

Morse opposes substitute bill in rail dispute

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Prospects for a Senate floor fight in the railroad dispute dimmed chances today for congressional passage of an arbitration bill before a Wednesday midnight strike deadline.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., said he would oppose the measure approved by the Senate Commerce Committee and try to substitute President Kennedy's proposal to let the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) act as referee in the clash over work rules.

However, committee Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., said he expected the Senate to pass the legislation on Monday and send it to the House in time to block the rail strike.

Other liberal Democrats were reported ready to seek changes in the bill to remove a provision requiring arbitration of secondary issues in the four-year old controversy.

These senators were said to favor a law allowing an unlimited time for negotiations of these matters following arbitration of two major issues—use of firemen on diesel locomotives in freight or yard service and the size of train crews.

In effect, this would delay adoption of any economies in manning approved by a seven-man board of arbitration under the proposed law until all secondary issues were settled over the bargaining table.

No action was scheduled over the weekend in either the Senate or the House. The House Commerce Committee scheduled a meeting for Monday to decide whether to approve the Senate committee bill or come up with its own solution to the rails crisis.

The railroads, which have said they will place drastic new work rules into effect at 12:01 a.m. local time Thursday, withheld immediate comment on the bill. But the five rail unions opposed the measure and said it could lead to congressional solutions for all major labor disputes in the future.

Exhibits to close Sunday at 3 p.m.

Special to The Bulletin
PRINEVILLE — All exhibits will be in place at the Crook county fairgrounds until 3 p.m. Sunday, according to fair officials, with the public invited to tour the various buildings and examine the hundreds of exhibits from the homes, gardens and farms of the area.

A major highlight of the fair, the Lions' Club market stock sale, will be held this evening, Saturday, at 6:30 p.m. in the show and sales ring of the new sales pavilion at the fairgrounds. A large audience is expected this year, with the transfer of the sale from the outdoor ring where it has been held for many years, officials anticipate.

Despite some inclement weather, crowds attending the fair have been of a good size, indicating a growing interest in the event, officials state.

TWO FIRE ALARMS

Bend firemen used no equipment while responding to two Friday alarms.

A call at 2 p.m. brought crews to an area south of the city on Highway 97, where a controlled fire had been reported by the U.S. Forest Service.

At 9 p.m. a rig was brought to the home of Ken Galos, 930 Newport, where an oil stove overheated. No damage resulted.

Ronei (pronounced Hone-aye) has arrived from Brazil for year of study at BSHS

His name is Ronei Viera de Carvalho. But when he arrived in Bend yesterday from Brazil, he was nicknamed "Ronnie." And that will probably stick.

Ronei, (pronounced Hone-aye), will make his home with Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Weismann and family, on Alfalfa Road. He will be a Bend High School senior as an American Field Service exchange student.

His home town is the city of Cachoeira do Itapemirim, with a population of about 45,000, in Espirito Santo (state). The city is about 132 feet above sea level, and is located on the Itapemirim River, extending on one side up terraced hills.

The climate is warm, and the temperature ranges from about 45 degrees in the winter months to 75 degrees in the summer. Portuguese is the language spoken, but Ronei has had five years of English in school.

The Brazilian youth has brown wavy hair and sparkling brown eyes. He is 5 feet, 10 inches tall. He is very fond of beef, a major product of his country, and fancies a dish made of beef chunks, rice, black beans and tomatoes.

He plays soccer and volleyball, and enjoys "gymnasium football," which is somewhat like basketball, except that the ball is kicked, rather than being thrown. He also enjoys swimming, Mathematics and physics were his favorite subjects last year. He also studied chemistry, Portuguese and mechanical drawing.

Ronei will be the "fourth son" for the Weismanns. In addition to Robert, there are two other boys, Thad, 13, and Chris, 10.

In his homeland, Ronei was in his 11th year of schooling. There the school year starts in April, and lasts for seven months. The elementary schools consist of the first four grades, with the next four in "junior high," and the top four in high school.

There will be adjustments this year, to be sure. But for Ronei, handsome, friendly, and blessed with an appealing personality, the Weismanns don't anticipate any problems.

Rev. Abbott to say 'farewell'

Special to The Bulletin
PRINEVILLE — The Rev. David V. Abbott will preach his farewell sermon at the Prineville Community Church this Sunday at the 11 a.m. service. A social hour will follow.

The Rev. Mr. Abbott will be pastor of the Free Methodist Church in Seattle. He and his wife and their five sons will leave next Wednesday for Washington. They have been in Prineville two years.

The Rev. A. H. Hazzard, now in Honor, Mich., will be the new pastor at the Prineville Community Church. He and his wife will arrive in Prineville late in October. They have married daughters living in Central Oregon.

Honolulu man returned to face Davis murder charge

PORTLAND (UPI) — Robert J. Evans, 26, Honolulu, was returned here early today to face a first degree murder charge in the death of Irene Davis, 41, Payette, Idaho.

Evans was returned from Fremont, Neb., by Portland police after he waived extradition. He arrived with Det. William Taylor on a flight from Omaha.

Mrs. Davis was strangled to death in a room at the Portland Hilton Hotel. She was found Aug. 6 by a hotel maid. A nylon stocking had been twisted around her neck and her partially clad body was in a bathtub in about six inches of water.

Evans was questioned by police shortly after he arrived, but officers said he was close-mouthed and said he would not talk until he had consulted an attorney.

Evans was arrested in Fremont last Monday after police spotted his car as one described in a police bulletin. Evans had lived in Fremont several years ago.

Evans was arrested at the home of a friend, T. A. Roach, who said he had become acquainted with the wanted man when Evans attended school in Fremont in the early 1950s.

Officers said they found a ring in the car driven by Evans which matched the description of one known to belong to the slain woman.

PORTLANDER KILLED

PORTLAND (UPI) — Theron Parker, 25, Portland, was killed when his motor scooter collided with a semi-truck and trailer here Friday afternoon.

The driver of the truck was Frank James, 38, Woodburn.

Need in Bend for convention center studied

Need for a convention center in Bend — a subject which has been discussed with increasing frequency in recent months — was again before the Bend Chamber of Commerce Friday noon.

Appearing before Chamber directors at their weekly luncheon meeting was Oral Davis, spokesman for local motel interests.

In urging action on a convention center, Davis cited what he indicated was a slump in motel business this year and suggested that a convention center would be a great help in attracting more visitors to Bend.

He said that motel operators had recently discussed the possibility of obtaining property in the area of the Colonial Inn as a site for such a venture.

President Gordon Randall told Davis that the Chamber recognizes the need for such a facility and already has made some investigations. He mentioned, in particular, a non-profit corporation plan which has been followed in Reno, Nev., to finance a convention center and suggested that motel operators assist the Chamber in gathering information on this and similar methods of financing.

Davis also asked the Chamber to consider a proposal by some local motel owners to limit the type of advertising used to attract customers. Randall referred the matter to the Chamber's tourist committee for further study.

In other business, the directors heard a report from Lyman C. Johnson, chairman of the 1963 Water Pageant.

Johnson said that by amortizing this year's capital expenditures, some $2,800, over a five-year period, the pageant this year shows a profit of approximately $1,500.

He also reported that members of his committee are already at work on plans for next year's show and will hold a meeting next month to discuss various ways of improving the program.

Weekly disease report issued

Two cases of hepatitis, one measles, one pneumonia and one whooping cough comprise a list of communicable diseases listed by 68 per cent of reporting sources in Deschutes County this week.

One hundred per cent of Jefferson County's sources listed one shigella, two measles, three mumps and one whooping cough. Eleven per cent of Crook County's sources reported no communicables.

All reports were received by the Tri-County Health Department.

Municipal court cases reported

Assessments of $15 plus court costs were collected on bail forfeitures Friday in municipal court session.

Patricia Mary Meeker, 612 Federal, forfeited $10 plus costs for driving on the wrong side of the street. Mrs. Emil K. Moen, 2148 Aubrey Road, forfeited $5 and costs for wasting water.

CHARGES FACED

Elmo Thomas Holmes, 50, of Joplin, Mo., faces charges of intoxication on a public street after police picked him up Friday in Bend. His bail was set at $27.50.

Dramatic rescue effort dominates week's news

By United Press International

Three men who make their livelihood by tapping the earth remained trapped deep in her bosom this week, victims of a cave-in.

Other miners sought to extract the trio before the earth could take their lives.

At week's end, as the grim incarceration entered its 12th day, hope had dimmed for Louis Bova, 42. Though a six inch wide probe was believed to have reached his chamber, more than 300 feet below the surface of the earth, nothing had been heard from him since late Tuesday.

But some 15 feet from Bova, in another cold and dark prison created by the cave-in, irrepressible and courageous life was much in evidence, from Davis Fellin, 58, and Henry Throne, 28.

A microphone dropped through a contact hole linked them to loudspeakers at the surface of the mine, the Oneida Colliery No. 2

All-girl band of bagpipers arrive Sunday

Headed for California, an all-girl bagpipe band from Vancouver, B.C., will arrive in Bend late Sunday and will be quartered that night at the Eagles' Hall. The girls, accompanied by chaperones, have sleeping bags and will use the hall as their overnight quarters.

Monday noon, before heading south, the bagpipe will play a concert at the Eagles Hall, in appreciation of the Eagles' hospitality. W. M. Loy, secretary, said all Eagles and their invited guests who attend the special luncheon Monday are invited to attend the concert.

Arrangements for the overnight stop of the Canadian girls in Bend were made by Marion Cady, Bend Chamber of Commerce manager.

CITATIONS ISSUED

Motorists cited Friday on traffic violations in Bend were James Lance, 464 E. Emerson, expired vehicle license, and Oliver Wendell Carter, 639 Portland Avenue, excessive muffler noise. Lance's bail is $7.50, Carter's $17.50.

near Shepton, in Eastern Pennsylvania. The scores—and sometimes hundreds—of workers and curiosity-seekers could clearly hear Fellin and Throne.

They heard the plucky pair sing, banter with those on the surface, direct a drilling operation designed to rescue them, and continue undaunted when a probe missed their cubicle. Late Friday the words came from Fellin that everyone had been waiting to hear:

"It's through... the hole is drilling out."

A 12-inch drill probe, the third such try, had broken through the roof of their chamber. Up on the surface, Fellin's wife Anna, who had kept a quiet vigil for 11 days, quietly wept. "Thank you, Lord," she whispered.

It now remained to ream out the 12-inch tunnel to a diameter of 17½ inches, shore up the underground cavity, and then, hopefully, raise the men to the surface.

If all went well rescuers anticipated that Fellin and Throne might see the outer world by the start of the new week. Risk still was great, they emphasized, but hope soared for the two men.

The fate of Bova was yet to be learned.

Vietnam Crisis

In Vietnam, a dispute described as religious by the country's Buddhist majority and political by the Roman Catholic ruling family of President Ngo Dinh Diem came to a violent and bloody head this week, bringing an apparent shift of power.

Martial law was declared after policemen with clubs and tear gas raided Buddhist pagodas, beating priests and arresting hundreds of them. Curfews were imposed and armed troops roamed the streets with orders to shoot those derying them.

Conflicting reports followed the clash; informants in Saigon said power had shifted in the authoritarian government family from Ngo Dinh Diem to his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu; others reported the army had ascended to control of the situation.

In any case Washington saw the turbulence as the intermediate stages of a struggle which might well topple the Vietnamese government, and imperil the long fight to subdue the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas. Thirteen thousand American troops have been committed to keep Vietnam free from Communism.

However, there was little the United States could do immediately in the fluid situation. Henry Cabot Lodge, new U. S. ambassador to Vietnam, was rushed to Saigon to take over his post, and policy experts in the State Department worked on policy alternatives.

But no concrete policy could be formed until the dangerous situation congealed in this pivotal Far Eastern country.
