

IT'S HIS DAY—Bill Fickas, to be honored tomorrow at visit of Red Cross Bloodmobile, will be on hand to help set up and dismantle equipment, as usual. Picture he is holding was taken at Bloodmobile visit three months ago.

'Bill Fickas Day' to honor long-time blood worker

By Ila Grant Hopper
Bulletin Staff Writer

Tomorrow will be "Bill Fickas Day," when the Red Cross Bloodmobile makes its quarterly visit to Bend. The volunteer staff came up with the idea in order to honor Bill for long years of dedication to the blood program.

Bill used to be a regular donor, and the day before his 60th birthday and automatic removal from the list, he gave his last pint. "It was May 27 — forget just what year—" Bill said with his familiar chuckle.

But he's still a regular, and volunteers can't recall he's ever missed a Bloodmobile visit. He's always on deck before the truck arrives, and is usually the last to leave the building when it's all over. He is the recognized dean of the working crew — setting up and dismantling equipment, helping with refreshments, providing transportation for donors — anything that needs to be done.

Before the Bloodmobile started coming to Bend, when Bill was an SP&S trainman, he used to lay off periodically and miss two shifts, so he and his wife could ride the passenger coach to Portland and give blood.

He is sold on the blood program, although he has never received transfusions. When he lost three fingers from his right hand, in a train wreck in the Bend yard in 1947, he was rushed to Portland for emergency treatment, but administration of blood was not part of the therapy. The accident forced railroad retirement.

Bill served with the 14th Company of the 20th Engineers in France, in World War I. Later he lost two fingers from his left hand, one at a time, in accidents. But he had himself sew-

Reunion plans taking shape

Plans for a reunion of members of the Bend Senior High School class of 1954 are already taking shape.

Members of the class interested in attending such a reunion have been invited to attend a meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Vincent Wanichick, 441 Florida. This is to be an organization meeting.

The reunion would be held in the summer of 1964.

PUPPIES?

If your mother dog hasn't enough milk for her litter (or if you have orphan puppies) you'll need ESBILAC — a mild nutritional milk replacer. A product of Borden research, this powdered food supplement matches the requirements for all fur-bearing animals. 12-oz. size, $1.95.

Equally important for "expectant" female dogs is the high potency vitamin mineral supplement called THERALYN. This should be included in your dog's diet throughout pregnancy, to maintain her strength and vitality. Only $1.65.

Rep. Hand has dramatic plan out of dilemma

SALEM (UPI) — Rep. Beulah Hand, D-Milwaukie, suggested Monday the legislature should just appropriate the whole general fund to the governor.

It was a dramatically simple solution to constitutional curbs on allowing Gov. Mark Hatfield to make selective cuts in state agency budgets.

Mrs. Hand proposed shifting the unexpended funds in all general fund budgets into a special fund, which would be allocated to Hatfield.

The governor then could release money to state agencies along the lines of the austerity program he outlined to the special session.

In effect, this would give Hatfield absolute control over the rest of the 1963-65 biennium budget—subject only to suggested priorities outlined by the legislature.

The plan is in answer to roadblocks resulting from an opinion by Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton that the governor could not make selective cuts under the state's allotment control law.

Thornton said Hatfield would have to make uniform cuts. The ruling bogged down the special session.

Legislative leaders had hoped to be able to adjourn today.

The allotment control restriction, and another crisis in the state's plan to establish a space age industrial park at Boardman, dashed today's adjournment goal.

Nobody today was predicting when the special session might end.

Rep. John Mosser, R-Beaverton, also had answers to the allotment problem, but none of his three suggestions were as simple as Mrs. Hand's. Mosser said the legislature could: (1) Set rigid guidelines on reductions to be made by Hatfield; (2) Make dollar amount cuts in major budgets and allow the governor to make uniform cuts in other allotments; (3) Or allow the emergency board to work with the governor on budget reductions.

Rep. Hand insisted her plan was both the simplest and easiest.

But surprisingly, it appeared Republicans might spearhead opposition to allowing the Republican governor such complete budget control.

Democratic legislators weren't commenting on whether they would support the proposal.

The Senate refused again Monday to vote on the House-approved bill to allow Hatfield to make cuts in basic school aid. Senators wanted to know what effect Thornton's ruling might have on the measure.

Expenses—Legislators Monday were mailed checks covering their $20 a day expense allotment for the first week of the special session. Meanwhile, bills to cut legislators' pay remained bottled up in committee.

Boardman—The possibility of having the veterans fund take over the Boardman Space Age Industrial Park was being investigated.

Insulators not good targets, danger is noted

Extensive rifle-shot damage to ceramic insulators on high-voltage transmission lines, since hunting season opened, have prompted Pacific Power and Light Company to issue a warning to nimrods.

R. G. McFarland, district manager, said: "There is real danger to hunters who might be under the high-voltage circuits which drop to the ground because of gunshot damage. Other persons might be injured if the lines break and drop to the ground sometime later."

The manager said there has been a larger number of insulators broken this year than in past seasons.

"One result of such damage is the inconveniences caused to many people when outages occur as the result of short circuiting," McFarland added.

He explained that short-circuiting can occur when rain hits damaged equipment. During nighttime hours PP&L crews cannot patrol the isolated transmission lines by helicopter, and are hence unable to spot troubles. As a result, the restoration of service is delayed, he said.

Distribution of food set

PRINEVILLE—Food baskets will be prepared and distributed again this year at the Thanksgiving season to less fortunate families of the Prineville area by members of the Crook County High School Key Club, according to Greg Merritt, president.

Members of the club will place barrels in all the city's grocery stores, seeking contributions of canned foods from shoppers which will be placed in the baskets, and the club is planning, again this year, to solicit canned goods in a house-to-house canvass.

The house calls will be made by Key Clubbers on the evening of November 21, Merritt said. The club is sponsored by the Prineville Kiwanis.

How to cut oil bills
1. Close off unused rooms. Shut off radiators and registers, and keep doors closed.
2. Use a heating oil that helps guard against deposit build-up in burner passages. In a well-adjusted clean burner, Shell Heating Oil can reduce fuel consumption significantly.

Workers go back to jobs

PORTLAND (UPI) — Union employees of Western Wirebound Box Co., who had operated a picket line since June of 1962, returned to work Monday.

The employees, members of Local 3-3 of the International Woodworkers of America, voted Sunday night to return to work. A company spokesman said some 75 former employees were reassigned to their former jobs.

Also on the job Monday were a number of non-union employees who have kept the plant in operation since late September of last year. No incidents were reported.

The firm said the invitation to return to work was made in compliance with a recommended order by a National Labor Relations Board trial examiner. The examiner found the firm guilty of unfair labor practices prior to the strike; a decision still subject to confirmation or reversal by the NLRB. Another NLRB examiner has found the union guilty of unfair labor practices in picket line activities at the plant after the strike.
