Official urges gambling vote

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI)—The criminal act of a safecracker should not be permitted to frustrate the people's right of referendum, Chief Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert J. Doran argued today before the Thurston County Superior Court.

Doran asked the court to uphold the legality of Secretary of State Victor A. Meyers' decision to place the tolerance policy gambling referendum on the ballot in spite of the theft of the supporting petitions.

Seattle attorneys John E. Hedrick and William S. Howard urged Judge Charles T. Wright to prohibit the measure from being placed on the ballot.

They said state law does not permit the secretary of state to place an initiative or referendum measure on the ballot without checking every signature to determine its validity.

The petitions were stolen before Meyers had a chance to canvass them.

Today's hearing was, in effect, a preliminary to the main event which undoubtedly will come later before the State Supreme Court. Wright's decision—whichever way it goes is certain to be appealed.

Band selected for Fair dances

Special to The Bulletin
REDMOND — Music for the Deschutes County Fair dances will be provided this year by Jimmy McCowan of Portland and his four-piece band.

Both dances will be held in the Redmond Union High School gymnasium, the queen's ball the evening of Friday, August 2, and the Buckaroo dance Saturday, August 3.

The band is exceptionally versatile, according to Fair Manager Mac Houk, each member being able to play several instruments.

Range blaze under control

BAKER (UPI) — A 500-acre range fire northwest of Baker has been controlled after a night-long battle by state forestry crews and volunteers, the State Forestry Department said today.

Emergency state crews were sent into the area early today after strong winds complicated the battle. The department blamed the blaze on children playing with matches.

The fire was one of two on state-protected lands over the weekend. A gorse fire near Bandon burned about 30 acres.

ARTICLES FILED

SALEM (UPI)—Articles of incorporation were on file today for Cascade Printing, Inc., Bend, signed by L. W. and Ila L. Meyers and Mildred Hammer, and for Mann Construction Co., Inc., Redmond, signed by Richard and Alice Mann and G. F. Rakestraw.

BUYS OWN DECORATION
WELWYN GARDEN CITY, England (UPI) — Novelist Barbara Cartland, annoyed by the city's refusal to provide decorations for Queen Elizabeth's visit today, bought 1,500 Union Jacks to hand out to the crowd.

Theft suspects held in Idaho

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI)—Mrs. Millie Jones, 37, and William D. Splawn, 40, both of Eastland, Tex., were held in separate security cells today while sheriff's officers hoped Texas authorities would take the pair away soon.

The two were being held on charges of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for robbery in Texas when they broke out of the Nez Perce County jail early Friday.

Mrs. Jones, wearing only pink panties, slugged jailer Lloyd Stewart on the head with two bars of soap wrapped in a shirt sleeve, and freed Splawn.

The two were captured by five men on a 20-man mounted posse in the hills north of Lapwai, Saturday. Mrs. Jones, who is nearly six feet tall, had stolen some clothing and was dressed in blue jeans, shirt and jacket.

The pair also had stolen a .410 gauge shotgun but offered no resistance when the posse caught up with them.

Washington CD exercise held

OLYMPIA, Wash. (UPI) — Washington's civilian government could survive an atomic attack, state Civil Defense Director E. M. Llewellyn said today.

Llewellyn said a survival exercise conducted over the weekend at Ft. Columbia in Pacific County showed that federal, state and county government officials could react properly to an attack.

More than 300 persons took part in the exercise. More than 100 of them were key governmental officials.

Working in shifts around the clock, the officials solved scores of problems of the type they would be faced with in the event of a real attack. The drill ended Sunday morning.

Most of the participants arrived at the old Army post at the mouth of the Columbia River Friday night. Many of them spent both Friday and Saturday nights in trailers and tents.

Although every effort was made to provide an air of reality to the drill, it still retained many of the aspects of a family picnic.

CD officials admitted the complete reality could not be obtained without dropping real bombs.

Youths involved in accident

The Bend City ambulance crew answered a call at 1:10 a.m. today from the Shevlin Park road west of Bend, where a car in which three youths were riding was involved in an accident.

Brought to the St. Charles Memorial Hospital in Bend, was Jack Winkle, resident of Sisters. Other passengers were listed as Robert Fraley, 19, student at Shasta College in California, who suffered an arm injury, and William Lancaster, 18, of Bend, not injured.

The car, operated by Winkle, failed to make a turn on the road, hit an embankment, skidded sideways, then went into a roadside ditch.

Winkle was still a patient at the hospital today. Oregon State Police investigated the accident.

Also arrested by city police Saturday night on vagrancy charges were Joe Tafora Flores, 31, San Fernando, Calif., and Joe Felix Mestas, 34, Albuquerque, N.M. Bail for each is $27.50.

Man wounded thwarting theft

LEWISTON, Idaho (UPI) — A musician who halted a holdup by lunging at a gun-wielding robber was reported in satisfactory condition today despite a bullet wound in his chest.

The Nez Perce County sheriff's office said the musician, Max Durham, Willits, Calif., tried to take a .22 caliber pistol away from Jude Kaus, 29, Cottage Grove, Ore., about 2 a.m. Sunday in the Chicken Roost nightclub two miles north of here. Despite the wound Durham held on until Kaus was subdued by others.

Kaus was held in the county jail charged with attempted armed robbery.

Blaze checked at Ochoco Inn

Special to The Bulletin
PRINEVILLE — Volunteer firemen were called to the Ochoco Inn about midnight last night, to check a blaze that started in an upholstered chair. The fire was confined to the chair, which was destroyed.

The fire was in a room unoccupied at the time. It was extinguished with hand equipment, before firemen arrived.

REVIEWS FROM BARREL

WHITTINGTON, England (UPI) Ten-year-old Graeme Challands was all set to take the salute at the Meccan Brigade's depot here Friday, but he was only four feet tall—too small to be seen by the marching men.

Young Graeme, decked out in an army uniform as a guest of the brigade, got his wish when regimental Sergeant-Major Frank Flood got a beer barrel and stood the youngster on top of it.

Captain sticks with vessel

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (UPI)—The captain of a Norwegian tanker and 17 of his crew, refusing to abandon their collision-ripped ship to the Atlantic, struggled today to keep the vessel afloat 250 miles off the Virginia coast.

The 13,400-ton Norwegian tanker Honor was badly damaged Sunday in a collision with the San Juan, a converted tanker from Wilmington, Del. The Honor, registered in Oslo, Norway, was reported holding her own despite a gash in her side 15 feet long and eight feet high.

Capt. Eli Abrahamson and 17 of his crew of 42 had most pumps in operation and a salvage tug was en route to aid the stricken ship.

Liquor charges faced by two

James E. Traw, 22, of Gilchrist, was booked on charges of providing liquor for a minor when beer was discovered in his car Saturday night in Bend. He was accompanied by Henry George Ashburn, 2, Gilchrist, who was charged with illegal possession of alcohol.

Bail for Ashburn was fixed at $27.50. Traw's bail is $52.50. Traw was also cited for excessive vehicle muffler noise, with $17.50 bail.

Also arrested by city police Saturday night on vagrancy charges were Joe Tafora Flores, 31, San Fernando, Calif., and Joe Felix Mestas, 34, Albuquerque, N.M. Bail for each is $27.50.

The San Juan, headed for Puerto Rico with a load of trucks, received a 20-foot slice in her bow but remained seaworthy despite the collision. She circled the Norwegian ship Sunday until help arrived. The Honor is carrying a load of oil and low grade crude oil.

The accident occurred at about 2:30 p.m., EDT in clear weather and in calm seas. Cause of the collision was not determined.

One casualty was reported. A seaman from the Honor suffered a severe head injury and was transferred to the San Juan.

The salvage tug was dispatched to aid the 527-foot tanker Sunday night when it appeared the ship had stopped sinking. If the sea remained calm, the Coast Guard said the Honor should survive.

Successor named for Morgan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy Saturday named David Stalter Black to replace Howard Morgan on the Federal Power Commission.

Morgan, former public utility commissioner and Democratic Party chairman in Oregon, asked not to be reappointed to the commission. He was critical of its policies.

Black, a native of Everett, Wash., who has been general counsel to the Bureau of Public Roads since April of 1961, was named for a term ending June 22, 1968. The position pays $20,000 a year.

Portland man treated here

A Portland resident, Dennis A. Zimmer, 24, was brought to the St. Charles Memorial Hospital early Sunday morning following a one-car accident on U.S. Highway 97, near the Camp Abbot junction.

Zimmer was treated at the hospital, then released. Oregon State Police investigated the accident.
