

Chicago White Sox got Yanks' number

By Fred Down
UPI Staff Writer

The Chicago White Sox have come up with a number for which American League teams searched for years — the Yankees' number.

It's an old Yankee tradition to play their best against their chief rivals — to knock off the contenders themselves.

The defending world champions may eventually get around to doing just that this season but they'll have to make up for lost time. Here it is almost the half-way mark of the season and they've yet to score a victory over the White Sox.

The White Sox made it three in a row for the season Monday night when Johnny Buzhardt and Hoyt Wilhelm combined in a six-hitter that gave them a 5-2 victory over the Yankees. The win was the White Sox' fourth in their last five games and boosted them to within one game of first-place New York.

Yankee Nemesis
Buzhardt, a low fast ball pitcher whom the White Sox acquired from the Philadelphia Phillies in 1961, has now beaten the Yankees four straight times over the last two seasons. He yielded five hits in seven innings Monday night to raise his overall season record to 9-3.

Catcher Camilo Carreon's three-run double off Al Downing was the big blow of a four-run fourth-inning rally and Pete Ward weighed in with his ninth homer and a single to extend his hitting streak to 18 games. A crowd of 42,748 in Chicago saw Downing suffer his first loss after two wins.

The Minnesota Twins beat the Baltimore Orioles, 6-4, the Boston Red Sox defeated the Cleveland Indians, 7-5, the Los Angeles Angels nipped the Washington Senators, 3-2, and the Kansas City Athletics downed the Detroit Tigers, 6-3, in other American League action.

In the National League, the San Francisco Giants edged out the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3, the Los Angeles Dodgers tripped the Cincinnati Reds, 5-4, and the Milwaukee Braves beat the Houston Colts, 3-0.

Pace Twins' Attack
Zolito Versalles' triple, doubles by Jim Kaat and Vic Power and singles by Power and Bob Allison were the big blows of a 10-hit Minnesota attack. Kaat went 7-1-3 in innings to receive credit for his seventh win with Bill Dailey, making his seventh relief appearance in nine days, finishing up Gary Geiger's two-run ninth-inning homer enabled Red Sox reliever Jack Lamabe to win his third game after the Indians had tied the score in the seventh on a two-run homer by Willie Kirkland. Chuck Schilling and Lou Clinton also homered for the Red Sox while Kirkland had three hits for the Indians.

Jim Fregosi's single scored Ed Sadowski and capped a three-run game-winning Angel rally in the eighth after Claude Osteen had pitched a two-hit shutout for seven innings for the Senators. Hank Foiles sparked the rally with a homer, and other key hits were singles by Lee Thomas, Sadowski and Albie Pearson. Relief pitcher Art Fowler won his second game for the Angels.

Bobby Del Greco and Ken Harellson hit two-run homers to offset one by Bill Bruton and enable Ed Rakow to win his seventh game for Kansas City.

Denver's Klimchok serves notice he is ready for majors

By Charles H. Wilson Jr.
UPI Staff Writer

If the Milwaukee Braves decide they need another hitter, Lou Klimchok is serving notice with his bat that he is ready and willing to give the major leagues another try.

The Braves have already given Klimchok a couple of trials, each time he has ended up in the minors—this year with the Denver Bears of the Pacific Coast League.

But Lou has been making a lot of noise with his bat lately, an indication that he might like another look at National League pitching. Take Monday night, for example.

Klimchok smashed two 400-foot home runs, also hit a double and single, drove in four runs and extended his hitting streak to 14 games.

His hitting was almost all the Bears needed as they overwhelmed the San Diego Padres 13-5 with a 16-hit attack.

In the only other league action, Seattle and Salt Lake City split a doubleheader. The Rainiers captured the second game 5-2 behind the five-hit pitching of Guido Grilli after the Bees won the opener 8-3.

Klimchok had to give a share of the spotlight Monday night to Elhan Blackaby and Bill Woodward. Blackaby took advantage of his blazing speed and stole home in the fifth inning.

Mulkey arrives

CORVALLIS (UPI)—Phil Mulkey arrived in person Monday night to train for the National AAU Decathlon championships here this weekend.

The absence of an entry from the former Memphis State athlete, one of the nation's best in the tiring 10-event test, had been a source of concern to meet director Sam Bell.

Mulkey's arrival brought the entry list to 20 for the meet opening at Oregon State University Friday morning.

Big heave

TROUTDALE (UPI)—Gary Reddaway of the University of Oregon threw the javelin 219 feet Monday night to highlight the All-Cornets track meet at Reynolds High School.

VETERAN CATCHER—Val Lewis, a catcher on the Bend American Legion team, catches ball in recent pre-game action at the municipal ballpark. Lewis, a veteran behind the plate, also caught for Bend High School this spring. Lewis has proven he can be a dangerous hitter as well as fielder. He is slated for more Legion action this week.

BOARD MEETS
Bend youth baseball officers and directors will hold a regular board session Thursday, at 8 p.m., the city recreation department said today.

It is slated for the Harmon Hobby House.

Woodward, given a bonus to sign with Milwaukee from the Florida State Campus, singled three times and drove in a run in his home debut with the Bears.

Chi Chi Olivo pitched the distance despite 13 San Diego hits and recorded his seventh victory in 11 decisions.

A Padre victory would have put them in first place in the Northern Division, but the defeat dropped them into third place behind Dallas-Ft. Worth and Oklahoma City. It's that close.

Grilli made his first start for Seattle in an impressive one. The little southpaw was in control all the way and made only one mistake, a fourth inning home run by Bill Cowan that spoiled his shut-out bid.

R. G. Smith gave Grilli a two-run lead in the first with a home run. Seattle picked up its other three runs in the fourth, with Grilli and Joe Pedrazzini contributing key doubles.

Seattle's starter and loser Pete Smith had no one to blame but himself for the Rainiers' defeat in the first game. Salt Lake City capitalized on Smith's wildness to score five runs in the third inning and break a 3-3 tie.

Smith forced two of the runs across the plate with walks and issued two other free passes to set up the Bees' other three runs.

Al Lary went the distance for Salt Lake City and evened his seasons' record at 6-6. He allowed just seven hits and all three Seattle runs were unearned.

Horse players' society hopes to prevent cruelty

By Oscar Freley
UPI Staff Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—There is no existence today a new and valiant organization which may go down in history with such glorious outfits as Coxey's Army, the Bloomer Girls and Billy Watson's beef trust.

It has a vast membership potential of some 33-million folks, and if that comes out "dopes" it's a misprint. The ultimate purpose is to change things so that said folks lose their money a bit more slowly.

The name of this organization, raising a lusty howl in the failing financial wilderness, is "The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Horse Players."

As a charter member, old Fearless long has turned purple at the fact that some horse owners gallop their steeds in the guise of racing them while merely sharpening them for their next outing. When you see the jockey scratching his neck with the bat while his nag ambles down the stretch, you know you've been had.

Heads New Group

Our lofty-minded president is a gent named Van Mansbach, who runs a bistro named Beau Brummel, probably in memory of those who passed on before they could get to the track. Van is primarily concerned with the tax bite on the racing buck and, being one of our best dreamers, wants to put the squeeze on the politicians.

Van's premise is that every time you make a $2 wager you pay 34 cents for the privilege in the way of a tax bite. This means if you stay around the track for six races you've already blown the deuce, among others.

However, Van has asked the members for suggestions in planning an active campaign and, after serious consideration, I have several.

First, how's for starting a subsidiary organization along the lines of AA? Ours could be "Horseplayers Anonymous," although, on second thought, our honorary president Joe E. Lewis, might consider "HA" as too jocular. And there's a man who will tell you betting on the horses is no joking matter.

Down With Fences

There is, also, the possibility of forming out-vision brigades which would tear down the fences at every horse park so us prisoners could escape at will. The difficulty here is that more people might start storming inside.

We could outlaw the automobile, and there's a real thought. At this point all highways could be torn up, as they are most of the time, anyhow, and all horses could be put back to the plow. Which is where most of my choices belong to begin with.

As a final suggestion from these quarters, the local municipality could sell a license, something like a dog tag, to each inveterate, guaranteed, dyed-in-the-horsehide bettor. This tag would entitle him to ride home free on local transportation facilities each and every time he tapped out at the local bangtail parlor.

Too many of us have done that 50-mile hike but long before it was ever considered beneficial to one's "vigah."
