The Bulletin, Tuesday, January 7, 1964

FACING UP TO WINTER—The expressions above go for most of the nation as the first severe snow and icy temperatures came sweeping in. Looking something like science fiction characters, two Evansville, Ind., service station workers take comfort in their homemade face masks as they go about their duties.

Sixth Marine victim counted

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (UPI)—The death of another Marine was reported Monday, raising to six the number of servicemen killed Sunday when a 2½-ton troop truck apparently experienced brake failure and plunged off a steep mountain road.

Thirteen others were injured, two critically. Only one escaped with minor injuries from the accident in the rugged northern section of this big Marine base.

One of the critically injured was Sgt. Paul L. Van Duyn, 35, husband of Nancee Van Duyn of Santa Ana, Calif., and son of Mrs. Viola Beattie of Lebanon, Ore.

Another Oregonian, Pfc. Lawrence Coblenz, 19, Portland, Ore., was listed in satisfactory condition.
