New Yorkers face prospect of closed schools

By William D. Laffler UPI Staff Writer

A picture of a boy about 10 years old with despair splashed all over his face looks at millions of New York subway riders and suburban commuters every day.

The department store is known for its gentle humor in advertising and ordinarily this particular billboard should win a smile from anyone remembering the pangs which come to every young child each September.

A strike, if effective, would keep most of New York's more than one million youngsters away from school.

Alabama Schools

In Alabama, about 5,000 children in three cities have been affected by the actions of Gov. George Wallace, who has closed eight schools this week in an effort to prevent desegregation, and federal courts which have delayed hearings until the middle of next week.

Schools did not open in Birmingham, scene of rioting earlier in the week when a Negro lawyer's home was bombed, in Huntsville and Tuskegee. At Huntsville, when Wallace's troopers surrounded the schools, mothers of school children shouted to them: "Go back where you belong."

Elsewhere in the South many schools were integrated either voluntarily or by court order.

Around the world around the clock: Viet Nam - The United States refused to turn over to the Vietnamese government three Buddhist priests who had sought asylum in the U. S. embassy at Saigon. The government of Ngo Dinh Diem sent a note to the State Department demanding return of the Buddhists but the United States replied it would not release the men unless their safety is guaranteed.

Sino-Soviet - Red China accused Russia of trying to overthrow the local government in Sinkiang Province and of kidnapping Chinese living near the border. The Chinese said relations with Russia were on "the brink of a split."

Cohn - Roy Cohn, who represented Sen. Joseph McCarthy in the Army hearings a decade ago and has since become a prominent businessman, was indicted in New York on charges of perjury and conspiracy in a $5 million fraud case. Cohn, 36, said U. S. Attorney Robert V. Morgenthau was "out to get me" in a personal vendetta growing from the McCarthy hearings. Morgenthau's only comment was that Cohn's guilt or innocence will be judged at the proper time by a jury.

Treaty - Sens. Richard Russell of Georgia and John Stennis of Mississippi, two of the most powerful military authorities in Washington, said they would vote against the partial nuclear test ban treaty initiated by the United States, the Soviet Union and Britain. Sen. Barry Goldwater indicated earlier he would vote against the treaty unless it was amended to guarantee the removal of Russian troops and equipment from Cuba.

Pope - Pope Paul VI told Italian priests attending a conference at his summer residence at Castel Gandolfo that communism is "a contagious and lethal malady" that the Roman Catholic Church must fight practically and methodically. It was the Pope's first pronouncement on communism since his election last June.

Who is the World's Best-loved Dentist? Does anyone know? - Does anyone care? Dentists are heroic, but nobody honors them. There are 3 T.V. shows about Doctors, but not one about a Dentist!! Kids always say, 'Dad, I want to grow up to be a great Doctor, like Albert Schweitzer. But do they ever say, 'Dad, I want to grow up to be a great Dentist, like Melvin Franklin?'

Something ought to be done about it, by the D.D.A.R. (Daughters of Dentists of the American Revolution), but, until they do, let us pay homage to the Dentist of the Century, the Beethoven of Cavity Drilling, Basil Ripbone!!

Jack Laird, producer of ABC-TV's new drama series, "Channing," which is set on a college campus, seems to know something about the real flavor of university life, on the basis of a by-lined press release.

distributed by the network; but even if the show can live up the release, it has rough sledding because its competition is Danny Kaye and "The Eleventh Hour."

A while back, it was said that "Channing" was almost canceled except for the pressure of Tennessee Ernie Ford, who owns a piece of it and also has a daily show on ABC-TV.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A seven-member board, set up to arbitrate the two major issues in the four-year-old railroad work rules dispute, will meet next week to decide when and where to begin.

Ralph T. Seward, who was named chairman of the panel by President Kennedy, met with Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz and rail union and management officials Friday to set the stage for the new and unprecedented collective bargaining procedures.

Union - management negotiations on the secondary issues will be held concurrently during the board's hearings on the two key issues. Seward said the board would meet Wednesday to decide when to begin hearings in Washington.

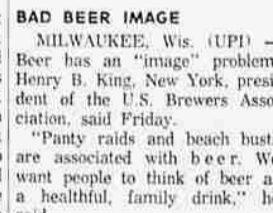

Wirtz is confident the bargaining will succeed this time. The complete collapse of the talks two weeks ago brought the nation to the verge of a nationwide rail strike, which was narrowly averted by emergency arbitration legislation.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) - Beer has an "image" problem, Henry B. King, New York, president of the U.S. Brewers Association, said Friday.

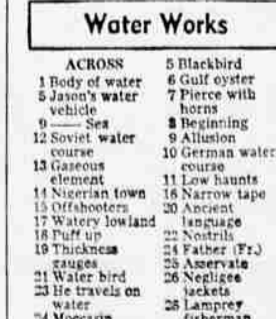

"Pantsy raids and beach busts are associated with beer. We want people to think of beer as a healthful, family drink," he said.
