Johnny Pott nips Palmer, wins classic

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — There are two things that Johnny Pott, the new champion of the American Golf Classic, likes to do: Win money and beat Arnold Palmer.

He did both Sunday.

Pott won the $9,000 first-place money in the Classic by beating Palmer by four strokes. He shot an even par 35-35-70 in the final round Sunday over what the touring pros label the toughest golf course they have to play — the 7,165-yard Firestone Country Club layout.

For Pott, it was only the fourth tournament victory in his seven years on the tour.

"But it was by far my greatest," said the 27-year-old Pott. "When you beat Palmer, you beat the greatest."

Pott, before Sunday, hadn't won a tournament since the Waco Turner in May of 1962. Before that he had won at Dallas and West Palm Beach.

Now he has set his sights on this week's Denver Open.

"I'm only sorry Palmer won't be there," he said. "I'm going to have to beat him a lot more before I get even with the times he has beaten me."

McKinley, Ralston defeat Mexicans

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass. (UPI) — The United States may not take the Davis Cup away from Australia this year but at least the nation's tennis players can boast they again hold their own national doubles championship.

Young Dennis Ralston and Chuck McKinley before a record Longwood Cricket Club gallery recaptured the title Sunday from Mexicans Rafael Osuna and Antonio Palafox. All four, together with a host of others, moved on to Forest Hills, N.Y., where the U.S. national championships get rolling on Wednesday.

Ralston and McKinley collected a strange distinction by winning their rubber match from the Mexicans since the quartet have been finalists here for the last three years. In victory, they became the first home-grown tandem to win the title twice since veterans Gardner Mulloy and Billy Talbert aged beyond title competition just 15 years ago. Mulloy and Talbert won the 83-year-old tournament a record four times — a mark Mcround lead and then led the field alone going into the third and fourth rounds — picking up $2,333 in bonus money for doing it — figured when he teed off Sunday that "I had to shoot a 68 or 69 to win."

His total of 276 for the four rounds tied the tournament record set by Palmer when he won the Classic last year.

Palmer had some consolation. His $4,600 second-place money made him the first golfer ever to go over the $100,000 official money-winning mark in a single year. Palmer's final round 37-36-73, three over par, gave him a total of 299—exact par for the course and increased his money-winnings to $101,553.

"I just didn't play well," said Palmer, who had three bogeys and not a single birdie on the final round.

U.S. Open champion Julius Boros, with a final-round 71, finished third with 281, which was worth $3,000 and that boosted his money-winnings for 1963 to $73,956. That is only behind Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, the Masters and PGA champion, who picked up $2,200 by finishing in a tie for fifth place to increase his official earnings to $83,463.

Kimley, 22, and Ralston, 21, might well have a shot at it if they remain in form.

Ironically, while the United States was winning the men's championship for only the sixth time in 18 years, the nation dropped a share of the women's crown for the first time in 27 years.

Officials list top placers in the 1963 Rotary Olympics

Friday's Bend Rotary Olympics are past history, but this year's version of the annual event had two peculiar twists.

1: Junior girl athletes out-ran and out-distanced the boys, especially in the younger brackets, and

2: The Shot put event (finals) was cancelled because of the theft of two shots belonging to Bend High School. One was brand new.

Koufax, seeking his 20th win, finds it twice beyond his grasp

By United Press International

The first million is supposed to be the toughest but those first 20 aren't exactly a snap either.

Ask Sandy Koufax.

The frustrated Dodger southpaw, still looking for the first 20-game season of his career, has come right down to the wire twice now only to wind up with a big handful of nothing.

Well, not exactly nothing.

The Dodgers did come on to beat the Braves, 2-1, Sunday and fatten their National League lead to 6½ games over both the Cardinals and Giants, so Koufax wasn't complaining.

But it did hurt a bit to come within one out of his 20th victory and his 11th shutout without achieving either.

Koufax had a three-hitter and a 1-0 lead until the ninth when Eddie Mathews doubled and then Gene Oliver doubled with two out to tie the score.

Manager Walt Alston decided to bring in Bob Miller at that point, and after Miller retired the side without further damage he picked up his ninth victory when Doug Camilli singled home the winning run in the bottom of the ninth with the bases full.

Koufax now has allowed only two runs in the last 182½ innings, yet does not have a victory to show for it.

He held the Cardinals to one
