Deschutes County Pomona Grange meets Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Terrebonne Grange Hall.

Christmas preparations without last-minute panic sounded easy, in a presentation, "The 12 Days of Christmas," Thursday at a meeting of the Eastern Star extension unit. Mrs. Joseph Hubler and Mrs. Allen Wallace were project leaders for the program, in which pressure-relieving tips were given. The same two women used an autumn theme for decorating the luncheon tables. Luncheon was served by Mrs. Nolan Whitehurst, Mrs. Ruth Slack and Mrs. Curtis Carlin. Fourteen members were present. Mrs. O. W. Wagner and Mrs. Raymond Stacy were guests.

Cadet Robert B. Sutherland, a class of 1966 member at the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado, has been named to the Commandant's Merit List for outstanding military achievement at the Air Force Academy. The cadet, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton R. Sutherland, 124 Hawthorne Avenue, and a Bend High School graduate, has also been selected for the rank of cadet staff sergeant. In recognition of making the Merit List, he will wear the silver wreath of distinction on his sleeve.

The Skyline Squares will hold a regular dance Saturday night at the Central Oregon Beauty College ballroom at 8:30 p.m. Members are to bring sandwiches. Russ Kiel will be the caller.

Museum plans to be discussed

Special to The Bulletin
MADRAS — A public meeting to discuss the proposed museum for Jefferson county has been called for the conference room of the county courthouse at 8 p.m. Thursday, November 14, it was announced this week by Mrs. Henry Dussault, chairman of the museum committee of the Jefferson County Pioneer Association.

Mrs. Dussault stressed that the meeting is open to all persons interested in the museum project. The need for a place to store and display antiques and other materials of interest is becoming acute, she emphasized. Offers of many historical valuable articles have been rejected in the past due to lack of space to store and display them, she said.

Plans underway for chili feed

Bend Music Boosters, headed by Mrs. Stanley Bowden as president, are busy with plans these days for their annual chili feed, to be held on Saturday, November 16, at the Bend Senior High cafeteria between 5:30 and 8 p.m.

Entertainment is being arranged, with high school musicians to assist.

Proceeds from the annual chili feed, open to all interested, are used in furthering school music activities.

DIANE MCKENNEY

Diane McKenney in running for AFS selection

Diane McKenney, formerly of Bend, is in the running for a summer visit abroad, under the American Field Service exchange plan. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. M. B. McKenney, now of Salem.

Miss McKenney, a junior at South Salem High School, was selected to represent her school in a nation-wide competition to choose a United States student. The winner will spend next summer with a family living in one of the 21 foreign countries participating in the AFS program.

Miss McKenney is active in the International Relations League at her school. She is a member of the Salem Junior Symphony Orchestra, which will offer three concerts this season, and sings soprano in the senior high choir of the First Presbyterian Church in Salem.

Vatican action notes no basis for Jewish bias

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—A document saying there is no Biblical basis for hatred or persecution of the Jews was handed out today by the Vatican's Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity at the Ecumenical Council.

The document says it is unjust to call the Jewish people "cursed by God" for the crucifixion of Christ, the responsibility for which falls upon all mankind.

The text of the document, which is proposed as the fourth chapter of an eventual document on ecumenism, was not made public, but the Secretariat for Promoting Christian Unity issued a communique describing its contents.

The communique said, "The part of the Jewish leaders of Christ's day played in bringing about the crucifixion does not exclude the guilt of all mankind."

"The personal guilt of these leaders cannot be charged to the whole Jewish people, either of his time or today."

The secretariat said the council document does not propose to deal with the various causes of anti-Semitism.

Bells to play OSU music

Oregon State University alumni and fans will be able to hear the OSU "fight songs" and the "Alma Mater," on the carillon bells at Equitable Savings and Loan in Bend.

The songs will be played from time to time, with the first playing set for 12 noon on Saturday, November 9. This report was made by Mrs. Ford Hunnell, at a meeting of the Oregon State Mothers Club Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Hunnell told of her success in obtaining the music on metal carillon rolls, and of Equitable's cooperation in playing them.

The meeting, first of the new academic year, was held at the home of Mrs. Don Peters, president. New members were welcomed into the group.

A report was given on the recipient of the scholarship given each year. Tentative plans were made for the Christmas dance for the college students.

The next meeting will be December 4, at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. George Cleveland, Butler Road. All women in the Central Oregon area who are interested in Oregon State University are invited to attend.

Pinocle parties being planned

The first of a series of six pinocle parties, sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, was held Thursday, November 7. Scoring high for the ladies was Jennie Sadoris. High for the men was I. Crisp.

Next play of the series, open to all Aerie and Auxiliary members and their guests, will be November 14 at 8 p.m.

Life claimed in house blaze

EMPIRE, Ore. (UPI)—A fire which was believed to have started in an oil stove gutted a two-story frame house south of here Thursday night and claimed the life of Gale Raymond Abbott, 51.

Abbott's body was found in a bed on the second floor. The bed had partially fallen through a hole burned in the floor.

Musa, Barton offer views on session starting Monday

(Editors note: United Press International asked the Senate President and House Speaker to comment on the special session which begins Monday. Their comments follow.)

By Senate President Ben Musa

I anticipate the session will be austere, short and harmonious. We have a very specific mandate from our bosses, the voters, to reduce the 1963-65 budget, as originally adopted, by $60 million.

It is my hope this can be accomplished without seriously impairing necessary state services.

The 90 dedicated men and women of the legislature are well aware of their grave responsibility and will make a good account of themselves, and all with reasonable dispatch.

By Speaker Clarence Barton

It would be my hope that the special session of the legislature will rapidly come to grips with the problems at hand, will confine its activities solely to these problems, will solve them and adjourn.

The immediate problem is to reduce state expenditures, to present state revenues. The governor is not only permitted, but is presently required by law, to cut spending in those areas where he can, to the end that outgo equals income. The attorney general has given an opinion that the governor cannot reduce basic school support without permission by the legislature. Because of the fact that basic school support comprises about 40 per cent of the state's budget, it is my personal opinion that it, too, should be subject to allotment control, otherwise the area where reductions can be made is so small that many unfortunate individuals will suffer if the total reduction in the budget must be made from sources not including basic school support.

My mail indicates that the people of Oregon support education but they resent what they call "frills" in education. People in the field of public education should eliminate these frills. If this is done, basic school support can be reduced and education will not suffer in fundamental essentials.

Many people indicate that they feel a sales tax would solve Oregon's problems. It may well be that it will help to solve them, though this has not been the experience in sales tax states. All states have their financial problems just as Oregon does, and the method of taxation that is used is not a panacea for these problems. It would seem to me that if the special session of the legislature were to attempt to write a sales tax bill, we would also, at the same time, have to rewrite the present income tax law completely and submit the two proposals to the people for their vote.

I have never been an enthusiast for a sales tax, and if it is to be just another tax, my opposition to it will be intensified. I question whether or not there is time in the special session to rewrite our entire tax code so as to present a balanced new tax program to the people. It would seem to me that the course of wisdom would be to leave this for the tax interim study committee, which will have the time and opportunity to do a workmanlike job on tax reform rather than to attempt to accomplish this in the hurry of the special session. This is particularly true because enactment of any new tax will, in my judgment, require the ultimate approval of the people of Oregon and will not solve our immediate problem of balancing the governor's $404 million budget with approximately $342 million of revenues.

This is the principal task of the special session. This we should do and then adjourn.

Fourth graders to visit library on November 15

Fourth graders of the Bend School District will visit the Deschutes County Public Library next Friday, November 15, as part of the observance of National Book Week.

Throughout the week, new books for all ages and tastes will be on display at the library. They will go into circulation November 15.

The fourth graders, visiting in several periods of Friday, will take part in a jingle contest, for which prizes will be given. The best jingle submitted by each fourth grade class will be read at the library to the author's classmates.

The verses are to have books as their theme, but may also incorporate any other subject that suits the fancy.

Members of the library staff will present a special program, explaining library services and facilities, for each tour group.

The library will be closed next Monday, in observance of Veterans Day.
