F.H.A. director Redmond speaker

Special to The Bulletin
REDMOND — Robert V. Pierce, director of Farmers Home Administration for Oregon and Alaska, was featured speaker recently at the FHA conference in Redmond.

Pierce urged agency leaders to bring resources to people in the rural areas.

"Too many rural people are being forced to leave their homes in search of the resources they need for a good living," he said. Pierce pointed to the development of rural community water systems as an example of what can be done to make rural towns more attractive. According to the 1960 census, he said, Oregon has approximately 150 communities without adequate water facilities.

Across the nation, more than 150 rural areas have developed community water systems with loans totaling approximately $17 million from the FHA in the past two years. Other benefits are added five protection and more attractive communities, he said.

PP&L new division chief is introduced at dinner

In terms of electrical development, Central Oregon is a comparatively young area, Don R. McClung, president of Pacific Power & Light Company, reminded a large group present here for a dinner Tuesday night at which the company's new division office was formally opened.

Central Oregon, McClung noted, received rather primitive electric service in the early part of the century. Prineville in 1900 and Bend, Redmond and Madras about 10 years later, around 1910.

The site of the power plant located at the end of Mirror Pond has been utilized for producing electricity since 1910, McClung mentioned in a short talk to a group that represented all parts of Central Oregon. The little Bend power plant, enlarged several times, still turns out a modest number of kilowatt hours each day, McClung said, adding:

"Although now relatively unimportant in these days of large consumption of electricity by a fast growing population, certainly one of the most important functions is the continuance of beautiful Mirror Pond here in Bend.

Area History Traced
 McClung traced the history of the growth of PP&L in Central Oregon in the past half century. He said that in the past decade there has been a 20 per cent increase in the number of electric customers served by the Company in the area.

"The very rapid growth in use of electricity in the area has required a tremendous expansion of facilities," McClung said, adding in conclusion:
 "Pacific Power has a bit at stake in Central Oregon. We are

Eagles assist with research

The Fraternal Order of Eagles contributed $100,000 to research work at its International convention last week in Chicago, according to W. M. Loy, who returned from the convention city Monday.

Loy served as secretary of the health and welfare committee which makes the recommendations for such contributions.
 Twenty five thousand dollars went to the Dr. William Menninger Clinic at Topeka, Kan., and $50,000 to the Max Baer heat research building to be built this year in California.

Another $25,000 was assigned to Danny Thomas, who was present at the convention, for his St. Jude Hospital in Chicago to help the research work on leukemia. The grant to Danny Thomas was made upon the recommendation of Loy and his committee because of the many years of service given the Eagles by Morris Rothkoff of Bend who has been ill for some time with leukemia. The hospital in Chicago was started by Danny Thomas and is today the largest and most modern hospital of its kind in the world, Loy said.

Over 3,000 delegates were in attendance and elected Hershall McWilliams of Topeka, Kan., as its president for the current year.

Planes rerouted over Cascades from Redmond

Special to The Bulletin
REDMOND — A change in West Coast Airlines schedules, effective August 1, has rerouted the planes from Redmond to Roseburg and Medford, then Klamath Falls, instead of making direct contact with Klamath Falls on south.

Instead of leaving Redmond at 10:02 a.m. and arriving in San Francisco at 1:35 p.m., passengers must now leave at 7:40 a.m., go to Roseburg, Medford, then Klamath Falls, arriving in San Francisco at 1:05 p.m. Officials in the Bend - Redmond office at Roberts Field said the change was made "to increase business."
 The northbound flight was changed June 1 to allow for a Corvallis stop in between Salem and Portland. This flight now arrives at 12:29 p.m., leaves for Corvallis and Salem at 12:40 and arrives in Portland at 2:09 p.m.
