

Strangulation death probed in Los Angeles

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Detectives questioned friends and neighbors of actress Karyn Kupciet today in an effort to track down the killer who strangled her with such force that a bone in her neck was broken.

The county coroner said an autopsy indicated Miss Kupciet died "by manual strangulation." Her nude body was found in her apartment Saturday night by friends.

Those questioned Sunday included the persons known to have last talked with the 22-year-old actress Wednesday night, including her former boyfriend, actor Andrew Prine of the "Wide Country" television series.

George Walsh said two others, free lance writer Edward Steven Rubin, 22, and actor Robert Hathaway, 24, were the last ones to see Miss Kupciet. Both told deputies they left her apartment before midnight when she appeared to be getting sleepy as they watched television.

"Whoever did it got a three-day start on us," said Walsh. He said that a house-to-house check would be made of the neighborhood.

The three men and a fourth, actor William Marmches, 23, another friend of the dead girl, were given lie detector tests, according to sheriff's Sgt. Carl Vaughn. He said such tests were "almost routine" under such circumstances. He said Marmches, Rubin and Hathaway had met Miss Kupciet through Prine.

All four were allowed to go home after being questioned, Vaughn said.

Prine and the young actress had recently decided "not to see one another so often," he said. He is divorced from actress Sharon Farrell.

Miss Kupciet, the daughter of Chicago newspaper columnist Irv Kupciet, of the Sun-Times, was found by actor Mark Goddard, 27, who plays the role of a detective on Robert Taylor's television series, "The Detective."

"Karyn had dinner with us last Wednesday night," he said, "but when my wife phoned the next day she got no answer. When we still didn't get an answer today (Saturday), we began to get worried."

Goddard said he and his wife, Marcia, went to Miss Kupciet's $135 second-floor apartment and found the door unlocked when they got no answer to their knocking.

The young actress' body was on the living room couch facing the television set which was on, but turned down. Goddard said he first thought she was asleep.

AMA reports on football impact study

PORTLAND (UPI) — An associate professor of surgery at the Northwestern University Medical School said Sunday that a three-year study of head impact in Big Ten football games showed the most frequent and heaviest blows fell on the sides of the helmet.

Dr. Stephen E. Reid spoke at the opening of the American Medical Association's annual clinical meeting here.

He described to AMA delegates how a miniature radio station built into a football helmet has provided scientific guidelines for minimizing the possibility of head injuries.

Blows of more than 5,000 times the force of gravity were sustained on three occasions by the helmet worn by a fullback in a Northwest-Ohio State game, Reid said. He said it was more than 500 times the force of gravity experienced by an astronaut on lift-off and re-entry of a space capsule.

However, he said that blows of that force were recorded only four times in eight games researched this season.

The study, aimed at finding out how efficiently helmets protect players' heads and how the equipment can be improved, was started at the suggestion of the AMA.

HIGH COST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It cost the nation's radio and television networks an estimated 32 million to broadcast the events surrounding the assassination of President Kennedy.

Broadcasting Magazine said that during the four days of broadcasting more than 2,100 network employes in this country and abroad were involved at one time or another in working on the story.

Indianapolis bishop reported in line for top council post

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Bishop Reuben H. Mueller of Indianapolis, Ind., is slated to become the new president of the National Council of Churches, authoritative sources disclosed today.

The Rev. Dr. Mueller, 66, is president bishop of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, a Protestant denomination whose 800,000 members are concentrated mainly in Pennsylvania and Mid-Western states.

Informants said leaders of the council's 31 constituent denominations agreed informally on the choice of Bishop Mueller to serve as the chief spokesman and man-out-front for cooperative Protestantism during the next three years.

Next three weeks could be crucial

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The next three weeks may be crucial in the making of a record for the first session of the 86th Congress.

Action on the two most important bills of the session — a tax cut and civil rights legislation — rests with the Senate Finance and the House Rules Committees. They must act before an expected Christmas recess Dec. 22 if Congress is to vote on the programs early in 1964.

President Kennedy had called for their passage this year, but even before his assassination it was obvious neither would be approved before 1964. It is unlikely that President Johnson will be able to alter the situation.

The Senate Finance Committee was to begin its last week of hearings on the House-passed bill to reduce federal taxes by $11 billion and reform the internal revenue code. Closed-door consideration of the bill by the committee will follow with pressure expected to be exerted on members to finish their work and have the measure ready for a Senate vote in January.

The civil rights bill to end racial discrimination in voting, education, employment and public accommodations is awaiting approval by the House Rules Committee. Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., is expected to indicate this week whether he will act to clear the measure for House action.

If Smith will not move, pro-civil-rights forces will proceed with a movement to force him to act or see the bill taken from the committee. Under either course, the bill is not likely to be ready for the House before January.

However, he said that blows of that force were recorded only four times in eight games researched this season.

COURT TO MEET

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court meets today to hand down opinions and do the other work it postponed last Monday because of the assassination of President Kennedy.

Then, the justices will take one more week for opinion-writing before starting the single week of arguments scheduled for December.

He will be formally elected Wednesday night at a public session of the National Council's triennial general assembly.

The assembly opened Sunday night with a fervent appeal from outgoing President J. Irwin Miller for churches to get their hands dirty in the fight for social justice.

Afraid To Speak

Miller, a millionaire industrialist from Columbus, Ind., said American churches too often have been afraid to speak out as boldly as they should on public issues lest they "jostle sensitive feelings."

"Through our carefulness, caution and 'patience,'" he said, "the disadvantaged, the hopeless, the discriminated-against, the helpless of this present day will live out their only lives on this earth unrelieved."

"And how shall we say our patience, our caution, our politicking served them? The young boy who needs access to an education needs it now—this school term. The Negro family who requires a decent house and dignified job needs it now—this winter."

More than 5,000 church leaders from all parts of the nation are here for the week-long assembly. They represent major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox bodies with an aggregate membership of 40 million persons.

Message Of Greeting

This morning's session of the assembly was highlighted by a message of greeting from the World Council of Churches, delivered by its general secretary, the Rev. Dr. W.A. Visser 't'Hooft of Geneva, Switzerland.

Dr. Visser 't'Hooft said the Ecumenical Council of the Catholic church, now winding up its second session in Rome, has been a source of "great encouragement" to all who are working for Christian unity.

He said the "first fruits" of Catholic commitment to the cause of reunion can already be seen in such things as "the opportunities for frank discussion" at every level down to the local parish, and "the readiness on both sides to confess guilt for the wrongs which have caused the great estrangement."

Diservice To Movement

But the World Council leader warned that it would be a disservice to the unity movement to "be carried away by a romantic enthusiasm" about the possibility of resolving all difficulties soon.

"It seems to me that in spite of all the progress that has been made, our Roman Catholic brethren and we still have rather different conceptions of what genuine ecumenical dialogue really means," he said.

Methodist Bishop Gerald H. Kennedy of Los Angeles said in another address that Americans think of themselves as being very generous to their churches, but in comparison to their income, they are actually "giving very little."

He said that the Biblical standard of tithing — giving one-tenth of your income to church and charity — "ought to be preached as the Christian minimum."

Accusations made by mother of Lee Oswald

FORT WORTH (UPI) — The mother of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald came out of seclusion Sunday night and blamed police and federal authorities for the death of both her son and President Kennedy.

Mrs. Marguerite Oswald, 56, told the Fort Worth Star Telegram the Federal Bureau of Investigation should have been watching her son since they knew he once defected to Russia.

The paper said Mrs. Oswald's temper flared at times during the interview. At other times there were tears.

She said she would accept the findings of a state court of inquiry proposed by Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Car. "But I would like an opportunity to verify that they are proven facts," she said.

"I want another question answered," the paper quoted her as saying. "Why would (Jack Ruby) be allowed within a few feet of a prisoner—of any prisoner—when I could not see my own son?"

Her son was shot to death in the basement of the Dallas police station a week ago Sunday by Ruby, who is now awaiting trial for murder.

She emphasized she was a person seeking the facts, not a mother protecting her son.

Kennedys fly to Palm Beach

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) — The grieving parents of President Kennedy today flew to their winter home in Florida. They planned to stop overnight in New York.

Aboard the family plane Caroline were Joseph P. Kennedy, 75, his wife, Rose, 72, and his niece and constant companion, Miss Ann Gargan, 32.

The elder Kennedy, who suffered a stroke in December, 1961, waved and smiled at the handful of persons who were on hand at Barnstable Municipal Airport.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, the late President's brother, will shut down the Kennedy compound for the winter.

The rest of the family including the President's widow, Jacqueline Kennedy, and their two children left Sunday.

While the elder Kennedy's are at Palm Beach, Fla., the complex of family homes overlooking Nantucket Sound will remain under heavy police guard.

ADDITION DEDICATED HERMISTON (UPI) — A $300,000 addition to Good Shepherd Hospital here was dedicated in formal ceremonies Sunday.

Heart attack takes life of cartoonist Jimmy Hatlo

CARMEL, Calif. (UPI) — Cartoonist Jimmy Hatlo, who rose from a printer's devil to creator of the popular "Little Iodine" and "They'll Do It Every Time" comic strips, died Sunday of a heart attack. He was 66.

Hatlo had been under a doctor's care for the past month. A native of Providence, R.I., he had lived on the Monterey Peninsula for the past 18 years. He called his Pebble Beach home "Wit's End."

Hatlo's full-time cartooning career started in 1925 in San Francisco by a stroke of chance that was to carry his work eventually into more than 700 newspapers around the world.

The Hatlo family moved from Rhode Island to California when Jimmy was one year old and his father took a job in the composing room of the Los Angeles Times.

Hatlo left high school and started his newspaper career in the composing room of the same newspaper. He worked briefly as an apprentice linotype operator before shifting to the art department where he contributed sports and editorial cartoons.

During World War I, Hatlo took a job in the publicity department of an Oakland, Calif., automotive assembly plant. He then worked briefly for the San Francisco Bulletin before taking a job as automotive editor of the San Francisco Call.

Hatlo was always an avid sports fan and in 1925 he tossed a cartoon on the desk of the Call's editor, Edgar (Scoop) Gleeson, depicting Stanford football team's win over California.

Gleeson was impressed and Hatlo's cartoons began appearing regularly in the Call's sports pages. He later moved up to editorial cartoons. When a vacancy opened in the art department, Hatlo took the job and began drawing a popular feature of the day called "Bug-house Fables."

That cartoon soon led Hatlo to create "They'll Do It Every Time," a light satire on the contradictions of modern life. The strip was syndicated in 1935.

Hatlo fans soon began demanding more cartoons, and in 1942 he created the impish Little Iodine.

Hatlo leaves his wife, Lois, and son, James. Funeral services will be held Tuesday at St. John's Cathedral, Monterey.

SMITH GETS AWARD WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Reserve Officers Association will present its 1964 "Minute Man of the Year" award to Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, R-Maine, at a banquet here Feb. 28.

Brig. Gen. James E. Frank, who made the announcement of the award this weekend, said that Mrs. Smith, a colonel in the Air Force Reserve, "has made a significant contribution to the stability and effectiveness of the armed services."

Western European Union begins assessment of cold war status

PARIS (UPI) — The Western European Union, a seven-nation organization of the Common Market nations and Britain, today undertook its first assessment of the state of the cold war since President Kennedy's death.

The four-day talks will range over disarmament, the strength of North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) forces, relations with Russia since the test ban, and prospects for renewed understanding between Britain and the Common Market.

The defense discussions will serve as a preliminary for the NATO council meeting here in two weeks' time. Britain and the market nations—France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Holland, and Luxembourg—all belong to both WEU and NATO.

As the WEU delegates gathered for their meeting here, two conferences in Luxembourg and Brussels were taking up Common Market trade problems.

Ministers of the trading bloc were discussing a proposed increase in steel tariffs in the Luxembourg meeting.

Germany, Italy, and France favor increasing steel tariffs to 9 per cent from their present 5 to 6 per cent. Belgium and the Netherlands oppose the rise.

President Johnson made known U.S. disapproval of the move last month while touring Europe as vice president. He said the increase would contaminate the atmosphere at next year's worldwide tariff talks in Geneva.
