The dark areas on the map are to be the locations of two new park sites. The park area on the east bank of Crooked River will have a boat ramp and day use facilities. The one on the eastern bank of the Deschutes arm of Chinook Lake will have overnight facilities.

Greatest civil rights march in history hailed as huge success, gives struggle new impetus

By Steven Gerstel
UPI Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The greatest civil rights march in U.S. history, hailed as a huge success by its backers, gave new impetus today to the American Negro's centuries-old struggle for racial equality.

A vast throng, estimated by Police Chief Robert V. Murray to have numbered more than 200,000 at its peak, converged on the capital Wednesday for the rally — which resembled more a revivalist camp-meeting than a militant civil rights demonstration.

At the end of a long and weary day, with words of praise from President Kennedy and Washington officials, they streamed out of the city by bus, train, plane and auto in the same disciplined manner that prevailed throughout the "march for jobs and freedom."

The President, who met with the 10 march leaders for more than an hour, declared that the march had advanced the cause of the nation's 20 million Negroes and of all mankind.

He said he could not help but be impressed with the "deep fervor and the quiet dignity" of the gathering. He pledged to push for new civil rights legislation, and to continue efforts for more jobs "and to eliminate discrimination in employment practices."

The Rev. Fred L. Shuttlesworth, a Baptist preacher who was one of the leaders of the Birmingham, Ala., civil rights battle, said the march would "inevitably lead to an outbreak of little Washingtons all over the country."

"I shall propose a civil rights march through the South that will go straight into the Black Belt of Alabama and Mississippi this year and in 1964. We must provide 'little Washingtons' everywhere so that the Negro in the cotton field who can't get to Washington can have a chance to express himself," he said.

Social security law in effect

SALEM (UPI) — A new law making many social security recipients ineligible for unemployment insurance benefits will go into effect Tuesday, Employment Commissioner David H. Cameron reminded today.

The law, adopted by the 1963 legislature, provides that unemployed persons eligible to receive social security benefits shall be presumed to have withdrawn from the labor force and shall not be eligible for unemployment benefits, unless the individual can show he was not voluntarily withdrawn from the labor force and is a bona fide member of the labor market.

chairman of the board of the Congress For Racial Equality (CORE), described the march as "the end of the Negro protest and the beginning of the American protest."

To 74-year-old Negro labor leader A. Philip Randolph, tired and drawn from the weeks of planning for the march, it was "the greatest demonstration for freedom in the nation's history."

Plan Early Meeting

The march leaders will meet in New York within the next 10 days to map further plans. These will include possible continuous "counter-filmbuster" demonstrations in the capital should a southern talkation threaten President Kennedy's civil rights legislation when it comes up for congressional action later this year.

Chief Murray estimated that about 10 per cent of the marchers were white; other estimates by newsmen and other observers ranged as high as 30 per cent.

Josephine Baker, the 60-year-old Negro expatriate who flew here from Paris, told the demonstrators they were "together as salt and pepper, just as you should be. You are a united people at last."

Large search force in Atlantic seeking missing A.F. tankers

MIAMI (UPI) — A large force of planes and ships searched the Atlantic between the Bahamas and Bermuda today for two Air Force jet tankers missing on a refueling flight with 11 men aboard.

A freighter reported sighting a life jacket about 250 miles southwest of Bermuda late Wednesday, and an Air Force search plane said it sighted a possible oil slick in the same area.

The KC135 aircraft, attached to the Strategic Air Command (SAC), were returning to their home base at Homestead Air Force Base south of Miami when radio contact was lost with them Wednesday afternoon.

They had refueled in the air two B47 jets from Schilling AFB in Kansas. The B47s returned safely to Schilling.

The Air Force called the mission routine, but would not say where the refueling took place or speculate on why both tankers vanished. Apparently there was no hint of trouble from the tankers, attached to the 16th bomb wing at Homestead.

The life jacket was sighted by the 450-foot freighter S.S. Azalea City from Wilmington, Del.

The Air Force identified the missing men as:

Capt. Julius O. Wornack, 33, Pioneer, La.; Capt. Donald G. Edson, 30; Capt. Alan C. Fawcett, 29, Elgin, Ill.; Capt. Richard A. Larson, 34, Minneapolis; Capt. Keith R. Goffin, 28, Bellevue, Ill.; Capt. Gerald A. Gardner, 28, Lincoln, Neb.; 1st Lt. Melvin Pump, 29; 1st Lt. William E. Smith, 26, Memphis; M-Sgt. Carl H. Burris, 39, Dinuba, Calif.; T-Sgt. Ray L. Fish, 30, LaCrosse, Wis.; and S-Sgt. Lyle E. Overles, 25, Fulda, Minn.

The hometowns of Edson and Pump were not available immediately.

Father, son, 6, river victims

TROUTDALE (UPI) — A father and his 6-year-old son drowned in the Sandy River at Lewis and Clark State Park Wednesday as the other three members of a vacationing California family watched in horror.

The victims were Victor Herman Hofmann, 38, of Altadena, Calif., and his son, Helmut Karl, 6.

Mrs. Christa Hofmann, 33, told authorities she and daughter Birgitte Elizabeth, 4, were wading with the others when they all stepped into a hole. She began swimming and looked back to see Hofmann struggling with the two children.

Mrs. Hofmann rescued Birgitte, but the others disappeared. Her screams brought rescuers, who located the pair after a 15-minute search.

The second daughter, Christine Anna, 2, had remained on a nearby bench while the others waded.

Indictments against mother, son sought in death of 'belligerent, brute husband'

LA PUENTE, Calif. (UPI) — Police today sought murder indictments against a mother and the oldest of her three teen-age sons, two of whom allegedly participated in the planned slaying of one boy's father.

Victim of the bizarre death plot was Shelby Farley Sr., 42, a railroad switchman whom detectives described as a "belligerent, brute husband."

Authorities Wednesday arrested Elsie Mae Farley, 36, and her sons, Shelby Jr., 18, Donald, 17, and John, 13. The mother and oldest son were booked on suspicion of murder while the younger two were held by juvenile authorities.

The two older boys implicated the 13-year-old and said he agreed to the plan.

In California an 18-year-old could be tried on a murder charge under the adult capital punishment laws. In some cases youngsters under that age have been tried as adults, but rarely has that age been dropped even as low as 15 years.

Police said the elder Farley had been beaten, smothered and then held below water in a bathtub until he ceased to struggle because "he'd been a brute for

SAFETY RULES BROKEN

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall says the mine accidents at Hazleton, Pa., and Moab, Utah, have underscored "the laxness of mine safety practices in some segments" of the industry.

He said Wednesday that most of the serious mine accidents that occurred in the United States this year could have been prevented by "elementary safety precautions."

12 years."

"I was afraid of him and so were the children," Mrs. Farley told officers.

She said her husband had often beaten her and had harassed the family for 12 years. Mrs. Farley said she and the boys made plans to retaliate the next time Farley lost his temper and beat her.

The "next time" was Tuesday. The two older boys returned to their home in this modest Los

Martin to serve Prineville church

Special to The Bulletin

PRINEVILLE — Alvo O. Martin, of Bend and Camp Sherman, will serve the Prineville Community Church until the Rev. A. H. Hazzard arrives in October from Honor, Mich.

Martin is a retired Navy chaplain. He will be in Prineville on Wednesday afternoons for visitations and service planning, and on Sundays for the morning services. His first sermon at the church will be Sunday, September 1.

The Rev. David V. Abbott, who is returning to the Free Methodist denomination, left with his family this week for Seattle, Wash.

Sunday School will be held September 1 at the regular 9:45 a.m. time. Christian Endeavor classes for juniors, intermediates and seniors will be at 6:30 p.m. in the upstairs of the church.

Activities next week include the official board meeting September 3 at 8 p.m. in the Fireplace Room of the church, and circle meetings Thursday, September 5: Grace Circle, church Fireplace Room; Faith Circle, home of Mrs. Hap Taylor Jr.

Angeles suburb late in the afternoon to find their father beating their mother, Shelby Jr. told police. He said he grabbed his father by the throat and wrestled him to the floor.

Donald struck him with a vacuum cleaner metal extension tube, but his father continued to struggle so the 17-year-old ran into the yard and got a 30-inch sledge hammer handle. Police said the youth returned and struck his father six times with the weapon.

"He was still alive," the eldest boy told police. "We got a pillow and tried to smother him. He was still moaning and groaning, so we carried him to the bathtub, filled it part way with water and ducked him."

After Farley had ceased to struggle, Mrs. Farley called sheriff's deputies. Farley was dead on arrival at Hartland Hospital.

District court fines assessed

Only two fines have been paid in Deschutes County District Court.

Tony S. Caruso, San Francisco, Calif., forfeited $80 bail after being arrested for an overload. A Bend man, James Junior White, 1325 Fresno paid the court $15 for violation of the basic rule.

Fire can destroy the Bond...but not the savings

All that the owner of this charred U.S. Savings Bond has to do is mail the remains to the Treasury Department, with as much more information as he can give — serial number, and date and place of issue. He'll get a fresh Bond to replace it. No charge.

The Treasury has grown accustomed to providing this sort of service. In the past 20 years they've replaced over 1,300,000 Savings Bonds that have been lost, stolen, burned or mistakenly tossed out with the trash.

Every U.S. Savings Bond sold is registered in the name of its owner, and a microfilm record made. So the government always knows when, where, and in whose name a Bond was purchased—even if there isn't a burned crisp to send them.

This assurance against loss is another of the many reasons why Americans now hold over $46 billion in Series E and H Savings Bonds. The money they're saving is providing for their personal security. And it's also helping to build the strength of America at a time when the enemies of freedom are stronger than ever.

U.S. Savings Bonds are a good way to provide for your future. Buy them where you bank or work.

Quick facts about U.S. Savings Bonds

- You get $4 for every $3 at maturity
- You can get your money anytime
- Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, destroyed or stolen
- You can save automatically on Payroll Savings.

Uniform pact sought by union

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Teamsters union has moved to seek a uniform national contract for 450,000 drivers, warehousemen, mechanics and clerks in the trucking industry.

A national study committee composed of the Teamsters Executive Board, and representatives from 30 joint councils and big freight locals adopted a resolution Wednesday endorsing national negotiations in 1964.

The committee decided to call upon each of the four Teamster conferences in the country to name 10 delegates each and two alternates to a national policy-negotiating unit.

Union President James R. Hoffa said he believed the first national contracts would take effect in his own Central Conference, consisting of 12 Midwestern states.

The resolution, adopted at a two-day meeting, declared that national bargaining would remove wages as a factor in competition among truckers. A single national contract also would free the unions to use boycotts and selective strikes across the nation. They are now prohibited where separate contracts are in effect.

Hoffa said the next step is to get about 600 Teamster locals, with members who would be affected by such a contract to grant powers of attorney to the national negotiating group.

The locals also will be asked to recommend a set of economic demands to be made in forthcoming negotiations.
