said a meeting between Nunn and National Civil Defense Director S. L. Pittman had been scheduled for Friday afternoon in Portland.

The governor said he would not be able to see Pittman Friday because of other commitments.

Early Decision Sought

Hatfield said Nunn will urge Pittman to make an early decision on whether Oregon will qualify for matching funds.

The present state 18 - member CD staff is slated to be cut back to a three - member coordinating group on July 1.

When the legislature made the cutback, Pittman warned Oregon would not qualify for federal matching funds.

Since that time federal officials have been in close contact with the state agency, giving rise to hopes that Pittman might reverse his stand.

Hatfield said, "federal officials have not yet decided whether Oregon can qualify for matching funds. I don't want to predict what the final decision will be, but I was not encouraged by the discussion.

The governor commented: "I feel the legislature abolished Civil Defense. I don't think it was a cutback. And I fear federal officials feel the same way."

CHARGES FACED

Fair employment measure considered by committee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Education and Labor Committee met behind closed doors today to consider the fair employment practices bill endorsed by President Kennedy in his civil rights message.

The controversial measure to outlaw job discrimination in private business won approval of a House labor subcommittee Wednesday.

But the bill's fate when it goes before the Rules Committee is uncertain at best. Similar legislation died there last year.

The new bill would establish a five-member federal Equal Employment Opportunities Commission. It would have power to order individual employers or unions to cease job discrimination based on race, religion or nationality. The commission could go into federal courts to seek enforcement of its orders.

The subcommittee decided at the last minute to set up the agency along the lines of the National Labor Relations Board. An administrator would investigate complaints of job discrimination and, if valid, take them to the commission itself for hearing and decision.

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz told the subcommittee during hearings that the administration fully endorsed the principles of the bill but he did not specifically endorse it.

Other congressional news:

Taxes: High administration sources discounted speculation that the threatened civil rights roadblock in Congress might stall action on a tax cut this year. They said they still expected Congress to approve a tax reduction before the end of the year, although the cut might be about $8 billion instead of the $10.4 billion sought by President Kennedy.

Editorializing: Congressional feeling against radio and television editorializing broke into the open with announcement of an investigation of the practice starting July 15. The hearings, to be conducted by a House subcommittee, are expected to last for about a week. Politicians and broadcasters will testify. Government officials probably will be called too.

Debates: The House took steps Wednesday toward permitting another series of televised campaign debates such as the Kennedy-Nixon meetings of 1960. It agreed to waive the "equal time" provisions of the Federal Communications Act for the 1964 presidential and vice presidential campaigns.

Communications: The International Telephone & Telegraph Corp. (ITT) objected to a proposal that international voice and record communications be merged under control of the government-sponsored Communications Satellite Corp. ITT President Harold S. Geneen wrote congressmen that such a development would "mean complete monopoly."

Convicted man freed by court

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI) —The State Supreme Court today freed a convicted safecracker because of "the shocking and unpardonable conduct of the sheriff's officers" who planted a microphone in his jail cell to overhear his conversations with his attorney.

The court reversed the conviction of William S. Cory, 42, Bremerton, and ordered the charges against him dismissed.

Cory was serving a life prison sentence after being judged an habitual criminal following his conviction on six counts of burglary.

Cory's attorney, Frederick B. Cohen of Bremerton, told the court that Kitsap County sheriff's officers listened in on confidential conversations between attorney and client.

The Supreme Court, in an opinion written by Judge Hugh J. Rosellini, said that the sheriff's conduct "deprived Cory of his right to effective counsel."

Khrushchev originally planned to visit the three Scandinavian countries in 1959. But he called off the trip because of the "unfavorable atmosphere" created by the Scandinavian press.

The group will assemble at the Warm Springs Agency Saturday at 10 a.m. and drive across the National Grasslands before visiting the Pelton Dam. Headquarters Saturday night will be the Cove Park.

On Sunday morning, the group will go into the Fly Creek country to look over deer winter range and examine bitterbrush. From Camp Sherman, the group will drive down the Metolius River to examine the deer range.

A visit to Wizard Falls trout hatchery is included in the Sunday program.

Information relative to details of the program and meeting places can be obtained from Griffith, member of the Deschutes National Forest headquarters staff in Bend.

State workers get 5 per cent pay increase

SALEM (UPI)—A five per cent pay increase totaling $6.7 million for about 12,000 classified state employes has been approved by the State Civil Service Commission.

The commission's recommendations go to the governor for approval, then will be submitted to the State Emergency Board on June 28.

The Emergency Board, made up of legislators, must approved allocation of the funds for the pay hikes.

Civil Service Commission Director Melvin H. Cleveland said about two-thirds of the state's classified employes will receive a five per cent pay hike.

Nurses Get More

About one-third of the classified employes will not get an increase in pay, and registered nurses will get a larger increase than originally planned because of recent increases in the private pay scale for nurses, Cleveland said.

The pay increases will go into effect July 1 if approved by the Emergency Board.

The commission's recommendations were approved in principle by the 1965 legislature, which set aside $4.2 million with the Emergency Board for this purpose.

The increases, approved by the commission Wednesday, will take $3.8 million from the general fund, and about $2.9 million from dedicated funds.

Education Separate

Ralph Minear of the Department of Finance and Administration, said the commission's action, combined with increases approved by the legislature, will provide more pay for all state employes except higher education academic personnel, and the one-third of the classified people.

The legislature appropriated separate funds for higher education academic salary increases.

State policemen and heads of state agencies also are slated to receive bigger pay checks next month.

Flemming backs Kennedy plan on civil rights

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Dr. Arthur Flemming, president of the University of Oregon, said today he backs President Kennedy's civil rights program.

Flemming was here today after attending a meeting of educators called by President Kennedy to discuss the issues.

He said he believes Congress should adopt all of the president's recommendations.

"They provide a rallying point for all who are willing to give more than lip service to the concept of the dignity and worth of each human being," Flemming said.
