3 TOC members, striking unions set agreement

PORTLAND (UPI) — Representatives of two striking lumber unions and three members of the Timber Operators Council reached agreement on a three-year contract Friday afternoon.

The pact between the International Woodworkers of America and the Lumber and Sawmill Workers unions and the Willamette Valley Lumber Co., Santiam Lumber Co. and Pope and Talbot, Inc., must be ratified by the unions' members in a referendum vote.

The three companies withdrew their bargaining authorization from the TOC and did their own negotiating.

Karl Glos, head of the 196-member employers' bargaining group, said "We may be approaching the end of this thing."

The proposed pact calls for a 30 1/2-cent hourly raise in wages and benefits during the next three years.

SHARLENE K. GALL
Engagement news is announced

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Gall, 1174 Columbia Avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sharlene, to Jack S. Wanichuk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude V. Wanichuk, Butler Market Road.

Both are 1960 graduates of Bend Senior High School. Wanichuk, who attended Central Oregon College and the University of Oregon, is presently employed by the city. Miss Gall works at Equitable Savings and Loan.

The wedding date is October 4. Services will be held in the First Christian Church.

Lions purchase rockhound film

Lions of Bend have purchased and will make available for national distribution a colored film dealing with Central Oregon rock hunting. Glenn O. Ratcliff, president of the club, has announced. The film was made by Ted Mikels and is entitled "Rockhounds."

Dr. Orde S. Pinckney of Central Oregon College provided narration for the 22 minute picture, purchased by the club on the recommendation of its civic improvement committee headed by Ray LeBlanc, with Guy Claypool, Hal Peck, Pat Metke and Chuck Rickshaw as its other members.

The 16 mm film opens with a depiction of an Indian shaping arrowheads from obsidian, and notes man's interest in rocks through the ages. Included are pictures of the Glass Butte country, where early-day Mid-Oregon Indians obtained their obsidian.

The film also includes some views of the spectacular Smith Rock area and the nationally-known Friday agate beds of Jefferson county. The film also holds pictures of the Bill Winstay rock collection, in the Glen Vista area north of Bend.

Pictures show how semi-precious stones are cut and ground, polished and mounted. There are a number of close up views of plume agates, some shown in transparency.

The film is to be made available to rock clubs and Lions throughout the nation, on a free rental basis.

Desperate quest made for clues

LONDON (UPI) — Scotland Yard's crack "flying squad" staged lightning pre-dawn raids in London's East End slums today in a desperate search for clues to the greatest train robbery in history.

Police sources said detectives expected to make arrests soon in the theft of $7 million from a Glasgow-to-London mail train last Thursday.

But Sir Ronald Howe, former assistant commissioner at Scotland Yard, was quoted by Daily Express as saying he personally considered the chances of capturing the thieves as "pretty slim." Howe headed the yard's Criminal Investigation Division (CID) for 12 years.

"... Because of the antiquated structure of our police force the best CID brains in the country arrived late on the job," he was quoted as saying. The express said Howe claimed Scotland Yard did not get to the scene until nearly a day after the robbery.

The robbery, carried out with the boldness and precision of a commando raid, resulted in the posting of a record $728,000 in reward money.

It was hoped the reward, about 10 per cent of the loot, would tempt an informer to come forward with information to put the holdup gang behind bars. According to reports, between 20 and 30 men staged the theft.

Post Master General Reginald Bevins hinted Friday night that three special railroad cars supposed to be theft-proof may have been sabotaged.

MARRIAGE FIRMS
OJAI, Calif. (UPI)—The marriage that skeptics predicted would never last was cemented even firmer today with the addition of a baby son to the Ojai home of Bobby and Clara Mims.

Back in February of 1956, the skeptics scoffed when Bobby, then 16, and Clara, then 14, were married after Ventura County Superior Judge E. Perry Churchill and their parents gave their consent.

Earlier this week, Bobby and Clara became parents of a son, Michael Gene.

FINES ASSESSED
Leeland Laurance Huettl Bend, was fined $7.50 Friday in Deschutes County District Court, for disobeying a stop sign. Five-dollar fines were paid Thursday by Palmer Neilsen Bodtker, Bend, disobeying a stop sign, and William Allen Martin, Bend, defective muffler.

Davis death ruled homicidal

PORTLAND (UPI)—The Multnomah County coroner's office ruled Friday that the death of a wealthy Idaho cattle heiress was "homicidal until proved otherwise."

Dr. William Lehman, pathologist for the coroner's office, said Mrs. Irene Davis, 41, Payette, died from strangulation. He made the ruling after studying the autopsy.

The partially clad body of Mrs. Davis was found in a partly filled bathtub in her room at the Portland Hilton Hotel Tuesday. A stocking was wrapped around her throat.

There had been speculation that the woman committed suicide.

Portland police were looking for an unidentified man who was Mrs. Davis' last known companion. They were seen drinking together in the hotel's rooftop restaurant-bar early Tuesday morning.

Police also were looking for a missing key to Mrs. Davis' hotel room.

The door was locked from the inside when her body was discovered.

However, police said that it could have been locked by a person leaving the room before closing the door.

Arlene moves out to sea after hitting Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda (UPI)—Hurricane Arlene, first big tropical storm of the year, raged against the sea and not much else today after raking Bermuda with wind gusts of nearly 100 miles an hour.

The storm lashed Bermuda for about four hours Friday, but the island was battered down and ready for it. It ripped off several roofs, caused some flooding, snapped power lines and tree limbs and sunk a few small boats. Most businesses here, however, remained open.

In the latest advisory, the Weather Bureau said Arlene was about 290 miles northeast of Bermuda and was moving northeast at about 30 miles an hour. The hurricane was expected to continue in that direction during the day.

No land area was threatened immediately by the hurricane, the bureau said, although shipping in its path should exercise caution. Highest winds at the hurricane's center ranged from 75 to 100 m.p.h., with gales extending 150 miles in all directions.

The storm was expected to weaken as it moves over colder water and begins to lose its tropical characteristics, the bureau said.

The full force of Arlene — its northern eye — scooted over this British Island in the Atlantic Ocean at around 12 noon EDT.

But most weatherwise residents of Bermuda shrugged off Arlene. In fact they welcomed the half-inch of rain which fell before the high winds hit.

Visit riddled

Visiting Harold Horrocks, from Vancouver, Wash., told police his car was riddled while parked near the bus depot early Friday morning. Stolen were a sleeping bag, wind-breaker jacket, work pants and two sport shirts. One of the doors had been left unlocked, police said.

COAL MINERS STRIKE

OVIEDO, Spain (UPI) — More than 15,000 coal miners were reported to be on strike today in the Asturias section in Spain. Eight mines were shut down. The strike began when miners protested they had not been paid a bonus granted them in previous years on the July 18 anniversary of the Spanish civil war.

'Profit-taking' sales expected on stock market

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Treasury today anticipates a big surge in "profit-taking" sales on the stock market next year.

Reason: It expects Congress to make a sharp cut, effective next Jan. 1, in the taxes levied on the sale from stocks, houses and other property.

The tax release was approved Friday by the House Ways & Means Committee for inclusion in the tax revision and reduction bill it is drafting.

The tax saving — ranging from 15 to 20 per cent — would apply only to the sale of property held by the owner for at least two years.

Expect Selling Spree

Although the legislation ultimately would lose almost $100 million a year in annual revenue, the Treasury said the immediate result would be a selling spree that would boost Treasury tax revenues next year by more than $300 million.

These revenue forecasts — and the computation of the 15 to 20 per cent range in tax savings — were based solely on the committee's action in approving revision in the formula for taxing capital gains. They assume that individual tax rates — to which the formula is linked — will remain at existing levels.

But an across-the-board cut in individual tax rates is the prime ingredient of the administration-backed tax bill which the committee is drafting.

$10 Billion Savings

The committee plans to add this final ingredient next week in wrapping up a tax package that is expected to provide net tax savings of close to $10 billion for individuals and corporations in two annual steps starting next Jan. 1.

Friday's action will boost the total tax savings on profits from sale of property held for at least two years appreciably above 20 per cent for almost every seller.

Little Leaguers honor coach

Some 60 Leleco Little Leaguers and their families celebrated their status as city champs and honored their coach, Harry Little, during a potluck meal held in Juniper Park.

For his time and efforts during season play, Coach Little received a scroll from the parents and an engraved billfold and key case from the boys themselves. One highlight of the gathering was a boys versus the dads softball game, clinched by the youngsters 6-4.

Leleco nailed down the city Little League championship on August 2 when they defeated Healy's Furniture 8-4. Prior to this they were National League champs.

All of the players' parents turned out as well as visitors, the G. M. Bennetts, of Grants Pass and the David Maudlins of Bend.

Tax payment deadline noted

Thursday, August 15, is the deadline for paying the fourth quarter of real and personal property taxes.

Payments made in person at the tax collector's office in the courthouse, before closing time Thursday, and those made by mail and postmarked not later than midnight August 15, will avoid the penalty.
