

ROGER I. BROWN

Brown finishes
Navy training

Roger I. Brown, fireman apprentice in the U.S. Navy, recently completed 12 weeks duty at Great Lakes, Ill., training to become an engineman.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Brown, 111 W. Dogwood Avenue, Redmond.

Roger spent a week at home with his parents before reporting for duty aboard the USS Conquest, a mine sweeper operating off the West Coast.

early settlement of racial issue

By Al Kuetner
UPI Staff Writer

Vice President Lyndon Johnson made the prediction the other day that the civil rights problem in America will be "solved with a rapidity which few people now credit."

He spoke against a record of a summer of upheaval on the racial front. Violence got the attention, but Johnson was generally on target when he spoke of solutions.

With solutions this summer came increasing pressure from organized Negro groups. They made it clear that massive demonstrations would be the answer to a refusal of their demands. This was emphasized in Plaquemine, La., just west of the state capital of Baton Rouge.

Hundreds of Negroes marched—they were tear-gassed twice—in a protest against exclusion of Negro sections of the city in a proposed bond issue for street and drainage improvements.

Gordon Carey, national program director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), charged the Negro areas, badly in need of street repairs and sewer improvements, had been left out purposely from bond funds. James Farmer, the No. 1 CORE leader, was jailed in the demonstration but hopes to get out in time to help lead a Washington civil rights demonstration Aug. 28.

An entirely different approach was being used by Negroes in Beaufort, S.C., on the Atlantic Ocean. Negroes quietly asked city and county officials to consider desegregation of schools, nondiscrimination in jobs and the opening of public facilities to Negroes. Beaufort officials, expecting no demonstrations, promised a meeting with the Negro leadership in two weeks.

The list of desegregation advances, either as a result of demonstrations, court action or volunteer action, was growing longer by the day. There were at least 40 noteworthy developments since July 1.

Widespread trouble over the "advances," however, prompted Dr. Joseph H. Jackson, leader of 5 million Negro Baptists, to admonish the National Baptist Convention:

"This worthy struggle must not be allowed to degenerate into a rebellion for rebellion's sake. It to become a racket without rhyme or reason."
