From whiskers to satellites step not big one for company

By Jesse Bogue
UPI Staff Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) —The step from involvement with the whiskers on a shaver's chin to the capacity to plan advanced weapons and satellite systems is not really such a long one for a company to take in today's era of technological growth, William H. Burgess believes.

The ever broadening field of electronics applications, plus careful management, cannot help but lead almost naturally to expansion, Burgess said in an interview here.

Burgess is president of Electronic Specialty Co., Los Angeles. Through a program of mergers, he has seen its sales grow from about $175,000 in 1949 to more than $65 million in 1962.

Started With Shavers

Organized in 1949 to manufacture aircraft communications equipment, the company had its first big growth period through the manufacture of a device for converting alternating current to direct to improve the action of electric shavers. It sold this business in 1957, by which time it was mostly engaged in making electronic devices for aircraft and missiles.

Since then it has broadened into other fields, both in civilian and in military applications.

Burgess is a frank advocate of the "merger route," although he admits it has its problems. One is to stick to the field in which the acquiring company can apply its own store of merchandising, marketing and management efforts.

"For example," he said, "one can pick up a company with substantial assets and thereby add to resources. But what we try to look for is the company which would strengthen our systems capabilities if it would come with us.

Calculated Program

"We have followed a carefully calculated program. We try to determine whether, if we join forces with a company, their business plus ours will, properly managed, add up to more than just the present sum of the two."

Although Burgess's own efforts have been in the electronics field, his background is business education, not science.

While serving in the Navy he observed the development of complex electronic systems in wartime and began thinking then of the many ways in which they could be applied to peace time pursuits.

HAS SOLID EXCUSE

CANTERBURY, England (UPI) —Bertram Widney, 31, answering charges of driving the wrong way on a one-way street, told the court Wednesday, "I was carrying two back-seat drivers, my mother and my aunt, and my attention was distracted."

The court gave him an absolute discharge.

Bend delegates attend meeting

Officers for 16,110 members of the Oregon Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists are being elected today by 600 delegates assembling at Gladstone Park for the 39th biennial session.

Bend's three representatives are headed by Pastor D. M. Wilson. Delegates are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Thompson and Mrs. A. E. Perry.

Services for the 85th annual camp meeting will begin tonight under the main 100x190-foot tent. President H. L. Rudy is slated to give the keynote address.

Ten thousand are expected by Saturday morning when the staff of Faith for Today telecast will appear at 10:45.

Meetings will continue through July 20 at the 72-acre camp site. Seven thousand will live in 124 trailers, 400 cabins, 1300 tents of commute during the convocation.

JFK sending 'qualified' delegation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy is sending to the Moscow test ban talks a delegation qualified to discuss a broad range of East-West political issues which may come up.

The talks open Monday.

The U.S. mission, headed by W. Averell Harriman, undersecretary of state for political affairs, includes both disarmament experts and senior officials of the State Department's European section.

Harriman will seek clarification of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's proposals in an East Berlin speech last week linking a partial nuclear test ban with an East-West non-aggression pact.

The United States and Britain, which will take part with Russia in the Moscow discussions are prepared to negotiate a test ban treaty but they could not by themselves agree to a non-aggression pact which would involve all 15 NATO nations.

Harriman was leaving today for New York where he will spend the night before departing for London to confer with Britain's negotiator, Science Minister Lord Hailsham.

President Kennedy discussed U.S. policy for the test ban talks with Harriman and the National Security Council at a White House meeting Tuesday.

The main purpose of Harriman's mission is to discuss the issue of the nuclear test ban. But his group also includes William D. Tyler, assistant secretary of state for European affairs, and Frank E. Cash, deputy director of the State Department's Berlin task force.

CZECH YOUTHS JAILED

VIENNA (UPI) — A Communist court at Sokolovo sentenced two young Czechs to prison terms Wednesday for "hooliganism," Radio Prague reported today.

The report said Pavel Herzlik, 20, and Zdenek Rob, 17, of northern Bohemia, broke into the guardroom of a factory and stole pistols and ammunition. It said the two youths tried to escape to West Germany to join the Foreign Legion.

Rose gardens lure visitors

Bend's far-famed rose gardens, developed by Mrs. David Y. Wilson at her home at 635 East Kearney, were visited this week by members of two different garden clubs from Jefferson County.

Earlier this week, the Farmerettes Garden Club from Madras visited Bend, joined in a luncheon meeting, then visited the rose gardens. There were 20 women in the group. On Wednesday, members of the Jefferson Garden Club visited the Wilson rose gardens.

Roses in the gardens are now in full bloom, and Mrs. Wilson has asked all interested to visit. "Even though I am not around, drop in and look over the flowers," Mrs. Wilson said in her invitation.

There are some 1,200 different varieties of roses in the gardens. As many as 300 persons recently viewed the flowers in one week.

Roses in the old garden are now in profuse bloom.

Mrs. Wilson, in inviting Central Oregonians to visit her rose gardens, noted that this will be the final season roses will be in the new garden, across the street from her home on East Kearny.

Next fall, all rose plants in the new garden will be moved to the Central Oregon College campus. There will be more than 700 plants available for the new campus.

Mrs. Wilson is to keep her old rose garden, first planted in 1959.

Lightning causes power outage

BURNS (UPI)—A large, sparsely-populated area of southeastern Oregon and northern Nevada was left without power Wednesday afternoon when lightning struck a 115,000-volt Bonneville Power Administration transmission line.

Repairmen found a crossarm holding the Redmond-Burns transmission line burned between Hampton and Burns.

The seven-hour outage affected the community of Hampton and parts of Crook County served by the Central Electric Cooperative, and sections of Harney, Lake and Malheur counties and Humboldt County, Nevada, served by Harney Electric Cooperative.

Service was restored about 10 a.m.

Fire destroys skating rink

RENTON, Wash. (UPI) — The Rollerland skating rink was destroyed by fire Tuesday. Loss was estimated at $300,000.

There were no injuries. The rink, which is open for business in the evening, was empty except for Fred Bowman, the skating room manager.

Blacksmith shop request studied

Special to The Bulletin

PRINEVILLE — City councilmen listened, with varying reactions, to a request by two men for permission to open a blacksmith and welding business in Prineville, at their regular July meeting Tuesday evening.

John Koehler and Harry Sprouse, formerly of Douglas County, told councilmen they wanted to settle in Prineville, and that they wanted to purchase two city-owned building lots at Ninth and Beaver where they would build a blacksmith shop.

The two lots involved were recently offered for public bid, but no acceptable bid had been received, the city recorder told councilmen. Koehler offered the city $25 down and $25 a month for six months, to be increased to $50 a month at that time, for purchase of the lots priced at the $965 in assessments against the property, plus taxes.

A zone change is also involved, councilmen were told, to change from commercial to light industrial zoning. The council was sharply divided in opinion on a motion to accept the offer, with the dissenting faction urging a credit check and further discussion.

Vote on the issue was tied and Mayor Russell Vernon cast a tie-breaking vote in favor of accepting the offer.

Civilian pilots may still apply

HOUSTON (UPI) — Civilian pilots have four more days to apply for jobs as astronauts, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said today.

The deadline for applications was originally July 1 for civilian applicants and July 15 for military applicants.

The spacecraft center said, however, it had not intended to stop receiving applications from civilians July 1.

The new deadline for both military and civilian applicants will be July 15.

1963 June job placements up

SALEM (UPI)—June job placements topped 116,000, up more than nine per cent over the 106,700 placements for June last year, the State Employment Service said today.

Non-agricultural placements for June were up 10.7 per cent compared to last year.

Although initial claims for unemployment insurance benefits were up more than 28 per cent for June compared to last year, the number of benefit payments and amount of money paid were down 11 and 11.6 per cent respectively, the department said.

The average amount of the weekly benefit check for fiscal 1963 was $34.01, compared to $34.25 for fiscal 1962. During fiscal 1963 $25.6 million was paid out, the department noted.
