

Education has big stake in tax referral election, area schoolmen are told

By Phil F. Brogan
Bulletin Staff Writer

Central Oregon Schoolmen meeting in Bend Wednesday night to discuss implications of the tax referendum were told: "Education is in the spotlight in this referral. Of the 404 million dollar budget, 232 million is ticketed for education."

Dr. Orde Pinckney, Bend, Central Oregon College dean of instruction, served as moderator of a panel which discussed various angles of the referendum on which people of Oregon will vote on Tuesday, October 16.

On the panel were Mrs. Sam Johnson, Redmond, member of the state board of higher education; Boyd Overhulse, Madras, state senator from District No. 19; Kessler Cannon, Bend, state representative from Central Oregon; Donald Pence, Bend, COC president; Al Haberly, Prineville, Crook County superintendent of schools, and James Brown, Redmond Union High School superintendent.

Present were some 70 schoolmen from the Central Oregon counties. The panel discussed the referendum following the dinner in the school cafe at which Vic Anderson, Bend, presided as head of the Mid-Oregon schoolmen.

Koho reunion held in Bend

The five children of the Koho family honored their father, W. C. Koho of Denver, Colo., and their mother and step-father, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Neal of Bend, at a reunion last Saturday in Bend.

Thirty-seven persons joined in a barbecue and an afternoon of reminiscing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Koho, 1145 Roosevelt Avenue. This was the first time since 1940 that the three brothers and two sisters and their parents had been together as a group.

The immediate family members are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Blucher and two children and Mr. and Mrs. Don Koho and three children, all of Bend; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Koho and son, Bremerton, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ladd and three children, Pierce, Idaho, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Koho and two children, Empire.

Other Bend residents attending were Mrs. Gertrude Rowland, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Goodwin, Raymond Dean and Mrs. Vern Schultz. Mrs. Rowland is the mother of Mrs. Neal and Goodwin and the late Mrs. Dean.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Tiller, Arcata, Calif., brother-in-law and sister of W. C. Koho; Mrs. Nola Mae Matthews, Denver, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitney, Arcata, cousins of the Koho children, and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Munda and daughter, Pierce, Idaho. Mrs. Munda is the Ladd's daughter.

In preface to the discussion by the panel, Dr. Pinckney noted: "On October 16th we will be in a position to carry on with HB 1846 intact, or if it is repealed, we will turn to the Governor, who in turn has two alternatives: He can pare his budget by $60 million, and in education he has only about $90 million to manipulate; or the governor can call a special session of the legislature."

Senator Overhulse expressed his opinion that the Governor will call the legislature back into session if the tax program is voted down. Rep. Cannon took an opposite view. "If the vote is overwhelming against the program, I don't think the Governor will call the legislature back into session," he said.

Dr. Pence noted grave problems that will face Central Oregon College, now under construction in Bend, and its future if the legislature's tax program is defeated. Phase I of the COC construction will be carried to completion, he said, but funds will be lacking to carry out Phase II — and, he pointed out, the new college site cannot be used unless Phase II is completed.

The eventual solution would possibly be a property tax, to make completion possible. Keynoting the panel discussion was Mrs. Johnson, who noted that defeat of the tax program on October 15 will affect many services not directly connected with classroom education.

Mrs. Johnson said that enrollment in state colleges would have to be cut some 3,000. This would be done through imposition of higher entrance requirements. The threat to education, she noted, comes at a time when the demand being made on schools is greater than ever before, because of increased enrollment. Rep. Cannon later expressed his opinion that the threat of the defeat of the tax program is primarily due to a breakdown in communication between the legislature and the people.

Rubbish fire brings alarm
A rubbish fire was mistaken for a resident as a motel fire Wednesday afternoon and firemen rushed by general alarm to the Owl Motel on N. First Street.

The fire, with a heavy column of smoke rising from it, was behind the Park Cafe, adjacent to the motel. Firemen answered one rural alarm at 11:31 a.m. after the burning of grass, tended by railroad crews, got out of control. The fire was abated of a railroad right-of-way about one half mile north of Deschutes Road. No damage occurred.

Impact of cut in basic school funds reported

SALEM (UPI) — Impact of a $15 to $30 million cut in basic school funds for the 1964-65 school year was outlined at Wednesday's meeting of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Education.

House Tax Committee Chairman Richard Eymann, D-Marcola, and State Rep. Richard Kennedy, D-Eugene, advised the legislature might be forced to make such a cut if the tax measure is defeated at the Oct. 15 special election.

They advised Public Instruction Supt. Leon P. Minear that because of an attorney general's ruling that the governor could not cut basic school support, a special session of the legislature might have to be called if the tax bill is defeated.

They reasoned that because school district budgets are already set for the 1963-64 school year, the full cuts might have to be made in the 1964-65 school year.

Eymann said if such a reduction were made, local voters could determine the level of school service in their local districts by voting next spring on individual property tax levies for the 1964-65 school year.

Eymann asked Minear to determine what cuts would be made in case of both a $15 million and a $30 million reduction.

Minear listed these examples: Baker $79,047 to $158,125; Corvallis $294,709 to $490,901; Astoria $51,092 to $102,205; Coos Bay $269,975 to $520,033; Bend $162,342 to $324,684; Medford $386,561 to $773,122; Klamath County unit $168,147 to $336,294; Eugene $750,028 to $1,500,056; Ontario $110,702
