Accomplished a lot

International Olympics Committee finishes meet

By United Press International

BADEN-BADEN, Germany. (UPI) — Members of the International Olympic Committee — the "United Nations of Sports" — packed their bags today and headed for home after weeklong discussions which would have done the real U.N. proud.

They talked a lot, and accomplished a lot. But most of the chatter would have left an ordinary sportsman reeling.

There were discussions on apartheid, governments, divided nations, undivided nations, flats, anthems, fanfares, cocktail parties, old "Nazi-style" salutes, "provisional" titles, the Moscow test ban treaty and awards for team dress at games.

In between, the site of the 1968 Olympics was decided — Mexico City. There'll be only 17 sports on that program — now that water polo is to be officially counted as part of the swimming program. Mexico City's arena will have eight running lanes. Cyclists will have a rest after journeys from their village to the track and horses will be provided for modern pentathlon teams at Mexico City.

For the sports fan, that, in a nutshell, was that.

For the rest of the time, the white-pillared kurhaus or "cure house" in this hill-surrounded watering resort, echoed noises which had a definite non-sporting sound.

There was such a row after the four cities bidding for the 1968 summer games had presented their cases it was decided the press will be barred from the presentations for the

Ortiz, Ramos in London for non-title bouts

NEW YORK (UPI) — This week's boxing will be topped by a big international show at London Tuesday night when world champion Carlos Ortiz and Sugar Ramos meet other opponents in non-title fights, supported by two other Trans-Atlantic bouts.

There will be no nationally televised fight this week because the sponsors have pre-empted Friday night fight-time for a documentary—as the sponsors can do four times a year.

However, on Friday night at Madison Square Garden an excellent non-televised 10-rounder between middleweight contenders Rubin (Hurricane) Carter of Paterson, N.J., and Joey Archer of New York is slated. Carter is ranked No. 1 by the World Boxing Association; Archer, No. 6.

Another interesting match is posted for Monday night at San Francisco, where former middleweight champion Bobo Olson, now campaigning as a light heavyweight, engages Jose Menno of Argentina.

Promoter Jack Solomon's big London show Tuesday will be staged at the 10,000-seat Empire Pool in suburban Wembley. He expects a sell-out.

At Wembley, lightweight champion Ortiz of New York meets Maurice Cullen of England in a non-title 10-rounder. Cullen, with a 24-3-2 record, is top contender for Dave Charnley's British lightweight title.

Feather champion Ramos of Cuba and Mexico squares off against Sammy McSpadden of Scotland in an over-the-weight 10-rounder. McSpadden has lost only once in his 17 starts.

The week's boxing schedule includes:
Monday: San Francisco — Bobo Olson vs. Jose Menno. Boston — Tommy Tibbs vs. Gene Toran and Dick DeVola vs. Tommy Haden. Philadelphia — Jesse Smith vs. Willie Giles. Las Vegas, Nev. — David Patterson vs. Benito Juarez.

Tuesday: London (Wembley) — Carlos Ortiz vs. Maurice Cullen (non-title). Sugar Ramos vs. Sammy McSpadden (non-title). Jeff Davis vs. Jim Cooper. Gomez Brennan vs. Mick Leahy. New York (Sunnyside) — Billy

Nicklaus hits jackpot at Las Vegas...

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus, crown prince of the professional golfers, leaves on a trip around the world today — and he won't have to worry about the expenses.

He hit the jackpot in Las Vegas Sunday — and that's a pretty tough feat to accomplish in any gambling town — when he captured the $70,000 Sahara Invitational golf tournament. The victory was worth $13,000 to Jack — plus a new car, which he plans to give to his father.

With the victory, Nicklaus hit the big double in Las Vegas, because last spring he won the rich Tournament of Champions at the Desert Inn Country Club course here.

He now has earned $98,000 this year. He won't appear again in this country until late November when he competes in the Cajun Classic in Lafayette, La., where he hopes to top the $100,000 mark.

"I'm going to play in the Canada Cup matches with Arnold Palmer as my partner in Paris," said Jack after his victory here. "Then I'm going to go on around the world, stopping to play in Australia before I return to the States."

Nicklaus grabbed the big money here Sunday by overcoming a two-stroke lead that lanky Al Geiberger held going into the last nine holes.

He wound up shooting a two-under-par 69 on the final round against 70s for Geiberger and Gay Brewer. Jack had a 72-hole score of 276 against 277 for the other two. They each collected $5,250, which is more than most tournaments pay for first place.

Bobby Nichols, Tommy Aaron and Don Whitl came next with 278s, each collecting $3,233.34; while Rex Baxter and Don January had 280s, good for $2,500.

Heath rides 7 winners

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI) — Eighteen-year-old jockey Martinez Heath of Warm Springs, Ore., rode seven winners in nine races at the Fresno County Fair Saturday.

Heath finished the fair with 21 victories in 51 races, and added five second places and seven thirds. He was the leading rider at Portland Meadows this year with 40 winners in 55 days.

33 nations vie for golf's International Trophy and Canada Cup

By Oscar Fraley UPI Staff Writer

PARIS (UPI) — Once more in France it's a case of "let 'em eat cake" as 33 nations prepare today to compete in the International Trophy and Canada Cup golf championships.

A queen named Marie Antoinette purportedly came up with that line when the poor were clamoring for bread. The upshot was a free ride to the guillotine in 1793.

Thursday at Versailles, where Marie Antoinette was married, captured and from where she was removed to Paris, the French are going to be asked to swallow cake again.

The reason is that golf is not exactly the national sport in France. There are, as a matter of fact, less than 15,000 golfers among 46-million Frenchmen, and about as many golf courses as there are in the state of Florida.

No Public Courses
France does not have a single public golf course and the greens fees at private clubs, ranging from $3 to $15, are somewhat more than prohibitive to the average Frenchman.

Anyhow, on the whole he prefers soccer, cycling and tennis. Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, representing the United States among the two-man teams from the 33 contesting nations, figure to feel once more like amateurs. Because in France very few people have ever heard of them. They'll create as much of a stir as would Jean Garaialde and Jean-

Claude Harismendy, the two French golf pros, if they gave an exhibition in the Bronx while the Yankees were playing in the World Series. Or any other time, as far as that goes.

The two things which may boost the gate as they swat the little white pill over a course which once was Louis XIV's favorite farm are royalty and girls. The French love both.

Pushovers For Royalty
Actually, all Europeans are pushovers for royalty. An occasion which comes to mind was a day at the Grand National in Aintree when a chubby Briton galloped up to the elevated press box and suggested between huffs and puffs:

"I say, old fellow, if you hurry you can see Lord Derby accept the winner's trophy."

He couldn't understand why the Yank yawned and went back to his scratch sheet trying to pick the winner of the next race.

So the announced appearance of the Duke of Windsor, ex-King Leopold, Italian Prince Ruspoli and Prince Michel de Bourbon-Parma figures to attract a goodly crowd despite the memory of Madame Lafarge. If they'd put them in a foursome, the rest of the field could stay home without being missed.

Then there are the girl caddies, to be dressed in blue uniforms, red berets and rosy cheeks. Everybody within walking or cycling distance will be there to see them — and if Brigitte Bardot happens to show up the whole bit automatically becomes a success if nobody gets off the first tee.

The few French golf officials extant have warned the world's golf stars that Garaialde and Harismendy had better be watched and may upset the brassie appereant. If this be so, they'd better resurrect the guillotine for a couple of guys from Pennsylvania and Ohio.

Buck attendance tops 1 million
PORTLAND (UPI) — The 6,884 attendance at the Portland-Los Angeles hockey game Sunday night pushed the Buckaroos past the one million mark since they've been back in the Western Hockey League for a little more than three seasons.
