30 Oregonians now playing pro football

By Web Ruble
Bulletin Sports Editor

Quite often you read in Oregon newspapers about some ex-Duck or ex-Beaver doing something in pro football. Most of the time a grid fan will be able to remember the name if not the personality.

If one can't, it's not alarming. There are quite a few in the pro grid ranks.

I never stopped to figure out which school has placed the most, or retained any knowledge of who is where. Last week the Eugene Register-Guard came out with a list of ex-Oregon grid greats that have "made it" and are currently playing in the pros.

According to Dick Strite of the Register-Guard there are 12 Oregonians in the National Football League, 10 in the American Football League, and eight in the Canadian Football League.

These Oregonians were not all Ducks or Beavers. Some went elsewhere to school. In analyzing the list, the reader may get a shock. Of the veterans in the NFL, Oregon State has four and Oregon three, but poor little old Idaho has five!

In the NFL, Oregon's Steve Barnett, an All-American tackle last year, is a rookie with the Chicago Bears. Terry Baker, 1962 Heisman trophy winner from OSU, is rookie with the Los Angeles Rams along with Oregon's Bill Swain. OSU has a pro veteran in Aaron Thomas. He is with the New York Giants. Ex-Beaver Ted Bates is another veteran. He is with the Cardinals. Dallas has picked off several. They include veterans, Sam Baker (OSU), Amos Marsh (OSU), Mike Gaechter (UP), and rookie John Thomas (OSU). The Washington Redskins has a bunch of ex-Ducks: veterans Dick James and Riley Mattson, and rookie Ron Snider.

In the AFL, the rosters with Oregonians stack up like this: Paul Lowe (OSU) is with the San Diego Chargers. Charlie Marshall and Jim Stinette (both OSU) and George Shaw and Jerry Tarr (both UO) are scrapping it with Denver. Hank Rivera of OSU and Jack Stone of Oregon are with Oakland. John Piner of OSU and Willie West of Oregon are gridding it with Buffalo. Dainard Paulson of OSU is with the New York Jets.

Up in the Canadian loop is found Nub Beamer and Paul Seale (both of OSU), and Emery Barnes (UO but now a Canadian citizen) with the British Columbia

Lions. Three ex-Beavers are with Saskatchewan. They are, Neil Plumley, Jack Gota and Roger Johnson. Dave Mann of OSU is with Toronto. Three former Webfoots are gone: Dave Groz and Mickey Ording, and Darrell Aschbacher. Aschbacher never intended to report. Strite said.

More about Eligio
Well, I've done it again. Misspelling a name is one thing that irks me, especially when I do it myself. I'm referring to Eligio Galicia. For two days in a row it's been wrong. It's not Garcia... it's not Gallicia... it's simply Galicia.

Galicia is truly a runner. We stopped by new Bruin Field yesterday afternoon to watch Mexico's only hope in the 1964 Olympic Games take a workout. He is here in Bend training under the watchful eye of Bob Johnson, athletic director at Central Oregon College.

Yesterday Galicia was running a series of five 800's (meters), slowing down to a trot for a lap or two between each one. He appears to be nearly inexhaustible. He is both a 5,000 and a 10,000 meter man. He is no sprinter, though, and because of this he seldom runs races of less than three miles (5000 meters). He has run a 4:20 mile, however. Johnson has Galicia in his program of speed training. Galicia found Johnson's system working before, and hopes now to keep improving with it.

Portlander cards 68 to take lead
PORTLAND (UPI)—C. H. (Hal) Weston of Portland fired a four-under-par 68 at Waverly Country Club Monday to take the first day lead in qualifying for the Oregon Junior - Seniors Golf Association tournament.

Weston's 34-34 left him five strokes ahead of Sid Milligan of Eugene, who turned in a 37-36-73. George Beecher, Prineville, former Oregon Golf Association match play champion, was another stroke behind at 38-36-74. Tied at 75 were Fran Brinkman, Orchard Hills; Sandy Wollin, Tualatin, and DeWitt Jones of Portland's Riverside Golf Club.

The golfers completed their second 18-hole qualifying rounds today.

Cushman ousts Panner in Bend Golf Club tournament

An upset and a near-upset market quarter and semi-final play in 1963 Bend Golf Club championship tournament play last week. Former champion Glenn Cushman pulled the upset when he ousted defending champion Owen Panner in the semi-finals by a score of 3 and 2.

Charles Donley pulled a near-upset when he pulled ahead of veteran Des Currie three up with six to go. But Currie came on strong to tie the match at the end of 18 and win on the 20th hole.

Cushman won this tournament in 1961. Panner won 10 straight years from 1951 through 1960, then won his title back last year.

The Cushman - Panner match was all even after nine holes. Cushman won 10, 13 and 14 to end the match.

Currie, who has been in the finals for the past two years without a win, now meets Bob Thomas in the championship semi-finals. Thomas ousted James Barlow in quarter final play. The winner of the Currie - Thomas match meets Cushman in the finals.

In President's flight play, Neil Goldsmith is matched against Mickey Sullivan and Russ Hill plays Vern White.

In first flight play, Harry Mackey meets Sandy Panner and Mike Currie plays Merle Sanders. In second flight play, Farley Elliott, who won over Brad Fancher, plays Bill Van Allen in the finals. Van Allen downed Bob Smith.

Terry B gets 'rifling' drill

ORANGE, Calif. (UPI)—The passing of quarterback Terry Baker drew a lot of attention Tuesday from Los Angeles Ram coaches—they drilled him on rifling the ball rather than floating it.

"We know Terry can rifle the ball but he's been floating it," said head coach Harland Svara, "and that means he's leaving himself vulnerable to interceptions."

The rookie passer who was everybody's all-American last year at Oregon State had two passes intercepted Saturday night when the Rams lost to the Minnesota Vikings 27-3.

The Rams meet the Dallas Cowboys this Saturday in Portland, Ore., Baker's hometown. Svara has not yet committed himself, but he may start Baker for the first time in place of second-year man Roman Gabriel.

East holds scrum for Shrine tilt

PENDLETON (UPI)—The East squad held a game-style scrimmage Tuesday night in preparation for the 12th annual East-West Shrine high school football game here Saturday night.

East coach Bill Hargadine of Central said quarterback Greg Hartman, also of Central, still is out of action because of a tooth infection.

John McKern, 225 - guard from Brownsville, was singled out by East coaches for his work in the scrimmage. The West squad worked out briefly Tuesday afternoon under the direction of coach Chet Bowler of Seaside.
