All is ready for beginning of 'Big Lift'

FT. HOOD, Tex. (UPI) — The United States assembled troops, fliers and planes from Texas to Maine today to show the world that it can put 16,000 Army and Air Force men with supporting aircraft in Germany within 72 hours.

The project, whose code-name is Operation "Big Lift," begins one minute after midnight tonight when a C135 jet transport takes off with 70 men from the 2nd "Hell on Wheels" Armored Division in it.

The 2nd Division will supply 13,000 of the troops.

Transport planes will take off from four air bases at intervals ranging from 35 minutes to an hour until a total of 14,500 troops-tankers and infantrymen from Fort Hood and artillerymen from Fort Sill, Okla., are in Germany.

To Have Support

The moment the first C135 takes off from Bergstrom Air Force Base in Austin, Air Force support planes will start taking off for Europe from Dow and Loring Air Force Bases in Maine and Myrtle Beach AFB, S.C. The Air Force contribution to "Big Lift" is 1,500 men.

The support planes, including about 100 rocket-firing jet fighters, will cover the 2nd division when it tries to stop an "attack" on West Germany by an enemy division.

Another U.S. Division already in Europe will play the role of attacker.

In addition to the jet fighters, 42 other planes including reconnaissance air craft and C130 cargo planes with mechanics and repair facilities will fly to Germany.

The troop-carrying transport planes will take off from Bergstrom AFB, James Connally AFB at Waco, Tex., Sheppard AFB, Wichita Falls, and Gray Army Air Base, next door to Ft. Hood.

Men Getting Prepared

Second Division men assembled in battalion areas at Ft. Hood today, checking equipment and packing duffelbags. The personnel carriers they will use are already in Germany.

The first units will start moving out by dusk at 10 p.m. EDT from Ft. Hood to the air bases. The troops will move out, board planes and take off by a schedule as precise as that which governs the launching of a man into space.

When the troops arrive in Germany, they will have a couple of days to get tanks out of storage. An advance party of 472 men arrived in Germany Saturday to establish communications and set up a headquarters.

It will take from 10 hours and 25 minutes to 31 hours and 25 minutes for troops to reach Europe, depending on the type of plane they ride and the route it takes.

Harvest Days due on weekend

Harvest Days, one of the special events arranged by retail merchants of the Bend Chamber of Commerce for the fall and early winter, will be held here this weekend, on Friday and Saturday.

One of the highlights will be a display of new automobiles on a roped off section of Minnesota Avenue, in downtown Bend. Cars will go on display about 5:30 p.m. Friday, and will remain in the area until store-closing time, 9 p.m.

Calling attention to the harvest of potatoes in the Central Oregon area, 10 pound bags of potatoes will be offered in stores of all merchants participating in the Harvest Days program. The Central Oregon grown potatoes will be offered for 27 cents a 10 pound bag. Throughout town, participating merchants will have special bargains for Harvest Day shoppers, the retail merchants committee in charge, headed by Bob Somerville, has announced.

WAITER WAS CROWNED

LONDON (UPI) — Waiters at the Pigalle, a London night club, threatened to strike today because singer Jill Day crowned a waiter with a silver platter full of peas.

"That damn waiter got on my nerves," Miss Day said of the Saturday night incident. "All through my act he was sticking dishes on a tray and using out knives and forks. I grabbed the first thing I could lay my hands on and sloshed him over the head with it."

U.S. convoys to demonstrate access rights

BERLIN (UPI)—A U.S. Army convoy rolled over the East German Autobahn today while troops of the American garrison in Berlin were called out on a dawn alert.

Today's convoy was a small one with only eight men in four trucks. All were considered crewmen, not passengers.

The Soviet checkpoint officers never have tried to make the crews of allied military vehicles dismount for a head count and did not do so today, an Army spokesman said.

The convoy was the first of several this week which will demonstrate the U.S. right to use the 110-mile highway between West Berlin and West Germany.

Most of the convoys were expected to be small ones in which the dismounting question on which the Soviets held up British and American convoys recently will not arise, informed sources said.

Hence, any Soviet challenge on the access routes would have to be on different grounds. Allied officials are watching all convoy movements closely to see if such a challenge will be made, these sources said.

Today's convoy drove from Berlin to West Germany and passed the Soviet checkpoint at the West Berlin end of the Autobahn in 20 minutes, an Army spokesman said.

Other U.S. troops were called out of barracks in full combat kit at 5 a.m. today.

Troops of one battalion manned posts they would defend in case the Communists used armed force on the city.

An Army spokesman said the three-hour alert was "designed to evaluate the units ability to react to various situations."

2 Eugene cars collide headon

Two Eugene cars were involved in a headon collision in LaPine Saturday about 7:40 p.m., with two persons injured and taken to the St. Charles Memorial Hospital in Bend.

Injured were Robert I. Johnson, 46, Eugene, driver of one of the vehicles, and Mildred Bowen, 46, Eugene, wife of Verdie Bowen, operator of the second car.

Bowen apparently was preparing to turn from U.S. Highway 97 into Mom's Cafe as the Johnson car approached from the north.

Oregon State Police, assisted by Justice of the Peace Barney Martin, completed investigation of the accident this morning.

The condition of Mrs. Bowen and Johnson apparently was not serious.

Teenagers begin work at site of 'Fort Juniper'

Seven young members of the Bend Teenage Recreation Council were busy with shovels and rakes Saturday morning clearing a tract of land in Juniper Park on which will rest Fort Juniper.

The proposed Fort Juniper is a 60 x 80-foot stockade of pine logs standing five feet high. It will contain as many of the traditional frontier facilities as the Recreation Department is able to assemble — including store fronts, captain's quarters, liberty pole, parapets, etc.

There is no set completion date but the Council hopes to get the fort built as soon as practicable. Tonight its members will meet in city hall to discuss further plans.

Elderly pair found safe by searchers

FLORENCE, Ore. (UPI)—An elderly Hollywood, Calif., couple, missing overnight in a heavily-wooded area near here, was found safe today, police reported.

John Farneman, 79, and his wife, Ethel, 70, were located by searchers about 9:15 a.m. and were reported in "pretty good condition."

The couple became lost about eight miles south of here between Highway 101 and Siltcoos Lake Sunday.

More than 100 searchers, aided by three helicopters, fanned out on the search today. The couple had been last seen at 10 a.m. Sunday when they told other residents at the Fish Mill Lodge on the lake they were going on a mushroom hunting trip.

They left a note saying they would be back at 1 p.m. A search was started when they failed to return by 4:15. About 35 men, aided by bloodhounds, covered five square miles before darkness forced them to give up about 10 p.m.

The bloodhounds did locate four searchers who had become lost in the heavy underbrush. Heavy rain fell and a light wind blew during the night, but the temperature stayed about 50 degrees. The couple was wearing only light clothing.

Oregon State Police, the Lane County sheriff's office, Florence city police and the Siuslaw Rural Fire District combined their facilities to coordinate the search.

Tap Room hit during night

Prowlers stole an estimated $56.50 from three slot machines and a cash register sometime last night after breaking into the Century Tap Room on W. 14th.

Police said the thieves forced open a front window with a crowbar and probably used the same tool in prying the slot machines.

President Tito feels well, tours Princeton lab

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — President Tito of Yugoslavia, "feeling well" after recovering from the flu, today toured the modernistic plasma physics laboratory at Princeton University's Forrestal Research Center.

Princeton President Robert F. Goheen and George Kennan, former U.S. ambassador to Yugoslavia and now a professor at Princeton's Institute for Advanced Studies, greeted the nattily dressed Communist leader on the steps of the research center.

The three entered the building followed by an entourage of 30 Yugoslav government officials and their families.

News men were not permitted to accompany the touring party inside the building, which contains laboratories for research on hot gases.

Tito was scheduled to lunch with Goheen, confer with Kennan and hold a news conference before leaving the university.

Only a few pedestrians and a police detail noted his departure from New York.

Tito's arrival Sunday at Idlewild International Airport was uneventful, but he was greeted a short time later by about 50 demonstrators when his motorcade arrived at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in Manhattan.

Searchers find young nimrod

A young hunter from the Willamette Valley, Emil Susee, 17, who spent the night in the Fort Rock woods was reported located this morning, as searchers prepared to comb the area.

Susee was hunting in the timbered Jones Wells country, directly south of Newberry Crater, when he was reported lost. The hunt by members of the party started Sunday afternoon and lasted well into the night.

Members of the Fort Rock district staff, Oregon State Police and the sheriff's office were alerted. Preparations for a wide search of the area were called off about mid-morning today when the boy was reported safe in camp.

Churchill's eldest daughter, Diana, found dead Sunday, inquest ordered

LONDON (UPI) — The Westminster coroner's office today ordered an inquest into the death of Sir Winston Churchill's eldest daughter, Diana, who was found dead Sunday in her London home.

Following a post-mortem examination and study of some bottles found at Miss Churchill's home, the coroner decided to open an inquest Thursday.

Miss Churchill, 54, had appeared "gay and carefree"

Parliament delay sought by Home

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Lord Home, first peer to head a British government since 1902, sought today to delay the opening of Parliament until he can move from the House of Lords to Commons.

Home spent the weekend attempting to patch the split in the Conservative party caused by the battle to succeed ailing Harold Macmillan, who retired Friday, selecting Home as his replacement.

Home won all but two of his opponents for the cabinet, including former Deputy Premier R. A. Butler, who had been considered the favorite to succeed Macmillan.

Those who refused to serve were Iain MacLeod, co-chairman of the Conservative party and leader of the House of Commons, and Enoch Powell, former health minister. Both led the revolt against the selection of Home, but neither gave a reason for not joining his cabinet.

"I am sorry they did not feel they could accept office," Home said Sunday. "It does not mean the party is split. I have no doubt they will give me the most loyal support."

Home was reported considering asking Queen Elizabeth to delay the resumption of Parliament until after Nov. 7, when he will run for election in the House of Commons.

Labor has opposed such a delay — Parliament now is set to reconvene Oct. 29 — but the Queen has the right to set the date. Labor leader Harold Wilson said such a request would be "an impertinence."

Home, a 60-year old Scottish peer, could remain in the House of Lords and still serve as premier, but he would not be able to function effectively. Peers cannot appear in Commons and it is in the lower house that the policy debating and decision-making takes place.

Justice Department sources said that inasmuch as Genovese still is considered under indictment, he can be held by federal authorities. His attorneys could make application for bail but this would be subject to court consideration.

42 Vietnamese soldiers killed in major battle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — Communist guerrillas killed 42 Vietnamese soldiers and wounded 13 U.S. officers and men in one of the biggest battles of the war, U.S. military spokesmen announced Sunday.

The Communists lost 30 dead in the fighting 150 miles southwest of Saigon. Vietnamese wounded numbered 83. The American casualties—eight officers and five enlisted men—was the highest number incurred in a single battle since U.S. advisers began aiding Vietnamese forces in the fullscale program that began in 1961.

The military spokesmen withheld word of the battle 24 hours. The Communists attacked Saturday morning, driving against a government force twice as large as their estimated battalion strength.

The battle was not fought on the usual hit-and-run guerrilla plan. The Communists made a frontal attack, cutting down government troops with machinegun fire and pinning them down in rice paddies.

Most of the Americans wounded were pilots and crewmen of aircraft ferrying troops to the battle area and striking at the Communist positions. The guerrillas shot down one troop carrier helicopter and damaged a twin-engine B26 bomber so badly it crashed while attempting to land. They hit a total of 14 aircraft.

The Communists incurred most of their casualties in air strikes.

Court orders rehearing on Genovese

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court today ordered an appeals court rehearing of the narcotics conviction of Vito Genovese, recently identified as "boss of all bosses" of the Cosa Nostra crime cartel.

In a brief order vacating the 1959 convictions of Genovese and nine co-defendants, the high court directed the 2d U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to take another look at the case in light of a Supreme Court decision last term.

Today's action does not mean an automatic retrial for Genovese. Nor does it mean that he can now leave prison where he is serving a 15-year sentence.

Justice Department sources said that inasmuch as Genovese still is considered under indictment, he can be held by federal authorities. His attorneys could make application for bail but this would be subject to court consideration.

Genovese was fingered as the Cosa Nostra crime chief at recent Senate hearings by underworld informer Joseph Valachi. It was Valachi who identified the 65-year-old crime figure as the "boss of all bosses" in the Mafia-type organization.

Genovese is now hospitalized at Leavenworth Penitentiary for high blood pressure and a heart condition.

In other actions today, the Supreme Court: —Reversed the convictions of 373 Negro students found guilty of breach of the peace for demonstrating against segregation policies at Orangeburg, S.C., in 1960. The court had sent the case back to South Carolina last term for rehearing and the state Supreme Court had upheld the convictions. Today's brief order was a summary reversal of the state action.

—Denied hearings to two men sentenced to death in Virginia and Alabama for rape. Justice Arthur J. Goldberg dissented in the dismissal of appeals of Frank Jimmy Snider Jr. and Frank Lee Rudolph. Goldberg, declaring review should have been granted, said the court should decide whether the Constitution permits imposition of the death penalty "on a convicted rapist who has neither taken nor endangered human life."

—Agreed to hear arguments on a challenge to Delaware's recent legislative reapportionment. Four cases from other states also will be heard this year.

SIGHT SUBMARINE STOCKHOLM (UPI)—An unidentified submarine was reported in Swedish waters Sunday night northeast of Svenska Hoegarna in the Stockholm archipelago.

The lighthouse keeper at Svenska Hoegarna reported the sighting. He said the vessel was surfaced but disappeared into heavy fog before he could identify its markings.

The Swedish navy said it had no submarines in the area at the time.

10 nominees picked for C of C board

Ten members of the Bend Chamber of Commerce have been nominated to serve as directors for the ensuing three years, with five of the group to be named in a final vote that will end at the annual meeting, set for November 15.

Nominated were Steve Jackson, Darrell Liska, Don Bagley, Ralph Moore, Lyman C. Johnson, Bob Thomas, Frank Bockhold, Hap Taylor, John Stenkamp and Dick Brandis.

The five men elected in a vote of the general membership in November will succeed Al Erikson, Ray LeBlanc, Gordon McKay, G. E. Wiley and Bill Yates, whose terms are ending.

Holdover directors are Gordon Randall, president; R. G. McFarland, Harvey Watt, Robert L. Bristol, Chester F. Coryell, William G. Ellis, Ashley A. Poust, Paul Reynolds, Freeman Schultz and George A. Warrington.

Maurice Shelton is chairman of a committee in charge of making arrangements for the annual meeting, at which new directors will be introduced.

Voting will end as members gather for the annual meeting.

Red China bid beaten, 57-41 by Assembly

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI) — The General Assembly today rejected Albania's bid to seat Red China in place of the Chinese Nationalists by a vote of 57-41 with 12 abstentions.

The margin in favor of retaining the Chiang Kai-shek regime as China's legal U.N. representative was two votes greater than last year.

The weeklong debate on the China representation issue wound up with a new attack on the United States and Nationalist China by Albania, the only European Communist country on good terms with the Peking regime.

The vote was on a resolution sponsored by Albania and Cambodia to oust the Nationalist regime and give China's seat to the Chinese Communists. A similar resolution, sponsored by Russia, was defeated last year by 56-42 vote with 12 abstentions.

The percentage of members present and voting in favor of the Taipei government rose to 57.9 per cent, the strongest majority in the assembly for the Nationalists since 1959.

AN OLD TRICK ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — James L. Mason was in jail on suspicion of robbery today because he refused to fall for an old trick.

Police said Mason was holding up a service station and when the attendant began talking to someone behind Mason's back — patrolman Allen Duncan.

Winds batter vessel with ten aboard

CAPE HATTERAS, N. C. (UPI) — Hurricane Ginny stalled 100 miles off the North Carolina coast today and battered a destroyer escort with 10 persons aboard with howling winds and 40-to-50-foot seas.

Winds of about 90 miles per hour were reported near the center of the storm, seventh of the season and the first to threaten the eastern coast of the United States.

Hurricane winds of 75 miles an hour extended out 60 miles in all directions from the center of the storm, which boiled up Sunday night and sent gale winds and high tides crashing against North Carolina's storied Outer Banks.

A late Washington Weather Bureau advisory located Ginny about 100 miles southeast of Cape Hatteras.

In this same vicinity the disabled destroyer escort USS Fog was adrift after its tow rope snapped two days ago. Ships and planes searched through blinding rain for the stricken vessel.

"With just 10 men aboard they're probably just doing their best to hang onto the rails in 40-to-50-foot seas," a Coast Guard spokesman at Portsmouth, Va., said.

Storm Moves Slowly

The Weather Bureau said Ginny would likely continue its slow progress during much of today.

"Hurricane Ginny is expected to move very slowly during the next 12 hours, probably towards the east-northeast about 5 miles per hour. Intensity should remain about the same during the next 12 to 24 hours," the Weather Bureau said.

Gale force winds raked the Outer Banks but the hurricaneine inhabitants of the sand spits off the North Carolina coast refused to move out until the hurricane took on a more definite pattern of movement.

United Press International staff photographer Joseph Holloway Jr. reported from Manteo, N. C. that strong winds almost toppled the phone booth from which he was talking.

Heavy surf pounded the silvery dunes along the Dare County coast early today. Wind gusts up to 70 miles an hour were reported in the Nags Head area.

Ship Is Helpless

The Fog, a decommissioned destroyer escort, was bouncing helplessly in the hurricane with its engines and most of its equipment not operating.

Two ships and two airplanes were in the area searching for the vessel. They were hampered by the heavy rain which cut visibility to zero.

Tides from the Virginia Capes southward along the North Carolina coast were expected to continue 2 to 3 feet above normal today and tonight with some flooding at time of high tides, the Weather Bureau said.

Rough, heavy pounding surf along the outer coast will continue to cause beach erosion.

Worker at dam accident victim

MADRAS — Harry T. Strand, 47, City Trailer Court, Madras, was killed at about 1:05 p.m. Saturday in a construction accident at the Round Butte Dam.

Strand, a catskinner, was standing atop the dam fill when a rocker loaded with rock backed over him. The truck was about 24 yard capacity and weighed about 60 tons.

Driver of the wagon was Jimmie Dexter. Strand is survived by a wife and one teenage son.
