O'His, state president, Grants Pass; Florence Farabee, first vice president, Prineville; Edna E. Dean, second vice president, Baker; Merle

H. Woodward, executive secretary, Grants Pass; Jaunita Pohl, parliamentarian, Sherwood; Jennie Calhoun, treasurer, Grants Pass; Bernice Conoley, recording secretary, Beaverton; and Valborg Fisher, president of the Central Oregon chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma from Bend.

41 persons hurt as train rams into locomotive

HUDSON, N.Y. (UPI) — A New York Central Railroad commuter express sped through an open switch Tuesday night and collided with a switching locomotive on a siding, injuring 41 persons, one of them critically. The impact derailed two engines, three passenger coaches, and a baggage car, and left four mail cars strewn along the banks of the Hudson River here. None of the six derailed cars turned over; 300 feet of track was torn up. The train was the Henrick Hudson, en route to Albany from New York City. J. T. Miles, a switchman, said he saw an unidentified man try to stop the ten-car express from going off the main track.

"I saw him at the switch," Miles said. "We were less than 50 feet away. But you can't stop a train going 70 miles an hour in 50 feet. He almost got killed trying."

Lawrence Shallo, owner of a taxicab company located at the train station, said, "There was a loud crash and we could hear the people moaning."

Ambulances and taxis took 23 persons to Columbia Hospital here, and all but 19 were released later. Frank Letzler, 61, of Hudson, a conductor on the train, remained in critical condition with throat injuries.

Authorities said at least 16 persons were treated at the scene of the derailment and then released.

Attorney General says Gov. Hatfield can't make any cuts in basic school allotment

SALEM (UPI) — Oregon Gov. Mark Hatfield cannot make cuts in the basic school allotment, Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton said Tuesday.

The ruling may mean that a special session of the legislature will have to be called if the 1963 legislature's $60 million tax increase measure is defeated at the Oct. 15 referendum election.

Hatfield told United Press International "no decision has yet been made" on whether to call a special session.

Thornton said the Basic School Support Fund was a "dedicated fund" and that appropriations to and from the fund are not subject to allotment controls by the Department of Finance and Administration acting under authority of the governor.

Mrs. Coyner to take part in DAR tour

As a special observance of Constitution Week, members and friends of the Daughters of the American Revolution will visit the Schmink Memorial Museum in Lakeview next Tuesday.

Mrs. W. C. Coyner of Bend, state regent, will join a state-wide group in Portland, for a three-day tour September 16, 17 and 18. Plans are being made for a group of local members to go by car Tuesday morning for the program in Lakeview, returning that evening. The group leaving from Portland Monday will travel by chartered bus.

In Lakeview, a marker will be placed at the grave of Mrs. Artie Lula Schmink, who donated her property and the museum to the Oregon Society, Daughters of the American Revolution. Any income from the property above the upkeep of the museum goes to the mountain schools maintained by the national society; Tammassee in South Carolina and Kate Duncan Smith in Alabama.

Luncheon on Tuesday will be hosted by the Lakeview Soroptimist Club. A buffet dinner will be given by the Lakeview DAR chapter at the ranch home of Mrs. Beatrice M. Maxwell. At the museum, the visitors will see the noted glass collection, quilts, china, furniture and other historical items.

On the way home, members of Winema chapter, Corvallis, will place a wreath at the grave of their namesake at Beatty, near Klamath Falls. Princess Winema was a Modoc Indian girl who risked her life several times to save both members of her own tribe and white friends from treachery.

A picnic at Crater Lake will be a feature of the return trip. Mrs. Oliver N. Adams of Portland is in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Robert Lyons is regent of Bend chapter, and Miss Marguerite Elder is chairman of District No. 6 and state chairman of Americanism manuals.

It had been assumed that if Hatfield had authority to make cuts he might have made them himself rather than call a special legislative session. The school fund totals $141 million, about one-third of the $404 million general fund budget for 1963-65.

The governor said Thornton's opinion "further restricts my authority to deal with the financial emergency that will face the state if the tax measure is defeated Oct. 15."

"His opinion removes 30 per cent of the general fund budget from the possibility of reduction by my action."

"I am now reviewing the possible impact of his opinion on other budgets and will report the facts to the people."

Hatfield had asked Thornton for an opinion on the legality of the executive branch making the cuts. It was the first time in more than four years the Republican governor had asked the opinion of the democratic attorney general.

Thornton's opinion noted the basic School Support Fund was established in 1947 when it was provided that certain tax moneys

Union target in equity suit

An equity suit seeking an injunction to restrain a union from picketing is among civil actions filed in circuit court. Also on file was a new divorce suit and an action seeking a lien against property for work done.

Lynn A. Baker, Redmond, is the plaintiff in an action against Carpenters Union Local 1277. Also named as defendants are Roy Letz, president of the local; Harold Davis, secretary and business agent, and Earl Farley and R. F. Hussell, agents and employees.

Barker, who states in his complaint that he is constructing a building in Redmond for Leonard Downs, asks a judgment for $750 damages from the union and an injunction against the defendants. The complaint states that the employees are not members of a union, to the plaintiff's knowledge, and that the plaintiff has sent a petition to the State Labor Management Relations Board asking that an election be conducted.

Caroline A. Dally has filed for divorce from Rodney O. Dally. They were married Nov. 20, 1961, in Williams, Minn. The plaintiff seeks custody of the couple's year-old child and $50 monthly support.

Frank Durham is suing Mr. and Mrs. James J. Rosenthal, owners of property at 1439 W. Fourth Street, Bend, for $564, balance due on a bill of $964, plus 6 per cent interest from May 19, 1963.

Kennedy hoping for new talks on fish rights

WASHINGTON (UPI)— President Kennedy expressed hope Tuesday that Japan will agree in renewed talks starting Sept. 16 to retain restrictions on fishing rights in the North Pacific.

"It is obvious that unless international conservation agreements are strictly enforced there is grave danger of permanent injury to our ocean resources," the President said in a statement.

Kennedy issued the statement after discussing the issue with Ambassador Benjamin A. Smith II, who will lead the U.S. delegation in the Tokyo discussions with Japanese and Canadian representatives.

With Kennedy and Smith were Sens. Warren G. Magnuson and Henry L. Jackson of Washington, E. L. Bartlett of Alaska, and Edwin M. Kennedy, of Massachusetts. All are Democrats.

Japan, Canada and the United States are parties to a 10-year-old treaty on conservation and use of fishing resources in the North Pacific. It can be reopened at the request of any party, and Japan made such a request in hope of changing the "abstention principle" which calls for the fishing restrictions.

Saying "This principle is sound and reasonable," the President made known the United States would continue to insist that Japanese fishermen not take North American salmon on the high seas. Current restrictions bar Japan from taking salmon east of 175 degrees west longitude in the North Pacific.

No conclusions were reached in a meeting held in the United States in June by the three nations. He said Atlantic halibut fisheries already had declined from 13.5 million pounds to 300,000 pounds.

Lawmakers, state agencies over-reacting to pressure

SALEM (UPI) — Legislators and state agencies are so fearful

Boards order post-high school study

SALEM (UPI) — An exhaustive study of post-high school education in Oregon was ordered Tuesday by the boards of Education and Higher Education at their annual joint meeting here.

Staff members from both the Department of Education and Higher Education will work together in drafting the report in hopes of having it ready for presentation to next year's meeting of the two boards.

Dr. Miles Romney, vice chancellor of the Department of Higher Education, said the study was urgently needed.

Most of the 2 1/2 hour joint meeting was devoted to discussion of the possible effects on the state's education system if the tax increase measure is defeated at the Oct. 15 referendum.

Public Instruction Superintendent Leon P. Minear said defeat of the tax measure could result in major cuts in basic school support and force local property taxes up.

Higher Education Chancellor Roy L. Leuallen said defeat of the tax measure would force limits on enrollment, higher tuition fees, and cuts in the building program and special services.

Minear pointed out the average Oregon teachers' salary is now about 25 per cent below the average salary paid in California. He warned this could lead to depletion of the state's supply of teachers.

Leuallen said higher education would aim to maintain quality in its instruction programs, and would make cuts accordingly.

Sisters man offers top bid

A Sisters man, Roy H. Hartford, was successful bidder for timber in the Roaring Creek and Canyon Creek salvage sale areas at an auction recently held in the Sisters Ranger District. Total stumpage in the two sales aggregated about 450,000 board feet.

Hartford obtained the timber on minimum acceptable bids. The bid for the ponderosa pine and western white pine in the Roaring Creek area was $14.75, and that for Douglas fir, western larch and Englemann spruce was $4.75. White fir and other species was sold for $2.90.

On the Canyon Creek sale, ponderosa and western white pine sold for $14 a thousand, and Douglas fir, western larch and Englemann spruce for $4.15. White fir and other species brought $2.10 per thousand.

Intermarriage between races opposed by HST

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former President Harry S. Truman said today he hopes that progress in integration in the United States will not lead to intermarriage between the races.

Truman discussed the subject during his regular morning walk which began the last day of a family visit here. He planned to return home to Independence, Mo., tonight.

Asked his views on integration and whether it would lead to intermarriage, Truman said "I hope not. I don't believe in it. The Lord created it that way. You read your Bible and you'll find out," he told reporters who accompanied him on the stroll along Madison and Park Avenues.

Pressed further on his views, Truman answered queries with a question. He asked a reporter if he would want his daughter to marry a Negro.

"If she loved him," the reporter replied. "She won't love somebody that's not her color," Truman said. "You will edit the man she goes out with."

"I did and she got the right man," he said, referring to his daughter, Margaret. "How did we get on this (racial) subject anyway?" he asked.

His comments on intermarriage came after he praised President Kennedy's action in handling the Alabama integration crisis Tuesday.

The reaction of the man on the streets is that the only reason economy is being stressed is because the tax increase measure has been referred. He wonders if the legislators would have been as economy-minded if a referendum were not pending.

The legislature set aside $300,000 to finance the Oct. 15 special election. The Emergency board cut this to $275,000. This was pure window dressing, because the law sets aside the full $300,000, and the full amount will have to be spent if it is needed. If that amount isn't needed, it won't be spent, regardless of the Emergency Board's action.

But the man in the street thinks it is an economy move. Salary Cut Eyed

At the previous Emergency Board meeting salary increases for state workers were approved only through the end of this year. The idea was if the tax measure is defeated, the salary increases would be withdrawn.

But it may not work this way. The state can't play ping-pong with an employee's paycheck. If the tax bill is defeated, some workers may be fired, or all may be forced to take days off without pay. But the basic salary rates will stay up unless the Civil Service Commission adopts a lower salary schedule.

Emergency Board members are worried. They're afraid of what can happen to the state's government if the tax bill is defeated.

They're sincerely concerned about the state's education program, which will be the hardest hit.

Tomorrow: The crisis in education.

HOUSE RAMS TRUCK
SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. (UPI) — A house ran into a truck here Tuesday. As truck driver Bul Tomson was towing the dwelling down a street, he suddenly found the way blocked by parked cars. Tomson hit the brakes; the house kept going.

The runaway dwelling jacked the truck, smashed into its side and drove it across a lawn.

Two smoke jumpers get treatment

Two smoke jumpers injured Tuesday when they were dispatched from the Redmond Fire Control Center and dropped near a fire burning in the rugged Calapooya Mountain area of the Deschutes National Forest received treatment in an Eugene hospital.

They were Tim Taylor and Paul Thomas, both of Okanogan, Wash., and were members of a unit of four dropped on the fire from a Cave Junction plane with Pilot Williams at the controls.

It was first feared that one of the men suffered a broken leg, but it was learned today that injuries are confined to ankle sprains. They were to be taken from Eugene today to their home station at Okanogan.

Rugged terrain along the Middle Fork of the Willamette and gusty winds were blamed for the injuries suffered by the smoke jumpers.

The fire is under control.

Cave expedition being planned

Oregon Museum of Science and Industry, Portland, is to sponsor a cave expedition into Central Oregon this weekend, with a two-day trip planned to circle the Paulinas.

Heading the expedition, planned for OMSI families, will be James O. Anderson, Jr., a former Bend resident. He is now naturalist for the Portland museum. Already enrolled for the trip are 93 persons. Just short of 30 cars will be in the caravan that will reach Bend about 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

The meeting place will be the Fort Rock District headquarters on East Greenwood. Joe Stenkamp of the district staff plans to accompany the group into the lava cave country.

First stop will be at Skeleton Cave, with the Arnold Ice Cave also to be visited. There will be an overnight, dry camp at Lava-cave Cave. The large group will set up camp near the cave entrance, have dinner, then spend the evening in the cavern.

Sunday will find the group in the Fort Rock country, with a visit to Derrick Cave planned. There will be a stop at the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Long, where Long's fine collection of artifacts will be on display.

As the group prepares for the return trip to Bend via LaPine, there will be a stop at the Hole-in-the-Ground.
