Prineville phone franchise set

Special to The Bulletin
PRINEVILLE—City officials agreed to a new franchise with the Pacific Northwest Bell Telephone Co., at their November meeting Tuesday evening in city hall, after some weeks of debate and negotiations with the phone company.

Originally, as the franchise approached expiration in October, the council asked for an annual sum of $2500 or 2 per cent of the gross telephone business within the city limits, whichever would be the larger. To this figure the telephone company disagreed, stating that this would bring the annual income to the city to about 2½ per cent of the gross, in excess of general practice in other communities.

The phone company in turn offered a franchise at a flat 2 per cent, indicating according to records that this was the accepted rate in all Oregon communities.

Under the newly approved contract, Prineville will receive $2,000 annually or 2 per cent of the gross, whichever is the larger. The franchise will extend for 10 years, with possible termination by either party after five years, upon 60 days' notice.

Clark, supervisor, Consolidated Pine and the Ochoco Lumber Co. were the two other bidders, Clark said.

The timber included equal parts of ponderosa pine and Douglas fir. In bidding, the price was raised from an appraised value of $15,300 to $24,100. Timber in the sale is located 20 miles east of Prineville, just north of the Mitchell highway.

The sale will salvage losses from insects and windstorm, with administration of the sale to be conducted by the Big Summit district personnel, Clark said.

Wages Are Low

By Western standards wages are low in Poland, and many workers are frozen in their jobs. A worker can be fired for being 10 minutes late to work, or if he works too slowly. The average non-industrial man earns 1,632 zlotys a month ($67). A worker in heavy industry earns more than twice that and a coal miner more than three times or close to $200.

Crippled tanker sinks off Cape Cod, declared hazard

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass. (UPI)—The crippled tanker Dynafuel, rammed Thursday by a Norwegian freighter, sank stern first off Cape Cod today with a chunk of the bow protruding above water. The sunken vessel was declared a hazard to shipping.

The 315-foot Dynafuel sank and capsized in 30 to 40 feet of water after the two locked ships parted. The collision had imbedded the freighter into the coastal tanker.

The Coast Guard said the Dynafuel was a danger to shipping and turned the wreck over to the supervision of the U.S. Army Engineer Corps which operates Cape Cod Canal. The crash occurred a few miles outside the canal.

The underside of the Dynafuel's bow remained exposed after it rolled over and sank. The stern rested on the ocean bottom.

The Fernview under its own power pulled away from the Dynafuel to break the death grip while three Coast Guard cutters and a tug boat stood by.

The two vessels collided in haze at daybreak Thursday in Buzzards Bay, 10 miles from the west end of the canal and about 10 miles south of New Bedford. All 62 crewmen were rescued, but five received minor injuries. Both ships were set afire.

The bow of the 510-foot freighter Fernview, out of Oslo, Norway, sliced into the Sun Oil Co. tanker Dynafuel just behind the pilot house and nearly cut off 40 feet of the tanker's stern.

Still Drifting
 The stricken vessels dropped anchor Thursday night in an attempt to keep them from being tossed around. But the choppy North Atlantic still caused them to drift.

Three Coast Guard cutters put lines aboard the ships and held them steady.

A skeleton crew of Coast Guard firefighters remained aboard the Dynafuel throughout the night spraying water on red-hot metal plates to prevent a reflash of the fire. They also manned salvage pumps to keep the ship afloat.

The remaining 57 crewmembers of both ships, excluding the five injured who were taken off, bunked down on the Fernview. Coast Guardsmen also were aboard the Fernview to make sure another blaze did not break out in the dangerous paint locker section where intensive heat could cause the fire to flare up, officials said.

Health program is explained

Special to The Bulletin
PRINEVILLE—A parents' meeting, primarily to explain the health program at the Prineville junior high school, was an outstanding success this week, according to W. B. Thompson, principal.

A large gathering of parents met in the school library and heard Al Haberly, county school superintendent, outline the general program of instruction in health for the young teenager students. Thompson discussed the program in further detail, explaining courses in general health, first aid, and human growth.

Mrs. Mel McCoy, head of the girls' physical education program of the school also spoke.

An open house for parents, with classroom visitations throughout the school, was held after the meeting. For a number of parents, it was a first look at the new facilities added to the junior high school this year to accommodate the ninth grade.

AWARDS CONTRACTS

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Post Office Department awarded three contracts totaling more than $12 million Thursday for research on development of an electronic brain to read zip-coded mail addresses.

Postmaster General John A. Gronouski said the contracts went to Burroughs Corp., Detroit; National Cash Register Co., Dayton, Ohio, and Rabinow Corp., Rockville, Md.

The companies will work independently to develop optical scanning devices to read and sort 17,000 zip-coded addresses an hour. Gronouski said the devices would be in use within three years.

Current joke mirrors Poland's years of tragedy

By Richard Growald
 UPI Staff Writer

A current joke in Communist-ruled Poland tells of the customer who entered a cafe and asked for a cup of tea.

"Chinese or Russian?" the waiter asks.

Customer: "I don't want to get involved in politics. Give me a cup of cocoa."

The joke concerns the current ideological split between Moscow and Peking. But more than that, it also mirrors Poland's thousand years of mostly tragic history.

In the year 966 Prince Mieszko introduced Christianity to Poland and formed the first territorial Poland. For the next 700 years, Poland rode a bumpy path to European greatness, repelling hordes of invading Mongols and Tartars and earning the name, "The Wall against the Pagans."

The Roman Catholic religion early won a firm allegiance among the Polish people that still holds, with 96 of every 100 Poles members of the Roman Church despite the Communist government.

Mrs. McMullen is recuperating

Special to The Bulletin
CAMP SHERMAN—Mrs. Hayes McMullen, owner of Lake Creek Lodge, has left the Stayton hospital, where she was confined for more than five weeks following an automobile accident, and is recuperating at Emanuel Hospital in Portland.

Mrs. McMullen will not have to undergo surgery as expected, she told friends here by telephone yesterday, and she plans to go to the Benson Hotel within a few days.

the nation began slowly moving toward industrialization. But it was a time of economic depression and then autocratic repression. And to the West rose Nazi Germany. To the east lay Josef Stalin's Russia.

The two giants fell on Poland in September, 1939.

AEC announces 'low yield' test

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Atomic Energy Commission announced another underground nuclear test today at its Nevada test site, the second in two days.

The "low yield" test was the 100th weapons-related test at the remote and secret Nevada site since Sept. 15, 1961. All but four of these have been underground tests.

The 1961 date is when the United States resumed nuclear testing following a round of testing by the Soviets that broke a three-year abstinence by both countries.

The United States, Britain and Russia last summer negotiated a treaty that bans all but underground testing.

NO MIDDLE MAN

CHICAGO (UPI)—A communications scientist said today the American pay check may become extinct.

Joseph W. Halina of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corp., Paramus, N.J., told the National Automation Conference that automation techniques eventually will include the wage earners' weekly check.

"The average wage earner may never need to handle his check," he said, "or, if he does, it will be a confirming copy, possibly to show to his wife."
