Officials hope to keep negotiated amateur truce

US effort may suffer with Mac's death

NEW YORK (UPI) — The death of General Douglas MacArthur could produce an adverse affect on the United States Olympic effort, although top amateur officials indicated today they would stand by the truce negotiated by the old warrior.

It was MacArthur, answering an urgent plea from the late President Kennedy, who brought the AAU and NCAA together last year and ended the strife that had threatened to demolish the U.S. team in the 1964 Olympic Games at Tokyo, Japan.

But even MacArthur realized that the truce was just that. A settlement had been reached and the U.S. was assured of sending its strongest team possible to Japan, but it was evident that the feud between the two powerful amateur athletic organizations was far from over.

"Gen. MacArthur realized from the start his mission was to arrange a temporary solution," said Col. Hull, executive director of the AAU, upon learning of the general's death. "And that is why he arranged for a later meeting with President Johnson has said he will abide by the sports agreements and commitments made by Kennedy.

Walter Byers, who as executive director of the NCAA is on the other side of the war ot Col. Hull, agreed with his adversary about the fine job of arbitration accomplished by MacArthur.

"He was a magnificent person of great intellect and I shall always treasure the opportunity I had to meet him," Byers said. "All the participants (in the AAU-NCAA discussions), particularly myself, were impressed by his ability to immediately grasp the issues and understand the problems and quickly reduce them to their simplest terms."

With the start of the Olympics just a few months away and faced by another enormous tussle with Russia for gold medals, it is assumed that the good citizens of the AAU and NCAA will forget their differences for the time being.

It is fitting that MacArthur should have played a major role in the coming U.S. Olympic effort. He was an avid sportsman all his life and as superintendent of the West Point Military Academy from 1919-1922 he adopted a formal intramural athletic program at the school that was the forerunner of many similar programs on other campuses around the country.

SUN VALLEY SHOOTER — Jerry Blann of Bend comes in third in the boys' downhill race of the Western States Junior Championships last week at Sun Valley. Blann's time was 2:32.0.

Two AAU cage stars round off U.S. Olympic 5

NEW YORK (UPI) — Larry Brown and Dick Davies looked as if they needed a chiropractor Sunday afternoon after everyone had finally stopped congratulating them for making the U.S. Olympic basketball team with a dramatic display of teamwork and hustle.

Brown and Davies, who play for the Akron Goodyear Wingfoots, led the AAU Stars to the team championship in the 1964 Olympic trials with a 78-73 victory over the NCAA Reds Saturday night at St. John's Gymnasium.

In addition to Brown and Davies, the AAU placed three other members of the winning team on the Olympic squad.

Named as forwards were Pete McCaffrey of Goodyear and Jerry Shipp of the Phillips 66ers. George Wilson of the Chicago Jamaco Saints will be one of four centers. Wilson, from Cincinnati University, had been overlooked by the NCAA which placed six of its men on the team.

Hazzard, Bradley Chosen

All-America guard Walt Hazzard of UCLA and All-America forward Bill Bradley of Princeton were named along with centers Jim Barnes of Texas Western and Mel Counts of Oregon State. Forward Joe Caldwell of Arizona State and guard Jeff Mullins of Duke completed the NCAA representation.

Center Lucious Jackson of Pan American (Tex.) was the only representative of the NAIA.

Pastrano, Ortiz to defend titles this week from challengers who hold jinxes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Willie Pastrano and Carlos Ortiz defend their world boxing crowns this week against challengers who have beat them in non-title fights.

Cat-footed Pastrano of Miami Beach risks his light heavyweight (175-pound) bonnet Friday night at New Orleans against aggressive Gregorio Peralta of Argentina in a nationally-televised 15-rounder.

In their only previous bout, handsome Peralta made an impressive United States debut last Sept. 20 by outpointing dancin' Willie in a 10-round over-the-weight match at Miami Beach. Now Peralta is favored at 7-5 to take the title.

However, Puerto Rican-born Ortiz of New York is a 2-1 choice to keep his lightweight (135-pound) turban Saturday night in a 15-round "rubber match" with southpaw Kenny Lane of Muskegan, Mich., at San Juan, P. R.

Lane Wins Match

Lane won a non-title 10-round decision over Carlos at Miami Beach, Dec. 31, 1958, but in their second encounter, June 12, 1959, at Madison Square Garden, Ortiz stopped the left-hander because of face cuts in the second round of their fight for the vacant junior welterweight (140-pound) title.

Another world champion has a non-title bout next Sunday when Sandro Mazzinghi of Italy, junior middleweight (154-pound) ruler, meets Hilario Morales of Mexico at Milan, Italy.

Peralta, hoping to become Latin America's first world light heavyweight champion, now boasts 28 straight victories. Only a fair puncher, his total 39-3-4 record includes 18 knockouts.

Gregorio and Willie are each 28 but Pastrano has had by far the greater ring experience in a 61-12-8 record that includes only 12 kayoes.

Friday night in the New Orleans Civic Auditorium wily Willie will be attempting his first defense of the title that he won from Harold Johnson of Philadelphia at Las Vegas, Nev., last June 1 on a controversial decision.

Fourth Defense

However, at San Juan, Saturday night, 27-year-old Ortiz will attempt his fourth defense of the lightweight title he took from veteran Joe Brown on a decision at Las Vegas, April 21, 1962.

In three defenses Carlos knocked out Teruo Kosaka (5), Doug Vaillant (13) and Flash Elorde (14) at Manila, Feb. 15.

The week's boxing schedule includes:

Tuesday: Houston, Tex. — Cleveland Williams vs. Tommy Fields. New York (Sunnyside) —Pete Toro vs. Juan Ramos. Las Vegas, Nev.—Willie Richardson vs. Sonny Moore.

Friday: New Orleans (Municipal Auditorium)—Willie Pastrano vs. Gegorio Peralta (light heavyweight title) — TV, Los Angeles (Olympic)—Raul Rojas vs. Joe Olguin. Rome, Italy — Sante Amonti vs. Alonzo Johnson and Nino Benevenuti vs. Sugar Boy Nando.

Three boxing champs slate ring action this weekend

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three world boxing champions are slated for action this weekend —two for title defenses.

Dancing Willie Pastrano of Miami Beach risks his light heavyweight (175-pound) crown Friday night at New Orleans in a nationally televised fight with Argentina's Gregorio Peralta, who whipped Willie in a non-title bout.

Carlos Ortiz of New York has been forced by the World Boxing Association (WBA) to defend his lightweight (135-pound) championship in a "rubber match" with southpaw Kenny Lane at San Juan, P.R., Saturday night. Each scored a victory in their two previous bouts outside the division.

Sandro Mazzinghi of Italy, junior middleweight (154-pound) champion, meets Hilario Morales of Mexico at Milan, Italy, Sunday night. This non-title fight will be Mazzinghi's first ring appearance since the automobile accident three months ago in which he was injured and his bride of 10 days was killed.

Oregon State U. nips UW team in track contest

CORVALLIS (UPI) — Oregon State tuned up for a dual meet with strong San Jose State here next weekend by defeating Washington 82-62 in track and field Saturday.

Lou Fasano sparked the Beavers with a 176-1½ effort in the discus for one of four meet records broken.

Oregon State captured 11 first places in the 17 events.

Double winners were the Huskies' Wariboko West, who captured the triple jump in 46-3¼ for a meet record and the broad jump in 23-8¼, and the Beavers' Butch Lumby, who came in first in the 100 and 220-yard dashes in 9.8 and 21.9.

Also breaking meet records were Oregon State's Gary Baker, with 8:59.5 in the two-mile run, and Lahcen Samsam, with 55-7 in the shot put.

The Beavers' 440-yard relay team of Gregg Macy, Rusty Brown, Lynn Eves and Lumby tied a meet mark in 41.7. The 330-yard intermediate hurdles, won by Brown in 37.5, was a new event.

Other winners for Oregon State were Macy, with 15.0 in the 120-yard high hurdles; Marv Radloff, with 14-6 in the pole vault;

Doubles, singles highlights final bowling rounds

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Doubles and singles competition highlighted today's final round of the national inter-collegiate bowling championships.

The West Coast's Region 2 shot a 2865 Sunday to take the team lead in the first round of the two-day competition. Bill Starnes of the University of Oregon sparked the team with a 621 series.

Gunnar Voltz, a freshman at Wisconsin's State College at Oshkosh and a representative of Region 6, fired games of 226-229-204 for high series of 659.

Larry Quibell of Western Michigan came up with high game of the night—a 238.

The 56 college competitors survived a nationwide eliminations contest which involved 13,000 bowlers. Awards will be made for team doubles, singles and all events, with the all events winner to receive the Morehead Patterson Award.

Past winners have been Mike Flanagan of Washington in 1961, George Pajer of Bowling Green in 1962 and Ted Akin of Arlington (Tex.) State in 1963.

Cactus League action continues

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Cactus League scratches:

Ken McBride, the Los Angeles Angels star right-hander, was discussing pilots who "over manage." Ken said, "If I had a guy who could do the job, I wouldn't care if he pitched standing on his head."

"Yeah," said Bo Belinsky. "But he'd still have to keep one foot on the rubber."

Incidentally, catcher Bob Rodgers of the Angels thinks that Bo can make anybody into a better receiver.

"You have to hustle your pants off to keep up with his high and low pitches," Rodgers says. "But you can almost get complacent working with McBride. He always puts the ball right where you want it."

Manager Johnny Pesky of the Boston Red Sox often starts the day by breaking in gloves for his players. And while recently brushing off talk of friction between himself and outfielder Cary Yastrzemski, Pesky busily pounded a glove that bore the nickname, "Yaz"...

Jesus Alou was a pitcher in the San Francisco Giants' chain before becoming an outfielder. "I had a good fast ball and a slider," the Caribbean rookie says. "It must have been a slider because it didn't curve much."

Mary L. Faulk gains title at St. Petersburg

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) — Mary Lena Faulk, a 37-year-old pro from Thomasville, Ga., who improved her golf with each round, won the $10,000 St. Petersburg Women's Open golf tournament Sunday by three strokes with a final round 74.

Betsy Rawls, Spartansburg, S.C. fired a 72 in the same threesome with Miss Faulk to finish in a tie for second with Clifford Anne Creed of Alexandria, La., at 292.

Miss Creed shot 72 to pick up two strokes in the final round over the 6,237-yard Sunset Country Club.

Miss Faulk, putting with magic on the closing nine, finished with a 38-36—74 and a 289 for the tournament that gave her the top prize of $1,500.

DERBY RETURNS

NEW YORK (UPI) — After almost a year's absence, the roller derby will return to New York Saturday night, April 25, when the new series starts with the New York Clippers facing the Long Island Comets at Sunnyside Garden. A second meeting is set for May 2.

SOX OPTION TWO

SARASOTA, Fla. (UPI)—Pitchers Bruce Howard and Fred Talbot and outfielder Ken Berry were optioned to Indianapolis of the Pacific Coast League today by the Chicago White Sox.

Celtics, Hawks take lead and home court advantages in NBA

By United Press International

The Boston Celtics and St. Louis Hawks will have nobody to blame except themselves if they fail to meet in the final round of the National Basketball Association playoffs.

Both have the lead on their rivals and both have the home court advantage—although in the case of the Celtics the latter appears to be only an academic point.

The Celtics took a 3-0 lead over the Cincinnati Royals with a 102-92 victory Sunday night while the Hawks went ahead, 2-1, in their series by beating the San Francisco Warriors, 113-109. The Celtics thus need only one victory in a possible four remaining games to clinch their series while the Hawks, having already beaten the Warriors at San Francisco, will win if wins occur on home courts as they so often do in NBA competition.

Defense was the name of the game for the Celtics Sunday night—a stifling defense that disorganized the Royals' offense and made Boston's win at Cincinnati look easy.

Bill Russell, 6-foot-10 rebounding genius, led the Celtics' defense with 28 rebounds and received brilliant support from K.C. Jones and Tom Sanders. Sanders held high-scoring Jack Twyman to one field goal on 10 tries in the first half by which time the Celtics had a 55-37 lead. Jones was the digger who forced the Royals into mistakes of which Russell was seemingly always on hand to take advantage.

Wilt Chamberlain scored 46 points for the Warriors but missed two free throws that would have tied the score at 109-109 and Hawk Coach Harry Gallatin commented, "we did a great job on him—he's always tough."

The Hawks took the lead for good at the end of the third period, 85-84, on a basket by Chico Vaughn and the Warriors never tied again although they were within one point several times in the fourth period.

Bob Pettit led the Hawks with 26 points, Vaughn and Zelmo Beaty had 22 each and Richie Guerin added 20.

The Boston-Cincinnati series resumes in Cincinnati on Tuesday night while the St. Louis-San Francisco series resumes in St. Louis on Wednesday night.
