

CHILI FEED DUE—Mrs. Orval W. Barfknecht, school food service director, and Norm Whitney, head of Bend High School music department, check preparations for the annual chili feed to be held Saturday night, Nov. 16.

Chili feed set Saturday by Boosters

Bend Music Boosters, headed by Mrs. Stanley Bowden, have completed arrangements for their 1963 chili feed, to be held Saturday night, November 16, in the high school cafeteria from 5:30 to 8 p.m.

The chili dinner is being prepared by Mrs. Orval W. Barfknecht, school food service director, and her assistants. The menu will include specially prepared chili, moulded salads, crackers, apple cobbler and coffee or milk.

The chili feed is one of the two events sponsored annually by the Bend Music Boosters, to obtain funds used in financing various school music projects, from the fifth grade up through high school. The Boosters assist in purchasing uniforms, and in paying transportation of youngsters to various music festivals or programs.

Out of the funds also come scholarships—two weeks of instruction each summer at either the University of Oregon or Lewis and Clark College.

The other event sponsored by the Bend Music Boosters is the annual distributions of "BLB" decals. These were placed in the mail earlier in the season, and returns are still coming in.

A large crowd is expected for the Saturday night chili feed.

Lawmakers swing into position to push through stop-gap plan

SALEM (UPI)—The four-day-old legislature, its pace suddenly hastened, was swinging into position to whip through a stop-gap fiscal program and adjourn within days.

But the momentum could break down again.

Key measures advanced with shotgun rapidity Wednesday. And, party caucuses in the House and Senate laid the groundwork for swift passage of the governor's two-part program: A $12 million spend-up in withholding tax payments, and the power to clip the money the state has budgeted to help local schools.

The House, suspending rules to speed the job, passed the one-shot withholding tax measure and sent it to the Senate.

The Joint Ways and Means Committee approved and sent to the House floor for action the bill empowering the governor to cut basic school support.

Bill Favored
House Democrats and Republicans caucused for a briefing on the basic school legislation. Signs were it had more than enough votes to pass.

Senate Democrats caucused and although opposing any "new or additional taxes," exempted the one-shot bill and indicated it could pass. Senate Republicans indicated they supported the governor's two bills and opposed any new taxes.

That left what looked like a clear road ahead for Gov. Mark Hatfield's two bills—all he said he needed to cope with the state's $60 million fiscal crisis that was caused when the voters defeated the tax package passed last spring. Hatfield already has cut budgets in areas where he has the power.

Mechanically, the special session could end in a day, if the two houses suspended rules and let the governor's two bills complete their courses.

Senate President Ben Musa, however, said Tuesday was a good guess. He said he opposed rushing legislation through the Senate.

Condemned man had long Oregon record

SAN JOSE, Calif. (UPI)—Earl Clarence Sears, 55 who faces execution for murdering his 8-year-old step-daughter, has an extensive Oregon criminal record that includes the wounding of a state policeman.

Santa Clara County authorities said his record began in 1926 when, at the age of 18, he was sentenced to five years imprisonment for attempting to rob a Jackson County, Ore., service station. He served 40 months.

He was freed in 1937, but a few months later he was named as a suspect in the burglary of a Clackamas firm, the C. H. Baxter Co. He was arrested in a Portland hotel room by State Police Sgt. Ira Arthur Warren who searched him but missed finding a .25 caliber automatic.

Sears shot the officer in the cheek but the wound was believed minor.

After his arrest Sears admitted several burglaries and armed robberies and sentenced to life in prison. Four months later, Sgt. Warren died but death was attributed to natural causes.

Released 17 years later in 1955, Sears worked as a laborer in Santa Clara and Santa Cruz counties.

He stayed clear of the law until his arrest last May for killing his step-daughter. A psychiatrist who later interviewed Sears quoted him as saying he believed the jury should convict him of first degree murder and that he deserved the death penalty.

Showing set for 'The 91st Day'

Officers of the Central Oregon Mental Health Association are urging members and other local residents to see "The 91st Day," a drama produced for the National Association for Mental Health.

The film will be shown Friday, November 15, at 7 p.m. on KOAP, Channel 10, Portland, and KOAC, Channel 7, Corvallis.

Fireside gatherings, for viewing the film and discussion afterward, have been arranged by the COMHA. These will be at the following homes:

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bock, 938 E. Quimby Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Randall Moore, 1646 E. Eighth Street; Mr. and Mrs. Marion Poor, 415 Newport Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. R. Vance Peavy, 560 Hill Street, and Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Hyatt, 424 Columbia Street.

Everyone interested is invited to attend the most convenient showing, according to Dr. Hyatt, president of the local association.

The drama is directed by the associate director of "David and Lisa," an Academy Award nominee. It is produced under the auspices of Smith, Line and French.

Rain falling over most of mid-state

Light rain was falling over most of Central Oregon this morning as a new storm moved in from the Pacific to drop snow at high levels. Forecasts indicate that the storm will continue through Friday, with the temperature to cool a bit and turn moisture to snow below the 3500 foot level. Bend's elevation is about 3600 feet.

Snow that was falling over the Santiam divide early this morning had stopped by 11 a.m. and the snow pack on the highway had turned to slush.

Motorists were crossing the divide without trouble.

Heavy snow was also falling on the McKenzie divide early in the day, with roadside depth measured at nine inches. Because the Clear Lake cutoff is available for year-around use, there is little traffic over the mile-high lava fields and it is expected that road will be closed for the winter when drifting occurs.

Rain was falling on both the Mt. Hood and Willamette routes this morning.

First of three bridges finished

The first of three bridges over streams on the Deschutes National Forest has been completed, and work is well under way on the other two.

Just finished is the Three Trappers Bridge over the upper Deschutes 0.8 of a mile east of the Cascade Lakes Highway, near Cultus River. This two-lane span was constructed by Clayton & Associates of Madras.

Approach roads will be constructed by Leico, Inc., in connection with a timber sale.

Nearing completion is a new two-span, 70 foot long bridge over the Metolius River at Camp Sherman, with work to be finished by the end of next week, if all goes well. This bridge has a pre-cast deck. It replaces a span in use for many years. Fred Jensen, North Bend, is the contractor in charge.

A new bridge over the Deschutes at Pringle Falls, replacing an old span, will be completed in about another month. This will be a two-lane, 64-foot long bridge, with steel girders and concrete deck.

Bend firemen are summoned

Bend firemen were summoned Wednesday afternoon and again early this morning for small fires at residences.

They first went to the 322 Columbia residence of Phyllis Maki, where a grease pan on a stove flared up. Chemicals and a smoke ejector were used. At 1:43 a.m. firemen were called to the Alf Herring residence at 540 Congress, where police reported a trash fire out of control. No damage occurred.
