HOLLYWOOD (UPI) - The nicest thing about Thursday night's breezy Bing Crosby special on CBS-TV is that it gave Ebsen mercifully in character Buddy Ebsen a chance to be only briefly, he, Crosby and remembered as something Caterina Valente made a pleasother than merely one of "The ant trio for songs, dances and

No one who has worked as of about 40 high school stulong and successfully in a business as has Ebsen deserves the Americans," provided some adfate of being stuck in the pub-lic mind solely in his most trivfal role. Thus it was a pleasure during Thursday night's hour to see him don black tie and tuxedo and do some of the grand hoofing he is capable of, from a tap number to comedy.

Maybe you forgot, or never beard, that he came to attention in the Florenz Ziegfield show "Whoopee" that starred Eddie Cantor, and that he and his sister Vilma danced together in musicals and clubs for several years, and that he did all right in Hollywood too-among other things, as Shirley Temple's dancing partner in "Captain January."

An Ebsen Fan

And if you have been an Eb-sen fan, as I am—and believe, as I do, that the main accomplishment of the "Hillbillies" is to give him a chance to cash then you may also rememrecently in the film "Breakfast at Tiffany's," touchingly portraying a middle-

Sniper slaying suspect facing murder charge CONCORD, Mass. (UPI)

A 38-year-old engineer was charged with murder today in the sniper slaying of a fellow scientist who was shot as he ate dinner with his wife and seven children.

Allan N. Blumenthal of Peabody, Mass., was charged with killing computer expert Ben-jamin M. Gurley, 38. He was questioned by police for nearly 12 hours.

At his arraignment in district court, Blumenthal pleaded inno-cent. Judge Otis M. Whitney ordered him held without bail at East Cambridge jail pending a hearing Nov. 22.

Police did not immediately say what motive there was for the slaying. They said Blumen-thal had made no admissions.

Gurley was shot to death Thursday night less than a month after he told police he feared he would be murdered. He was killed with a single shot from a 45-caliber pistol fired through the kitchen window of his home in this fashionable suburb 20 miles west of Boston.

Gurley toppled from his chair with a bullet in his head as his stunned wife and children

Gurley had complained that he feared for his life because the man being questioned had harassed and spied on him. Police made nightly checks on Gurley's home since he filed the complaints.

Gurley had worked with the suspect at Digital Equipment Co. until 10 months ago. At that time Gurley left the job to be-come vice president of Information International, Inc.

Chief James E. Finan Jr. said the apparent motive for I don't know why Crosby would want to interrupt his fishing trips or golfing to keep on making shows, but I'm glad the shooting was "a personality thing" but added "there was much more to it that that." He did not elaborate.
