

Lease for Boardman space age park signed by Boeing

SALEM (UPI) — The 100,000-acre Boardman Space Age Industrial Park was leased to Boeing Co. at a 10-minute special State Land Board meeting today.

The agreement culminated a three-year drive to open the north-central Oregon area for industrial expansion.

The lease was approved by Secretary of State Howell Appling Jr. and State Treasurer Howard Belton, then taken to the home of Gov. Mark Hatfield, who is ill with the flu, for the governor's signature.

The $4.6 million lease covers a 77-year period.

Today's approval followed settlement of a technical question which arose when the land board met Monday to sign the lease.

Test Area Planned

Robert H. Jewett, vice president and assistant general manager of Boeing's Aero-Space division, said the company will use the Boardman site as a test area in connection with its research and development activities.

"With the signing of the lease we will be able to include the site in our test planning," Jewett said. "While current work is being done elsewhere, the addition of Boardman will enhance our test capabilities."

The lease also was signed by William M. Allen, Boeing president.

The lease, to become effective as soon as Boeing obtains possession, gives the Seattle firm use of the site for industrial research and developmental purposes until 2020.

It provides for annual rental payments by Boeing of $60,000 per year, in quarterly installments. Half of any sub-rental fees will go to the state.

The state has 90 days to give Boeing possession.

Formalities Left

This requires only the completion of formalities under an agreement between the state and Army Engineers covering waterfront area of the site. Under the agreement, the state will acquire some 0.2 miles of waterfront, and the corps will reserve about three miles of waterfront at the John Day Dam for public recreation use.

The company first signed a lease for the property with the state in 1961, but this lease never went into effect because the state's title to the land was clouded.

The Navy had balked at moving its practice bombing range. The problem with the Navy has since been settled.

The lease gives Boeing the right to go on the land immediately, and it was announced Boeing would begin planning work immediately.

New extortion plot uncovered

OLYMPIA (UPI)—A second extortion plot involving a state liquor license—this one aimed at a motel in Pasco—was revealed Tuesday by the State Liquor Control Board.

Chairman Garland Sponburgh said a man who identified himself as "John Robinson" telephoned the owner of the Sahara Motel and offered to provide a cocktail lounge license in exchange for $5,000.

The case was remarkably similar to the shakedown attempt which the board revealed Monday in which a man who called himself Frank Smyth told the operator of the Islander Motel in Westport that he could supply a license for the same fee, $5,000.

Sponburgh said the Pasco incident occurred May 1 but the information was withheld until Tuesday because "we didn't want to give anything away."

He said the case was announced after the Westport incident came to light even though the board still has not made any arrests as a result of the Pasco incident.

Edward F. Schaller, a board inspector, said that the owner of the Pasco motel, Jess Wynia, reported the telephone call from the man who called himself Robinson.

Schaller said the man "stated that he knew that Jess had been turned down on his application for a Class H cocktail lounge liquor license for the third time, but if he wanted it had enough to be arranged immediately."

Schaller said Wynia told him that the caller asked for $2,000 immediately and $3,000 on delivery of the license.

The man who called the Islander asked for $3,000 and four bottles of whisky immediately and $2,000 later plus $500 interest.

Meanwhile, board investigators continued to question Jack Workman of Olympia and Portland who was arrested Friday after he picked up a suitcase containing money from the Islander.

Workman, who is being held in Grays Harbor County jail on a charge of "grafting" claimed that he was asked to pick up the suitcase by the man who called himself Smyth. Workman said he did not know what the case contained.

Warren Brown, pioneer, dies

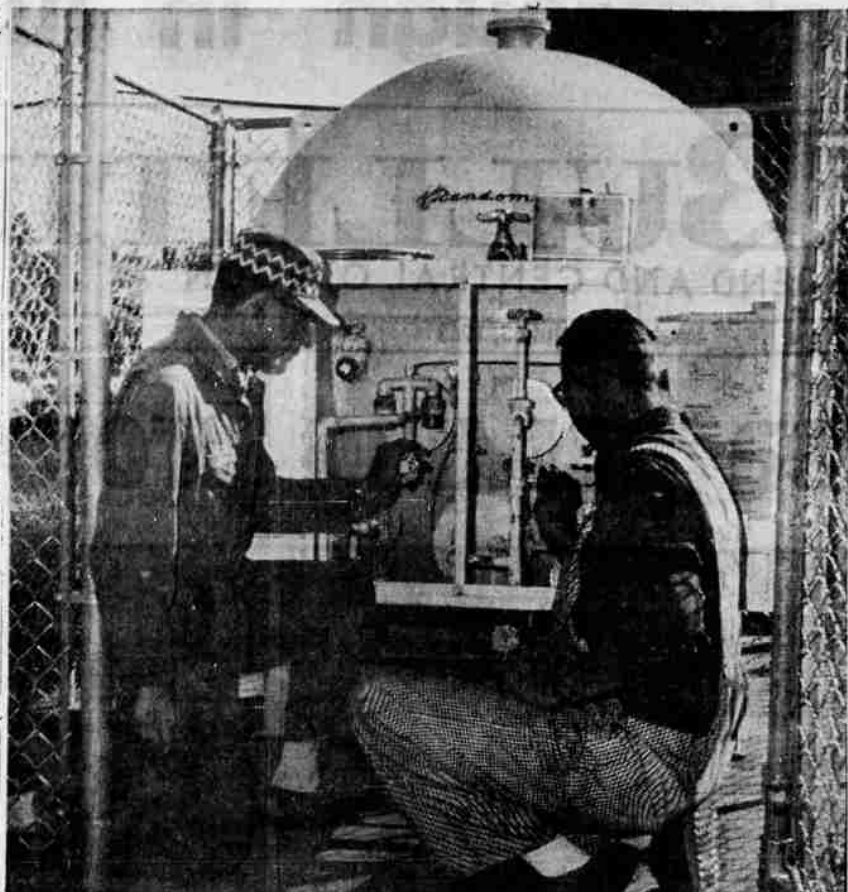

Special to The Bulletin

PRINEVILLE — Word was received this week of the death of Warren Brown, pioneer Central Oregon resident. He was born at Oskaloosa, Kansas, May 14, 1874, and died June 29 in a hospital in Walla Walla, Washington.

Mr. Brown came to Central Oregon at the age of two, and lived here until he was 83. He married Nona Richardson September 2, 1922. He served as Crook county clerk for three terms, resigning in his last term with Asa Battles taking over. He then worked in a land office, a bank, and was manager of the Ochoco Inn.

Survivors include one son, Warren R. of Orofino, Idaho; a daughter, Mrs. J. T. (Mollie) Monahan of Milton-Freewater; a brother, Roy of Prineville and three sisters, Mrs. Lulu Lithgow and Mrs. Maud Cram, Redmond and Mrs. Ella Bolter of Gateway.

Funeral services were held in Milton-Freewater July 1 at the Munsell Funeral Chapel, with burial in the Milton-Freewater cemetery.

ASTRONAUT'S CAPSULE?—This object that looks very much like astronaut's capsule is Central Oregon's first bulk liquid oxygen container, installed on St. Charles Hospital grounds in Bend Tuesday. Obtained from Industrial Air Products, Portland, through Harvey Watt of Central Oregon Welders' Supply, big capsule holds 24,000 gaseous cubic feet. It will supplement hospital's present oxygen equipment. Dave Willis, left, and Roy Schwindt are pictured installing tank.

Pope may visit United States

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Vatican sources said today that Pope Paul VI may become the first pontiff in history to visit the United States.

The sources, commenting on the Pope's meeting with President Kennedy Tuesday, said he probably would take an opportunity to go to the United States after completion of the Ecumenical Council.

The council opens its second session Sept. 29. No closing date has been set.

Although the sources did not say so, one of the obstacles to such a visit in 1964 would be the presidential elections and the fact that President Kennedy is a Roman Catholic. An invitation for that year would be unlikely. The sources believed 1965 is the earliest possible date.

Another obstacle might be the fact that at present the United States is the only major Western

Anglers draw LaPine fines

LaPINE — Angling by prohibited methods cost five fishermen fines ranging from $29.50 to $50 on recent appearances in the court of Justice of the Peace Barney Martin of LaPine. Arrests were made by Oregon State Police.

Fred A. Roles, Cottage Grove, paid a fine of $29.50, and Richard A. Barrett, Portland, was assessed $35, on a charge of using two poles. Crystal R. Mowery, San Francisco, Calif. and Gale W. Evans, LaPine, each paid $29.50. Herbert H. Helzel, Portland, was fined $50.

Hal L. Roberts, Portland, was found not guilty in a trial in Judge Martin's court. He had been accused of exceeding the bag limit.

nation without diplomatic relations with the Vatican.

It was not known whether Kennedy and Pope Paul touched on the question of diplomatic relations in their private talk Tuesday. But since they spent only 10 minutes alone, it was not believed the subject was covered.

Sisters blaze probe underway

Special to The Bulletin

SISTERS — A state fire marshal arrived in Sisters Monday to investigate the cause of the fire in a local building early Sunday morning that resulted in the death of Lewis E. Johnson, 69. Mr. Johnson's body was found in a small room in the upper floor of the two-story building that housed a sports goods store, near the west end of town.

It has been determined that the fire started in a downstairs hallway, in the rear of the store. The cause of the blaze has not been determined.

Cause of death was asphyxiation. Funeral services will be Friday morning at 10 o'clock, at graveside at the Redmond Cemetery.

Three visitors booked by police

Three out-of-town visitors were booked by city police Tuesday on drunk charges.

Cited for being intoxicated in a public place were Walter Herbert Coughton, 32, Newcastle, Pa.; George Alvin Orcutt, 31, Hood River, and Forest Jacob Orcutt, 29, Burley, Idaho.

Bail on each was fixed at $27.50.

Mrs. Kennedy, two children begin vacation

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy and her two children began their summer vacation at a rented home on Squaw Island today.

Mrs. Kennedy, Caroline, 5, and John Jr., 2, flew from Newport, R.I., to Otis Air Force Base Tuesday aboard the family plane, "The Caroline." They drove the 18 miles to Squaw Island, a peninsula off this Cape Cod resort community where several members of the Kennedy family maintain summer homes.

President Kennedy was expected to join his family this weekend at the house they have rented from industrialist Louis Thun of Reading, Pa.

Mrs. Kennedy and her children spent several days at Hammer-smith Farm in Newport, the home of Mrs. Kennedy's stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss.

This will be the second summer that the President has rented a home instead of occupying the grey-shingled house he owns in the "Kennedy compound."

The rented homes were chosen to provide more space and privacy.

Paving underway in Bend again

The initial work of the first street paving project in nearly two years in Bend is under way by county workmen now at W. 11th Street.

The county is currently grading the roadway from Newport to Quincy Avenue, City Manager Hal Puddy said today.

Other street improvement projects scheduled this year are: E. Seward Avenue from E. Sixth to Eighth Street; E. Kearney Avenue from E. Fifth to Sixth Street and E. Lafayette Avenue from E. Seventh to Tenth Street.

Slated for curb and sidewalk construction this year are the Portland Avenue Bridge approaches, from Steidl Road to Hill Street.

Jefferson school head selected

Special to The Bulletin

MADRAS—Robert C. Johnson of Curry County has been named Jefferson County Superintendent of Schools and is now on duty.

A graduate from the University of Oregon, where he obtained his BA degree, Johnson succeeds John Crowley, who has accepted a position as Brookings superintendent of schools.

A navy veteran of World War II, Johnson has 14 years' teaching experience, and specializes in the field of remedial education. He was a child service consultant in Curry County, in the county school system.

Union members urged against petition action

PORTLAND (UPI)— Executive officers of the Oregon AFL-CIO are urging union members not to sign petitions to refer the 1963 legislature's $80 million tax increase measure.

State AFL-CIO President J. D. McDonald and Executive Secretary James T. Marr said today that the new law "violates in some measure the historic approach of progressive taxation in Oregon, it has a number of basic advantages."

They said they liked the tax credit which replaces the former personal dependency deductions, and favor the narrow range of progress in the rate structure as a step forward.

Both said they felt the new law was "far more advantageous to families" than either a sales tax or a gross income tax.

A petition to refer the tax bill has been filed, and a special election will be held if 23,185 persons sign the petitions.

Range fires set by lightning

By United Press International

Two lightning - caused range fires which covered an estimated total of 5,000 acres in the Vale area of Eastern Oregon were under control today, the Bureau of Land Management reported.

One of the blazes was about four miles north of Vale and the other about four miles south, the BLM said. They burned over sagebrush and grassland and no timber was involved.
