

Gov. Hatfield offers services of his office to settle strike

By United Press International
Spread of the Northwest lumber strike halted, at least temporarily, today after Oregon Gov. Mark Hatfield offered the services of his office in helping to settle the dispute which has idled about 29,000 workers.

It appeared the respite from new strikes would be brief, however.

Harvey Nelson, Region 3 president of the International Woodworkers of America (IWA) indicated more walkouts were planned against the 196-member Timber Operators Council, but he declined to say when.

"It might be tomorrow or it might not be until next week," he said.

Nelson and executive secretary Earl Hartley of the Western Council of the Lumber and Sawmill Workers (LSW) met with Gov. Hatfield for nearly two hours in Salem, Wednesday.

No Intervention Planned
Nelson said they simply discussed the issues involved. The governor's office indicated he planned to meet with management leaders, but had no intention now of intervening directly in the dispute.

Hatfield talked to some top industry officials Tuesday at Coos Bay when he attended a preview of a new Weyerhaeuser Co. plant.

Nelson and Hartley said today they have no meetings scheduled with any firms, but were hopeful that sessions could be set up with Georgia-Pacific Corp. That firm was struck two weeks ago.

Nelson also said his union was "real close" to an agreement with Scott Paper Co., which has continued to operate.

The dispute over terms of a contract to replace one which expired June 1 has closed plants in Oregon, Washington, northern California and Montana.

The latest strikes came Wednesday against Santiam Lumber Co. at Lebanon and Sweet Home and Menasha Plywood Corp. at North Bend. A strike also was scheduled against Rainier Manufacturing Co. at Rainier, but its employees are on their summer vacation until Aug. 12. The LSW indicated pickets would be posted then.

Outside the Douglas Fir belt, the IWA moved its negotiations with two producers from Lewiston to Albeni Falls, Idaho, today.

Diamond Talks Today
The IWA and Potlatch Forests, Inc., broke off talks in Lewiston Tuesday after each side rejected an offer from the other.

Meetings were scheduled today between the union and Diamond National Corp. More talks are planned Friday at Superior, Mont. IWA regional vice president Leonard Palmer said workers will stay on the job until the regional negotiating committee meets in Portland and decides on a course of action. Palmer said for the meeting will not be held for at least a week.

Potlatch Forests employees 2,200 workers in northern Idaho and Diamond National has 450 in northern Idaho and Montana.

Wife divorces Justice Douglas

GOLDENDALE, Wash. (UPI)—U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas, 64, was divorced Wednesday by his wife, Mercedes, 46, who charged the jurist treated her cruelly and desired that they live apart.

The divorce, the second for both, was uncontested. She formerly was married to C. Gerard Davidson, former assistant secretary of the Interior and now Democratic national committeeman for Oregon.

Mrs. Douglas lives on a ranch near Glenwood, north of this Columbia River city.

The divorce proceeding before Judge Ross R. Rakow of Klickitat County Superior Court lasted only 15 minutes. Mrs. Douglas was the only witness. She told Judge Rakow that Douglas had told her for more than a year that he no longer cared for her and that her efforts to bring about a reconciliation had failed.

The couple was married in 1954, the year after Douglas' first wife, Mildred, won an uncontested divorce in a 30-minute action in Baker, Ore.

Douglas and his first wife have two children, a daughter, now Mrs. Frank Wells Jr., and a son, William O. Douglas Jr.

Attempt to end fishing strike fails Wednesday

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UPI)—A renewed attempt to settle the 19-day old British Columbia fishing industry strike ended in failure Wednesday when a union-management meeting broke up after an hour with no settlement being reached.

Officials of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union, representing some 10,000 salmon fishermen and allied workers, were called to a meeting with the B. C. Fisheries Association by the provincial government's chief conciliation officer, R. G. Clements.

The meeting followed a meeting Tuesday between Clements and union officials, who called the strike July 13 to back up demands for increased salmon prices and wage boosts for shoreworkers and tendermen.

The new move toward settlement followed a sharp drop in union membership confidence in its leadership.

When strike votes were taken three weeks ago, fishermen were more than 80 per cent in favor of strike action; shoreworkers only 53 per cent.

A union appeal for a vote of confidence this week showed that the rank and file approved the strike policy by only seven votes. Union officials have so far made no comment on the recommendation by Federal Fisheries Minister H. J. Robichaud and B. C. Labor Minister Leslie Peterson that the dispute be referred to binding arbitration.

Mariner 2 finishes orbit around sun

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—The Mariner 2 spacecraft, which made a spectacularly successful fly-by exploration of the planet Venus, today completed its first orbit of the sun.

Caltech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) said the spacecraft, launched almost a year ago on Aug. 27, traveled about 540 million miles to complete the first solar orbit.

Mariner 2 swept into the endless orbit around the sun after flying to within 21,648 miles of the mysterious, cloud-shrouded Venus to return information to the earth.

When Mariner 2 passed the planet on Dec. 14 it returned data which showed the surface temperature of Venus was 800 degrees Fahrenheit—much too hot for life to exist. Among other information disclosed by the space exploration was that the weight of cloud ranges from 45 miles above the surface of Venus to an altitude of 60 miles.

TITE KNOT PINE MILL CRUMBLES IN FIRE — Wind-swept flames Wednesday afternoon about 4:30 o'clock destroyed the Tite Knot Pine Mill in Redmond, with the loss set at a million dollars. It was one of Central Oregon's most costly mill fires. Tall smoke stacks are shown here outlined against a great cloud of smoke that rolled up from the mill as the fire swept through the mill, only recently modernized. Reconstruction will start as soon as possible. This picture was taken by Bulletin photographer Nate Bull minutes after smoke started billowing up from the pine plant.

Power available to Bend Estates

Electrical power is now available to lots along the Deschutes on River Bend Estates, located six miles south of Bend.

R. G. McFarland, manager of Pacific Power & Light in Bend, said today that the company had extended its distribution service lines approximately a mile on what was formerly the old Iverson ranch to bring power to the area.

Most of the lots along the Deschutes that were placed on the market in early 1962 have been sold to local area residents and to Californians.

The first customer on the new extension of power was William Buck of Reno, owner of River Bend Estates, who is just completing an A-frame home. It is the first structure to be built along the river on the River Bend Estates property.

ESCO trial date set for Oct. 15

PORTLAND (UPI)—Trial of the ESCO Corp. of Portland indicted on charges of violating anti-trust laws has been set over to Oct. 15, Federal Judge Gus Solomon said Wednesday.

The wholesale pipe and tubing distributor is accused of agreeing on prices with other firms.

The trial was originally set to begin Aug. 6.

The postponement was ordered after Solomon learned that anti-trust attorney Don H. Banks of San Francisco was ill.

Named also in the indictments were Tubasales of Los Angeles, Republic Supply Co. of Los Angeles, and Alaskan Copper Company, Inc., Seattle.

The three firms entered nolo contendere pleas and paid fines. ESCO has stood by its plea of innocent.

'Circle route' access expected

Special to The Bulletin
PRINEVILLE — A fire-break "cat" road, to be built by the Bureau of Land Management in late summer or early fall along the north shore of the Prineville reservoir is also expected to have the effect of giving sportsmen their long-awaited "circle route" access to the eastern portion of the reservoir's north shore line.

At present, the Juniper Canyon route gives paved access to the state park area, midway on the north shore. Construction is underway by the county road crew on some two miles of road which will bring access to the shore some two miles eastward.

A paved road also can be followed to reach the eastern end of the reservoir and an old road allows fishermen some two miles of lakeshore access along that end of the lake. Some time ago, the BLM built a firebreak road westward towards the state park, ending at Owl Creek. This fire break road has since been maintained by the state, it is reported.

The final link, the firebreak trail soon to be built by the BLM will connect Owl Creek with the county park site. The BLM office emphasizes, however, that lack of funds will cause this newest addition to the access route to be a low-budget trail, not passable by all vehicles.

When this last link is completed, it will be possible to drive from Prineville to either the east end or the center of the reservoir, travel along the north shore, albeit a distance back from the lake, and return to Prineville via the other paved road.

Atlas missile launch reported

VANDENBERG AFB, Calif. (UPI)—A giant Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) was blasted Wednesday toward a target 7,000 miles out to sea off the Philippines Islands.

It was the second Atlas missile to be launched within two days. The first was launched Tuesday — only a few hours before a satellite believed to have been of the Discoverer series was launched toward polar orbit from this same Pacific Coast missile base. The Air Force did not give the details of the satellite launch.

Both Atlas missiles were fired toward their target with mock nuclear warheads by the 578th Strategic Missile Squadron on a routine training mission. The ICBMs plunged into the ocean east of the island of Mindanao.

Named also in the indictments were Tubasales of Los Angeles, Republic Supply Co. of Los Angeles, and Alaskan Copper Company, Inc., Seattle.

The three firms entered nolo contendere pleas and paid fines. ESCO has stood by its plea of innocent.

Musa to keynote Demo meeting

State Senator Ben Musa of The Dalles will keynote a three county meeting of Democratic party workers that will be held at Tumalo State Park on August 11.

Sen. Musa, as president of the Oregon state senate, becomes acting governor when Gov. Mark Hatfield is out of the state. Recently he drew newspaper headlines and editorial comment when he made an appointment to the state welfare board while the governor was in Florida.

Al Weeks, chairman of the Deschutes County Democratic Central Committee, said that Mrs. Ben Evick of Madras, who heads the party organization in Jefferson county, and Eldon Hayes, Prineville, who is chairman of the Democratic party in Crook county, would be co-hosts for the affair.

Sen. Musa will direct his remarks to the 1964 campaign.

Warm weather in offing here

Somewhat warmer weather is in the offing for the remainder of the week. This was the welcome forecast received today following another chilly night in Central Oregon, with Bend recording a low of 31 degrees and a light frost.

Roofs in some parts of town were white with frost at dawn. Fair weather will be general throughout the state, the forecast indicates, but there will be late night and morning clouds along the coast and over the north interior.

Temperatures ranging from 85 to 90 degrees are predicted for Central Oregon on Friday.

Order blocks Simmons sales

PORTLAND (UPI) — Federal Judge Gus J. Solomon Wednesday issued an order prohibiting Charles M. Simmons and his associates from selling securities in his eight companies through the mails or any instrument of interstate commerce.

Simmons heads several institutes of human relations in western cities. His home is listed as Hillsborough, Calif.
