Rep. Cannon on program

PRINEVILLE — State representative Kessler Cannon will present a brief summary of legislative bills that were passed during the 1963 legislature, and those signed by Mark Hatfield, at the Chamber of Commerce luncheon Monday, June 24, in the Ochoco Inn.

In reviewing bills that were passed, the chamber is seeking to bring members up to date on those measures that affect taxes, business and other phases of daily life of its members, according to R. P. McRae, chamber president.

Cannon will emphasize certain pertinent bills that are of greatest interest to Central Oregonians.

McRae stated that the meeting is open to the public, to permit a greater spread of general information on Cannon's topic.

No agreement on fish pact

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States, Canada and Japan failed Thursday to reach agreement over Japan's bid to rewrite a 10-year-old conservation pact which has barred Japan from some fisheries in the eastern North Pacific Ocean, informed sources said.

The three nations were expected to end their two-week meeting here today with the intention of trying again later in the year.

The conference, which began June 6, was called at Japan's request to reassess the 10-year-old International North Pacific Fisheries Convention.

Japan proposed a substitute treaty. Throughout the conference Japan insisted on abolishing the "abstention principle," under which it was barred from fishing for certain species in areas of the eastern North Pacific so long as Canada and the United States could prove they were fully utilizing the stocks.

The United States and Canada were equally firm in stating that the abstention principle must be retained.

The two North American countries said problems encountered in the North Pacific fisheries could best be solved within the framework of the existing pact.

Chief species affected under the abstention principle are halibut, salmon and herring.

'Rock-A-Dao' promotion set

PRINEVILLE — Plans are being completed by the merchants' committee, Prineville Chamber of Commerce, for a "Rock-A-Dao" promotion, to be held during the All-Rockhounds Pow Wow here, July 3-7, according to Ivan Chappell, chamber manager.

Included in the general program will be the issuance of tickets and the giving of merchandise by local merchants at the Pow Wow, Chappell said.

A full-scale program, highlighted by the playing of oldtime tunes by the Reveths, an ensemble popular with rockhounds, will be presented Friday evening of the Pow Wow, July 5. Local residents will be invited to join visiting rockhounds for the evening, at the fairgrounds.

Special horse events will be presented in the rodeo arena on July 6 for the entertainment of rockhounds by the Prineville Ridge Riders. Chappell estimates that more than 2,000 rockhounds will be in the Prineville area during the Pow Wow. Many of these will camp at the Crook county fairgrounds, the official headquarters for the event.

DEATH TRAP — Any abandoned refrigerator or ice box is a potential source of death to youngsters, says Refrigeration Service Engineers Society. Week of June 23-29 has been set aside to spotlight need for removal of these machines.

Campaign due to cut down on 'box' deaths

In the 1962 year no fewer than 35 American youngsters suffered death by suffocation when they were trapped inside abandoned or unused refrigerators and ice boxes.

The '62 figure was the highest ever recorded for deaths of this nature.

In efforts to prevent a recurrence of these tragedies, the Refrigeration Service Engineers' Society is conducting a nationwide campaign entitled "Don't Leave a Death Trap" week, running June 23-29. Residents can work with local police by removing doors from any refrigerators they may have abandoned, and reporting others to police.

Regionally, the campaign is being endorsed by Gov. Mark O. Hatfield. In Bend, Police Chief Emil Moen and members of the force are requesting assistance from residents.

A similar campaign was conducted by the Society in the latter part of 1959, as deaths by refrigerator suffocation in 1958-1960 were recorded at 52. In 1960, following vigorous campaigning by the Society and by PTA members, only six deaths were listed. But figures of subsequent years indicate parents have forgotten the hazards of abandoned refrigerators. Deaths in 1962 outnumber total deaths in the years 1958-59.

Plans for plant are finalized

NEWPORT, Ore. (UPI)—Plans for a $250,000 drug plant at Newport were finalized Thursday when Kapson Laboratories, a drug manufacturing firm, and Lincoln Development Co., an industrial development group, signed a formal agreement. The plant will be constructed within the next 180 days.

William Kapranos of Fullerton, Calif., head of the firm, said the plant will principally manufacture pharmaceutical liquids and creams. Its first product will be "amphodyne," to be used in hospitals as a surgeons' scrub and in preparation of patients for surgery.

The two had worked together earlier at Mead-Johnson where they were involved in the development of the product metracal.

First National Bank board to meet here on Wednesday

Directors of the First National Bank of Oregon will meet in Bend on Wednesday, June 26, it was announced by Maurice F. Shelton, manager of the Bend branch of the statewide bank.

First National directors have followed a policy of meeting once a year in a community outside Portland where the bank maintains a branch or branches, and this is the first time in the bank's 99-year history that the board has gathered in Bend for a meeting, Shelton said.

James D. McWilliams, manager of the Prineville branch, and John Venard, manager of the Madras branch, will join with Shelton in hosting the visiting business leaders.

"Planned as a salute to the Deschutes, Jefferson and Crook county area, the trip will give the bankers an opportunity to strengthen many important ties between the bank, its officials and the citizens of the area," Shelton said.

"The visit will give the delegation a close look at the economy of the area, and will allow the directors to meet many of the bank's customers in the three counties," he added.

The group will visit the Bend, Prineville and Madras branches of First National, where they will meet the officers and staffs of the three banking offices.

Ralph J. Voss, president of the bank, will head the delegation to arrive Wednesday morning by chartered bus. Accompanying Voss will be C. B. Stephenson, chairman of the board.

The group includes Dr. Burt B. Barker, vice president emeritus, University of Oregon; Henry F. Cabell, manager, estate of Henry Failing; Paul De Koning, president, Jantzen, Inc.; John D. Gray, president, Omak Industries, Inc.; A. W. Groth, Murphy Investment Company; William A. Haseltine, president, J. E. Haseltine & Company; Francis F. Negroes again demonstrate Negroes staged another demonstration in racially tense Savannah, Ga., Thursday night but there were no incidents.

More than 1,000 Negroes emerged from a rally and marched singing through a Negro neighborhood. They dispersed peacefully. Negro leaders at the rally accused police of brutality in quelling a riot Wednesday night with tear gas. Earlier Thursday, a riot squad arrested 20 Negroes for demonstrating in a downtown Savannah park.

A crowd of about 500 whites and Negroes marched in St. Louis, Mo., Thursday night to protest alleged school segregation. Four white hecklers were taken into custody by police but released later. Negroes had predicted around 5,000 persons would participate in the rush hour demonstration.

Around 50 demonstrators were arrested at Albany, Ga., Thursday during a series of scattered protest demonstrations. The arrested group included 16 of 24 members of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee's southwest Georgia staff.

At Jackson, Miss., Negroes voted at a rally to accept the desegregation proposals of Mayor Allen Thompson. Negro leaders said they would turn their attention now to a Negro voter registration campaign.
