

Nobel winner Linus Pauling leaving Caltech

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Dr. Linus Pauling, winner last week of the 1962 Nobel Peace Prize, today planned to leave the California Institute of Technology to join the staff of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions.

The Caltech chemistry professor, only man to win two Nobel prizes, said Friday he had accepted the appointment "under conditions favorable to the continued prosecution of my work in science, medicine and world affairs."

He will take over his new post Nov. 1, 1963. "I shall be on leave of absence from Caltech during the remainder of the academic year, but I shall continue to supervise experimental and theoretical research in the field of chemistry..." he said.

Although his "leave of absence" was until June 30, 1964, Pauling said it "appears my work at Caltech is at an end."

Pauling, who was awarded the Nobel Prize for Chemistry in 1954, said that it was "not without regret" that he was severing his association with Caltech after more than 41 years as a professor. However, he hinted at some possible dissatisfaction with his experimental laboratory at the school.

The professor told newsmen he considered the Nobel Peace Prize a vindication "for all the criticism I had received over the years for my work against nuclear testing and for world peace."

"The award of the Nobel Peace Prize to me, will have, I believe the consequence that I shall devote the major part of my time during the coming months to work in the field of international affairs, and I shall be able to carry out this work more effectively at the center in Santa Barbara, Calif., than at Caltech."

He said he anticipated that most of his future scientific work would be theoretical instead of experimental. "I will be free to write, and work in science and medicine on the side," he told a news conference at his home.

Heating clinic planned here on October 23

A free heating clinic will be held Wednesday, October 23, at 8 p.m. in the Thompson School auditorium, 437 Wall Street, under auspices of the Cascade division, Oregon Columbia chapter of the National Electrical Contractors Association. The program will be repeated Thursday, October 24, at 8 p.m. in the Madras Junior High School cafeteria.

The Central Oregon branch of NECA is presenting the clinic in cooperation with the Central Electric Cooperative and Pacific Power & Light Co., according to Walter Lantz, division chairman.

Wallace Ross, electric heating specialist in the General Electric Co., Seattle, will provide information, assisted by Robert Stageberg, representing the National Mineral Wool Association.

A display of modern electric heating equipment will be arranged for inspection by the public. Refreshments will be served, and all interested Central Oregon residents are invited to attend the clinic in their area.

Modern installation methods, new equipment, insulation requirements and other details will be presented.

New upholstery service opens

A new upholstery service for Bend, at 137 East Greenwood, was recently opened by Ken and Betty Williams. The new plant is to specialize in recovering and repairing all types of household and commercial furniture. Service for automobile seat cushions and covers will also be available.

The Williamsens have been Central Oregon residents since March, 1960. Williamsen has had 18 years of experience in the upholstery field.

MR. AND MRS. CLINTON E. PERRY

Buckingham-Perry wedding here held on anniversary

Miss Judith Ann Buckingham and Clinton E. Perry were married recently at St. Francis Catholic Church. The wedding day was the 26th wedding anniversary of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Buckingham of Route 1, Bend. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Branch, Fort Rock.

The Rev. Stephen Murtagh performed the ceremony, in which rings were exchanged. Mrs. Clarence Bush was organist, and Miss Claudia Graves sang. The bride's father gave her in marriage.

Miss Joan Perry, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. Miss Kay Asselin and Mrs. David Sperling were bridesmaids.

David Sperling was best man, and Robert Conway and Robert Skidgel ushered.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Copper Room, Mrs. Alph Hanson, Bend, and Mrs. Lowell Gibson, Madras, cut and served the wedding cake. Mrs. Marion Schick, aunt of the bridegroom, poured coffee, and Mrs. Patrick Gibson, Madras, served punch. Mrs. Douglas Brown kept the guest book.

The newlyweds made a wedding trip down the Oregon coast to California, and are at home in Bend at 311 Tumalo Avenue.

Perry is employed by Bob Thomas Chevrolet-Cadillac. A 1960 graduate of Lakeview High School, he received an associate degree from Central Oregon College in 1963.

The bride, a 1961 graduate of Bend High School, is employed as a stenographer in the office of Brooks-Scanlon, Inc.

Student driver crackdown due at Prineville

Special to The Bulletin
PRINEVILLE — The Crook county school board has outlined a new and vigorous policy in connection with student drivers at the junior and senior high schools in Prineville.

As a result of some discussion of problems caused by the large number of students driving to high school, the board established the ruling that cars driven to school by students shall remain parked at the school throughout the school day.

Special permission from the principal will be required, the board agreed, for students to use a car at noon.

The step was taken, according to minutes of the meeting, because it is felt that some students have abused the privilege of driving to school. The board also noted the acute traffic problem caused each noon by scores of students driving to and from the school or cruising streets in the school area.

The measure, it was stated, was taken in accordance with Oregon law.

The board also established the restriction of married students in high school to academic subjects only, banning their participation in athletics and other extra-curricular activities.

High cost of U.S. shipping may snag sending of wheat to Russia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The multi-million-dollar deal to sell American wheat to the Soviet Union may have struck a snag—the high cost of shipping the grain via U.S. vessels.

When President Kennedy approved the transaction Oct. 9 he said the surplus grain would be carried "in available American ships supplemented by ships of other countries as required."

The Commerce Department announced Friday that this requirement would be a condition in the granting of export licenses to private U.S. traders, who will handle the deal with Russia and the Eastern European satellites.

The department also said that it would "establish guidelines for fair and reasonable rates" for the movement of the wheat to the Communist bloc in U.S. ships.

U.S. shipping rates are generally higher than those of foreign shippers, principally because of labor costs and other factors.

The Commerce Department said the Maritime Administration would establish the "guidelines" and they would be based on "maritime experience in fixing such rates for the guidance of government agencies in moving government-sponsored cargoes."

The department did not say whether this meant export licenses would be refused because of high shipping costs.

Church Women set observance

October 31 has been selected by the United Church Women of Bend for their observance of World Community Day.

Miss Helen Turnbull, New York, national director of leadership education of United Church Women, will be speaker. The program will be held at 1:30 p.m. at the First Christian Church, according to Mrs. Ronald Reid, chairman.

Women of the participating churches are preparing for the day by making and collecting layettes for "friendship packets." Cotton yardage, boys' cotton T-shirts and shorts are among items to be sent to children in church institutions and areas of acute need.

Those wishing to help fill a "friendship packet" may bring any of the following items which are included in the packet: two wash cloths, hand towels, child's toothbrush, tube of toothpaste, bar of soap, a comb, adhesive bandages, tube of vaseline. Optional items for each packet: 1 small toy, box of crayons, pencil, small pad of paper.

The themes for World Community Day for the past 20 years have been related to peace. Miss Turnbull's topic will be, "Nation Building and the United Nations."
