Program set by geologists

"A Hundred Miles of Agate" will be the title of a program to be presented by Deschutes Geology Club members at their January meeting, to be held on Thursday at 8 p.m., in the Bend city hall.

The program will be illustrated with colored slides, and will deal with agate localities and mineral hunting along the Oregon coast.

John H. Eaton, president of the club, has stressed that visitors are always welcome at meetings.

Judge to give convention talk

Deschutes County Judge D. L. Penhollow has accepted an invitation to deliver a major address at the western regional convention of the National Association of County Officers, next month in Honolulu, Hawaii. He is president of the Oregon association.

Because the convention is being held outside the mainland, the entire membership of the national organization is being invited to attend. There will be about 25 county officers attending from Oregon.

Judge Penhollow will make his speech on Lincoln's birthday, February 12. The convention will open February 9, to continue through that day. It will be preceded by a trade mission on February 8 and 9, which several other Deschutes county residents are considering attending.

Judge and Mrs. Penhollow will leave February 9 by plane, and will arrive in Honolulu the next day. They will return to Central Oregon February 14. Delegates will be paying their own convention expenses.

Mrs. Penhollow's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Burgess of Phoenix, Ariz., will be vacationing in Honolulu at the same time. They will meet the Penhollows there.

Salaries of state civil service workers below those paid by private employers

By Zan Stark
UPI Staff Writer
SALEM (UPI)—More than 80 per cent of the present salary ranges for civil service employees are lower than the salaries being paid for comparable work by other private and public employers in Oregon, the State Civil Service Commission reported today.

In its annual report to the governor, the commission said about 90 per cent of the salaries paid by the state are below salaries paid for comparable positions in neighboring states and by the federal government.

The commission also noted the number of applications for employment decreased by 2,542 last year. This was because of the state's "unfavorable salary position," it said.

The commission said classified employment increased from 20,199 in June of 1962 to 20,533 in June of 1963.

Education increases
 There was an increase of 305 employees in the State System of Higher Education and an increase of 226 employees in the State Highway Department during the one year period.

In all other agencies there was a net decrease of 177 classified employees.

Latin America topic for talk

Speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Bend Kiwanis Club Monday noon was the Rev. William Frank, Methodist missionary who recently returned from Bolivia.

He spoke on the importance of hoping to give Latin Americans a better way of life and stressed the need to base these efforts on a firm moral foundation. The speaker was introduced by the local Methodist minister, the Rev. James Thompson.

A new member of the club, John C. Kern, was inducted by Cort Hackett, Kern is Deschutes County Welfare administrator.

The meeting also marked the first one for the club under its 1964 president, Wayne Thompson.

Layoffs resulting from austerity cuts after the Oct. 15 tax referendum were not reflected in the report.

The commission listed classified employment by major divisions: Education 23 per cent, highway and parks 20 per cent, general government 15 per cent, mental health 12 per cent, natural resources 9 per cent, commerce and labor 8 per cent.

Death claims city attorney

ASTORIA (UPI) — Funeral was held today for Astoria City Atty. James L. Hope Sr., who died here Sunday at the age of 75.

Hope, who held the post for 36 years, had been ill for the last 1 1/2 years. He was a native of Rochelle, Ill., and attended the University of Notre Dame, where he was manager of athletics.

Hope moved to Portland in 1912 and taught for a year at Columbia University, now the University of Portland, before moving here to open his own law firm.

He was active in a number of Astoria civic organizations.

Statements go to veterans

SALEM (UPI)—Annual statements of loan accounts were mailed Monday to 30,000 borrowers under the state veterans' farm and home loan program.

Roy V. Bell, manager of the department's budget and finance division, said each statement shows the borrower's monthly payments for 1963 and how the money was applied to principal, interest, property taxes and mortgage life insurance.

"The important items to the borrower," Bell said, "are the amounts he paid in interest and property taxes for income tax purposes. That's why we try to get the statements out as rapidly as possible."

and protection of persons and property 6 per cent.

The commission noted "Oregon's average salaries for both large universities and regional colleges are reasonably competitive with those being paid by comparable institutions."

Of elected and appointive officials, the commission said "our salaries for these officials appear to be generally low, but may not be inadequate when viewed in the light of departmental programs and Oregon's population standing among the surveyed states."

Starting Salaries Up
 The commission noted "continuing upward pressure towards higher entrance salaries for recent college graduates is apparent. In some specialized academic fields and for outstanding graduates, the competitive market is keen."

In summary, the commission's report said "salaries paid in the labor market have continued to rise while state salaries are based upon salaries paid in the labor market in July, 1962. Our salaries are not advantageous in terms of recruiting and retaining qualified employees, but, except for certain specialized kinds of work, they are not so low at this time as to cause serious concern."

The commission compared 1963 employment of classified employees in various departments with 1962. The list did not include unclassified and exempt employees.

Some of those listed included: Agriculture, from 217 in 1953 to 398 in 1963; Board of Control, from 9 to 58; Employment Department, 537 to 809; Oregon State University, 943 to 1,735; University of Oregon, 407 to 920; University of Oregon Medical School, 353 to 1,333; Department of Education, 138 to 240; and Public Welfare, 782 to 1,047.
