REV. BRUCE F. HUNT

Missionary due at church here

One of the best-known missionaries in Korea, the Reverend Bruce F. Hunt, is to speak at Westminster Orthodox Presbyterian Church, Newport and Drake Road, on Sunday, June 30, at 11 a.m. He is a missionary of the Orthodox Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Hunt comes from a long line of Christian ministers and leaders. His great-grandfather was a missionary in the Hawaiian Islands, and his father was a missionary in Korea for nearly 50 years, beginning in 1873. Mr. Hunt was born in Korea, and was his wife, also a daughter of missionaries. Korean people say he "speaks Korean like a native."

Mr. Hunt began his missionary work in Korea in 1928 after attending Wheaton College and graduating from Rutgers University and Princeton Theological Seminary. He later served in Manchuria for five years until imprisoned for seven months by the Japanese in 1942. He returned to Korea in 1946. The Korean war again interrupted his work in 1950, but he was able to return once more in 1952. Mr. Hunt is now in this country on furlough for a year.

Holdup man shot, killed

PORTLAND (UPI)—A young man posing as a detective was shot and fatally wounded after striking a bakery proprietor over the head with a blackjack in an apparent holdup attempt Thursday night, police reported.

David Arthur Soney, 22, Clackamas, died about two hours after he was shot.

Edward Visnaw, 33, proprietor of the Butter Crust Bakery on Southeast 92nd Avenue, told police he was putting away the day's receipts when Soney entered.

Visnaw said Soney had a badge and said he wanted to "stake out" the bakery because of recent holdups in the area. Visnaw said he became suspicious when the youth went outside and that he got his gun from his living quarters.

He said the youth returned and asked him to lock all the doors and then struck him on the head with a blackjack. Visnaw said he lost his glasses but pulled his gun and fired from close range.

'Liberty Bell' has arrived

PORTLAND (UPI)—Portland's Liberty Bell arrived Thursday—with a simulated crack plus some real damage.

The one-ton bell slipped off its supports and damaged the mahogany-covered steel base. The base and one support suffered minor damage.

But emergency repairs were made and the bell was ready for today's parade through downtown Portland on a flatbed truck. After that it will go into storage until brought out and rung publicly at noon July 4.

Elderly man's body discovered beneath car

OREGON CITY (UPI)—The body of an 80-year-old man, who apparently had been pinned under his car since late Monday when it slipped from a jack, was found late Thursday.

Dead was Russell Rosier Ripley, Route 1, Clackamas. He apparently died from exposure.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Baird said Ripley had used a late model bumper jack and that the bumper of the car was not grooved to fit the jack. His body was pinned beneath the vehicle which had rolled over him, a wheel holding his wrist.

The body was discovered by Thomas Travis, Bremerton, when he heard a dog barking Thursday night.

Gross guilty, jury decides

THE DALLES (UPI)—Wasco County Circuit Court jury found Jake George Gross guilty of manslaughter Thursday in the April 14 death of Frank Edward Finnegan at a ranch east of Wasco.

Gross was charged with first degree murder, but Judge Edward H. Howell instructed the jury not to consider that charge because the state failed to show sufficient evidence of premeditation.

The jury returned the verdict after six hours of deliberation. Howell set no date for sentencing but said it would occur within a week.

Finnegan was beaten to death in an altercation in a bunkhouse at the Fred Dornier ranch near Wasco. The trial was moved from Sherman to Wasco County after defense attorney Kenneth Abraham requested a change of venue.

Average man, family have stake in Treasury report

By Lyle C. Wilson
UPI Staff Writer

The average man and his family have a personal stake in a report the U. S. Treasury will make in a couple of days to the American people. The Treasury will report that the government has racked up another deficit for fiscal year 1963. Fiscal '63 will end at midnight next Sunday.

This will be the 27th federal deficit since 1930. The personal stake of the average man is that these deficits have contributed to the larceny of his saving, his insurance, his money in pocket by a process known as currency inflation. The average man's dollar which was worth 100 cents in purchasing in 1939, is worth only 45.6 cents today.

The average man who obtained a $10,000 life insurance policy in 1939 has today a $4,560 life insurance policy in terms of purchasing power. In terms of bacon, beans and baby shoes, rent, doctor's bills or what have you, that $10,000 life insurance policy has depreciated in value since 1939 by $5,440, more than half.

The Treasury's deficit record is not merely shameful; it is a direct and dangerous challenge to the American way of life. The average man and woman does not seem to be aware of what these endless deficits have done and what they will do if they are continued. If the victims of this grandest larceny were aware of it, they would rebel at the polls.

Under Both Parties
The politicians of both parties in the White House and the Congress share responsibilities for these deficits, but not equally. Democratic presidents and Congress have shown less interest, if any, than have Republicans in prudent management of the nation's finances. Franklin D. Roosevelt's campaign promises to balance the federal budget and to reduce government expenditures lasted only a few weeks into his first term.

FDR did not achieve a balanced budget in any year of his White House service. Harry S. Truman came up with three balanced budgets in his eight years. Two of these were imposed on HST by the Republican 80th Congress he so deplored.

Dwight D. Eisenhower balanced the budget thrice. In fiscal 1959 Ike was embarrassed by the largest peacetime deficit so far, $12.4 billion. John F. Kennedy is 0 for 3, including fiscal '63. His program projects Treasury deficits through fiscal 1967. If it is a fact that Treasury deficits gnaw at dollar values, then the average man is in for more lumps.

Continues Downward
The two-bit dollar is not far down the deficit road which the U. S. government has followed since 1930. Pressure groups for spending and politicians who buy votes with the voters' own tax money are mostly responsible for the failure of the U. S. government to live within its income.

Citizens have been lulled and gulled by the politicians' story that the big spending is all in the cause of national defense. Boney! National defense spending has been reduced by one-third since fiscal 1943 when the United States was in a hot war. But in the same 20-year period, non-defense spending has increased five fold from about $6 billion to about $30 billion.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) recently cited the fact that $17 billion of a $20 billion increase in federal spending since the Korean War in 1953 has been for strictly domestic — civilian programs, projects, purposes and interests. A great deal of that is tax money the politicians vote to spend back home so that they can be re-elected.

It won't be long now. A bus ride downtown will cost one buck.

Action taken on new law

SALEM (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton announced today that plans are under way to administer the new law for supervision of tax-exempt charitable organizations.

The uniform supervision of trustees for charitable purposes act takes effect on Sept. 2. The measure was enacted by the 1963 legislature.

Thornton said the law provides for registration of charitable trusts, foundations and similar tax-exempt groups in the interest of the trust beneficiaries and the public.

Exempt from provisions of the reporting statute are religious organizations, educational institutions, hospitals and public bodies. A public register of organizations reporting under the law will be maintained by the attorney general's office.

Thornton said he will ask the presidents of various organizations such as the Oregon State Bar to name representatives to an advisory committee. The committee will be asked to recommend procedures for enforcing the law.

Salary boosts approved only through Dec. 31

SALEM (UPI)—Salary increases for state employees were approved only through Dec. 31 by the Emergency Board today because of the threat of referral of the legislature's $60 million tax increase measure.

More than $3.8 million was requested for pay hikes for the biennium which begins Monday.

The board, made up of legislators, said it did not want to approve increases for the full biennium because of the referral possibility.

House Speaker Clarence Barton, D-Coquille, pointed out that if the full increase was approved at this time, the emergency board would not have the authority to make salary cuts at a later date.

Rep. Stafford Hansell, R-Hermiston, then suggested the $3.8 million salary increase allotment be divided into 24 equal parts, and that only six parts be allotted at this time.

The move was unanimously approved.

Finance and Administration Director Freeman Holmer pointed out that while the Emergency Board would not have the authority to cut back on any increases it approved, the governor did have that authority.

Holmer added, however, that the governor had indicated he would not order salary cuts, but would instead order staff cutbacks in case of referral.

Barton asked "if you can cut back on the number of employees if the tax bill is referred, why can't you cut back now?"

Holmer said, "We can't reduce the number of employees and still get the work done. If the tax measure is defeated by the voters we will have to make cuts, and it has been decided to cut back on the number of employees, rather than reduce the pay scale."
