These are typical characteristics of the desires of a girl in her middle teens. She takes an increasingly broader view of national and international affairs.

'Kennedy' Democrat beats newcomer in Pennsylvania

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (UPI)—State Sen. Fred B. Rooney, a "Kennedy" Democrat, defeated a political newcomer Tuesday in a special election to fill the seat of the late Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa.

Rooney, 37, claimed in his successful campaign against Republican Robert G. Bartlett, 31, a Sunday school teacher, that Walter was his "political godfather."

'Shorty' Powers successor set

HOUSTON (UPI)—Paul Haney has been named to replace Lt. Col. John A. (Shorty) Powers as director of public affairs at the Manned Spacecraft Center, the head of the center said today.

Dr. Robert Gilruth, head of the space center, said Haney will replace the 41-year-old Powers sometime this week.

Haney, 35, is a former assistant city editor for the Washington Evening Star. He has been with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration since December 1958.

In speaking of the transfer of Powers, Gilruth said "Col. Powers did an outstanding job on the Mercury program, for the center and for the country."

Gilruth said he originally intended to announce the changes at a press conference later this week, but a "leak" developed and because of several queries, he had to confirm it early today.

Powers became as familiar to the public as the astronauts he publicized during his four years as the voice of Mercury control.

Since the flight of Maj. L. Gordon Cooper last May, Powers had been conspicuously absent from several celebrations tendered the astronauts.

Must learn to live with booms

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sonic booms are part of the jet age and a citizen's only recourse is to file a claim for damage.

So said Col. James K. Howling of the North American Defense Command, Denver, Colo., when he was asked to appear Tuesday before the city council following a sonic blast last week that shook most of the city.

Police seeking pair of bandits

LAKE OSWEGO (UPI) — FBI agents and State Police today searched for two men who held up the Benjamin Franklin Savings and Loan Association office here Tuesday.
