

Court presses government for views on Negro bias by public accommodations

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court, by a 5 to 4 vote, pressed the federal government today to submit further views on whether restaurants and other places of public accommodations may bar Negro customers on the basis of race.

In submitting its views to the court last month in a series of "sit-in" cases from Maryland, Florida and South Carolina, the Justice Department had carefully skirted the broad constitutional questions involved in such discrimination.

The court in today's order "invited" the solicitor general to file a further brief on the controversial issue.

This could be a hint—but not a certainty—that the court may wish to issue a broad constitutional opinion on the public accommodations question which is a major feature of President Kennedy's civil rights bill now before Congress.

In arguing the sit-in convictions before the court in October, the solicitor general contended that the broad constitutional issue need not be decided. He suggested that the case could be disposed of on narrow questions of law.

Today's order, however, asked him to submit a further brief on the issue within 30 days.

In other actions today, the court:

- Refused a hearing to two Maryland veterans administration doctors who wanted the court to decide whether thousands of persons who live on federal property throughout the United States have the right to vote. Today's rejection of their appeal left standing Maryland court rulings that state legislature rather than the courts should decide the question of voting eligibility.
- Granted a hearing to two Junction City, Kan., newsmen—Harold and Robert Thompson—who challenged the constitutionality of their state's obscenity law. The Thompsons appealed a Kansas Supreme Court decision upholding the law giving judges the right to order books deemed to be obscene burned or otherwise destroyed.

At least 7 meet death in accidents

By United Press International

At least seven Oregonians met violent death during the weekend, four of them in traffic accidents.

Dr. Malcolm M. Severy, 43, Portland, was killed Sunday in a two-car collision.

Fritz Trachsel, 73, Boring, was struck and killed Saturday night at Sandy by a car which police said did not stop.

Robert K. Walters, 29, entertainment editor of The Oregonian, was killed Saturday morning when his car struck a power pole and then slammed into a boxcar.

In Idaho, Mrs. Beth Bates, 31, Nyssa, died as a result of a three-car collision six miles east of Caldwell.

Richard Clark, 61, Portland, was accidentally shot and killed while hunting elk in the Desolation Creek area of Grant County. His was the ninth accidental shooting death of the hunting season.

Mrs. Irene Wells, 29, an employee of Lipman Wolfe & Co. in Corvallis, died from smoke inhalation as she was trapped in an elevator in the store. She and two men had gone to investigate a smoldering fire when the elevator failed to operate.

John Roadhouse, 70, Portland, died as he fled a burning apartment. Firemen said he tumbled down a flight of stairs and apparently suffered a heart attack.

Verse contest winners named

A Children's Book Week verse submitted by Mrs. Marguerite Boyd's fourth grade class at Yew Lane School received first-place honor last week in a contest involving fourth grade classes from 11 elementary schools.

Sponsoring the contest was the Deschutes County Library staff. Ten public schools and the St. Francis Catholic School completed.

Receiving honorable mention was a verse submitted by Mrs. Veta Smyth's room at Allen School. The school's entries were in connection with Children's Book Week, November 10-16.

Contest judges were Jack Ward, Junior High School instructor; Mrs. Richard Knutzen, and Faye Crawford, librarian.

All-time death record is tied

SALEM (UPI)—Oregon's traffic death toll today tied the all-time state high of 492 recorded in 1959, and traffic safety officials fear the toll this year could top 550.

If the toll follows its normal pattern for the balance of this year, 13 more people will die this month, and another 44 will be killed in December.

But so far this year the toll has been above average every month.

The Traffic Safety Division of the Department of Motor Vehicles keeps the traffic death record. Only persons killed as the result of accidents on public roads or highways are included.

Persons killed in farm vehicle accidents, or crashes on private logging roads, for example, are not counted by the division.

New honors won by basset

Champion Musicland's Troubador defeated an entry of 26 other basset hounds to win the best of breed ribbon and trophy at the annual Whidbey Island Kennel Club show that was held in Marysville, Wash., Sunday.

Troubador is the mascot of the Redmond Kiwanis Club and is owned by Al and Helen Weeks of Bend. This was his first participation in a show as a champion since he won his title a month ago. Fred M. Hunt of Richmond, Ind., judged the basset entry.

Freeway plans to be aired

SALEM (UPI)—The State Highway Commission has scheduled a public hearing in Grants Pass Dec. 3 to explain plans for 8.5 miles of Interstate 5 freeway from Coyote Creek to Jumpoff Jo Creek in Josephine County.

The highway department said discussion of a section from the Douglas County line to Coyote Creek has been postponed until a later hearing.

Bend plays host to FBLA session here on Saturday

Seventy high school business students and teachers representing 11 Eastern Oregon high schools attended the first District No. 5 Conference of the Future Business Leaders of America at Bend Senior High School on Saturday, November 16. Ruby Wolfe, state director, was the general chairman assisted by the Bend FBLA chapter.

The theme of the conference focused on the state and national theme, "Operation Econ — Career Competency." Dr. Orde Pinckney, of Central Oregon College, was the keynote speaker. He stressed the need for a thorough understanding of basic economic concepts, such as installment buying.

Career emphasis featured talks by Don E. Devlin, court reporter; Mrs. Wayne E. Harper, medical secretary; and Glen Payne, certified public accountant. Each explained educational qualifications for their particular career, the nature of their jobs, advantages and disadvantages of their work, and minimum and maximum salaries that could be expected.

H. E. Lefel, public relations director of Kinman Business University in Spokane, showed colored slides of business offices of many of the large industrial corporations. Close-up views of various personnel workers and automation equipment were shown.

Special guests were Terry Schandel, Oregon FBLA president from Oregon City; Bonnie Wilson, western region national vice-president from Beaverton; and Everett W. Arnold, state FBLA advisor also from Beaverton.

Panel discussions were given by representatives from Heppner, Madras, The Dalles, Hermiston and La Grande chapters.

Delegates toured Imperial Mobil Homes and North Pacific Products Co. and were guests of the local FBLA club at the Music Boosters' Chili Supper, after which they attended a dress rehearsal of the high school play, "The Night of January 16," which will be given November 22 and 23. There were two slumber parties for those who remained over night.

Geri Stigall is the local FBLA president and Mrs. Doris M. Thomas is the advisor.

Proposed park to be studied

PORTLAND (UPI) — A joint City-Multnomah County study committee has initiated an investigation into the feasibility of developing a 600 acre tract of woodland in the Tyron Creek area as a park.

About 414 acres of the proposed park are in Multnomah County with the rest in Clackamas County.

A Tyron Creek Park committee has been set up by the Multnomah County-City of Portland Study Committee on Parks and Recreation to investigate feasibility, land ownership, value, access and other problems of developing the area.

David Eccles, Multnomah County commissioner, said riding trails, picnic areas, hiking and swimming facilities are being considered for the potential park.

Thieves steal beer, cigarettes

Prowlers with a preference for cold beer broke into the Century Drive Grocery sometime last night and made off with three cases of "stubby" beer and ten cartons of cigarettes.

They smashed a plate glass window at the rear of the store and crawled through it. Only refrigerator beer was stolen and the cash register was not disturbed.

The theft was reported to police this morning by proprietor Jack Dahlin.

Three ex-Oregon convicts face charges in death of patrolman

NEVADA CITY, Calif. (UPI) — Three ex-convicts were in the Nevada County jail today charged with killing a highway patrolman and robbing a Sacramento bank of $44,646.

They were captured early Saturday, hours after Patrolman Glenn W. Carlson, 33, the father of three children, was shot to death on U.S. 40 at Donner Lake.

Roger M. Mealman, 29, who confessed to the shooting; Robert L. Burns, 31, who said he helped Mealman rob a suburban branch of the Bank of America, and Clifford R. Toyen Jr., 29, who drove the getaway car, will be tried here for murder, Dist. Atty. Harold Berliner said.

Carlson had stopped the car for speeding on U.S. 40 at the foot of Donner Summit about 9 p.m. Friday night, as the men fled from the bank robbery in Sacramento about three hours before. He later checked the vehicle's registration, learned that the car had been stolen, pursued them once more and was shot.

Mealman and Burns were arrested at Sacramento Airport when they stepped off a plane chartered in Reno. Police, again acting on tips, picked up Toyen in a motel at Truckee three miles from the shooting scene.

All three last resided at Dallas, Ore., police said, although Mealman was a native of Marysville. They were working as construction workers following their recent releases from the Oregon State Prison at Salem. Police said that the three were also being questioned about robberies in Bakerfield and Phoenix.
