MARGE SHOLES

Marge Sholes retiring from recreation post

Thirteen years as secretary and office manager of the Bend Recreation Department are being terminated as of August 15 by Marge Sholes.

Mrs. Sholes joined the department as a part-time employee on Sept. 20, 1950 when Wayne Hamilton superintended. She continued on that basis until 1958 when Hamilton resigned and Vince Genna, current director, replaced him. Since then, she says, her full-time duties have been varied and complicated but "always enjoyable."

Mrs. Sholes came to Bend from Kansas when she was 12. She attended and was graduated from the Bend Senior High School and in 1946 married Don Sholes, now a foreman with the Deschutes County Road Department.

As soon as Mrs. Sholes leaves the department she and her husband will embark on a two-week fishing vacation in Coos Bay, home of some close relatives. On returning she may give some assistance to the new department secretary, not yet chosen.

No other job is planned. Mrs. Sholes intends to spend more time at home and with such outside activities as bowling, angling, hunting and camping. In club work she is a member and past president of the Bend Soroptimist Club.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Miller, 527 Congress, are the proud parents of a baby girl born Monday. Helen Crosby Miller weighed nine pounds, two ounces.

James R. Lockwood, lance corporal in the U.S. Marine Corps, was part of a special group from the Ninth Marine Regiment acting as aggressor forces in the regiment's recent Operational Readiness Test at Camp Fuji, Japan. R. VANCE PEAVY

R. Vance Peavy gets doctorate in education

R. Vance Peavy, assistant professor of psychology at Central Oregon College, was among those graduated from the University of Oregon at the close of summer session. He was awarded a doctor of education degree in counseling psychology. His dissertation was entitled "A Study of C. G. Jung's Concept of Intuitive Perception and the Intuitive Type."

Peavy came to Central Oregon College from Pueblo, Colo., in 1956. In 1961 he obtained a teaching fellowship at the University of Oregon and was granted a leave of absence by COC to complete work on his doctorate. After teaching in the 1962 Summer session at the University of Oregon, Peavy resumed his duties at COC as director of counseling and testing. During the past year he completed research for his dissertation.

In 1953 Peavy received an M.A. from Colorado State College at Greeley. Following that he was employed by the Pueblo Public Schools and the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults as a speech clinician. In 1955 he was an instructor at Pueblo College.

Peavy and his wife, Diana, are members of the Unitarian Fellowship of Central Oregon. They have three children: Erica, 10; Richard, 7; and Ursula, 3.

District court fines assessed

Three men recently paid fines in Deschutes County District Court for violations of the basic rule.

David Ladomus from Steubenville, Ohio, forfeited a $15 fine for the violation. Another out-of-town man, Richard Charles Garrels, Burbank, Calif., was fined $25.

A Bend man, Eugene Gilbert Rowley, paid $20 to the court for the basic rule violation.

Fire protection lines drawn

Special to The Bulletin

PRINEVILLE — Fire control officers of agencies in the Prineville area have met and determined the agency which will take charge in case of threatening fire in no-paid-protection areas, of which there are a number around Prineville, according to Mel Crawford, district warden, Prineville district of the state forestry service.

Lines drawn show that, in general, the area south of Prineville and south of Highway 26 west of Prineville will be the area where the Bureau of Land Management will be summoned in case of a threatening fire on one of these no-paid-protection areas.

The state forestry service will fill the same capacity to the east to the Ochoco dam, and north of Prineville, and to the west, north of highway 26.

Crawford said no agency can spend money legitimately on fire fighting without authority to do so. At the recent meeting, he suggested to county judge Ervin Grimes that Grimes determine the general feeling of ranchers in the no-paid-protection areas about forming some type of fire district. Ranchers in a fire district, it was pointed out, pay a nominal fee for protection in the event of grass or timber fire of threatening proportions.

Grimes named DHIA official

Special to The Bulletin

REDMOND — Wayne Grimes, Redmond, has assumed the duties of supervisor of the Central Oregon Dairy Herd Improvement Association, announced Eugene Brink, Bend, board chairman.

Grimes replaces Gal Swanson of Bend and Mrs. Helen Livingston of Terrebonne, who have been in charge of the DHIA program in the Tri-County area for the past several years.

A total of 1,128 cows in 22 herds were tested by Swanson and Mrs. Livingston under the Standard DHIA program in July. Total production of these cows was almost two million pounds of milk. Thirteen of the 22 herds rolled out milk last month at a rate of better than a thousand pounds per cow.

In addition, 203 cows in eight herds tested under the Owner-Sampler program produced over two hundred thousand pounds of milk.

Leaders in milk production for July were Walt Smead of Bend; Roy Burk, Redmond, and Roy Davis of Tumalo.

Council plans trail-in dance here Wednesday

The Central Oregon Area Square Dance Council will sponsor a trail-in dance Wednesday evening, starting at 8:30. A number of out-of-town visitors, en route to the Far Western Square Dance Convention in Eugene, are expected.

Weather permitting, the dance will be held on the slab in the Juniper Park multi-purpose recreation area. In the event of inclement weather, it will be in the Central Oregon Beauty College ballroom.

Among "name" callers to be present are Ross and Penny Crispino from Nampa, Idaho, who have made numerous recordings. Other callers from out-of-state, some well known throughout the nation, are expected.

Floyd Ogletree, president of the Central Oregon Council, will act as master of ceremonies. Local area callers will take part in the program, and representation is expected from the various Central Oregon square dance clubs.

Women of the local area clubs are asked to take cookies for refreshments.

Blaze danger is on increase

Woods dampened by the scattered showers of the past weekend are rapidly drying and the fire danger is again becoming acute, foresters caution. A "sleeper" started by lightning from the weekend fire showed up Monday afternoon near McKay Butte south of Bend and burned over an acre before it was checked.

Fair weather is to continue, and there is a chance of a few evening thunderstorms, the forecast indicates. Temperatures in Central Oregon will be in the 85 to 95 bracket.
