State to cancel pier contract in bridge project

SALEM (UPI)—The state of Oregon has fired the latest blast in the battle over pier construction on the $24 million Astoria-Megler bridge near the mouth of the Columbia River.

The State Highway Commission announced it was terminating the $7.8 million contract of the De Long Corp., of Brooklyn, N. Y., to construct 32 piers for the bridge.

Earlier the De Long Corp. had brought suit in Portland Federal Court.

The commission also told the Travelers Indemnity Co. of Hartford, Conn., holder of the De Long Corp. surety bond, that it would be held responsible for completion of the work.

The highway group said that if the bond holder did not get work going promptly it would either do the job with state crews or call for a new contract.

The commission told the De Long Corporation that it was rescinding the contract "for willful failure or refusal... to faithfully perform the contract."

Suit Claims Errors

Last month the De Long Corp. filed suit in U.S. District Court in Portland, claiming the state had provided faulty engineering specifications. The corporation said the Highway Department made faulty test borings in the river bed and that water had seeped beneath the footings to Pier 169 in the middle of the river, and had ruined concrete work.

The suit seeks to allow the contractor to continue work on a cost-plus basis. The state has asked that the suit be dismissed.

Stoppage of work on the pier project has virtually halted major construction on the 4.1 mile bridge, which was originally scheduled for completion in mid-1965. The Highway Department has been unable to provide a new date for completion.

In Astoria, E. J. Schelde, De Long office manager, said Col. L. B. De Long, of the construction firm, was in Europe on business.

In a letter to the corporation and the indemnity company, the Highway Commission listed eight points of alleged contract violation:

—Substantial abandonment of the project.

—Refusal and failure to supply sufficient properly skilled workmen.

—Failure to remove and replace defective work, particularly at Pier 169.

—Failure to make prompt payment for material and labor.

—Disregard of instructions of the engineer to proceed with the work.

—Inability or unwillingness to proceed with the contract by its terms as shown by the complaint filed in U.S. District Court.

—Failure to vigorously prosecute the work.

—Failure to complete the various units of work by contract deadline.

Huettl-Page vows exchanged

Miss Diane Huettl and Jerry Page, both of Bend, were married March 26 in Caldwell, Idaho.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Huettl, Butler Road. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Page, 1132 E. Second Street.

Both young people attended Bend High School.

A reception in honor of the newlyweds will be held Sunday, April 12, at 1:30 p.m. at the Pine Forest Grange Hall.

Service clubs to hear choirs

Bend service clubs will join tomorrow for a musical program to be provided by the Bend Senior High School choirs, directed by Norman K. Whitney.

The combined meeting of the service groups will be in the basement of the Elks' hall, where luncheon will be served at noon. Whitney said a half hour program is planned, with 80 high school students to take part.

Lions, Kiwanians, Rotarians and Jaycees will join in the luncheon meeting, which will substitute for scheduled luncheons.

HOST OFFICER—Maurice F. Roberts, Redmond, grand commander of the York Rite Masonic lodge, has a key role in York Rite Masonic convocation to be held next week.

York Rite Masons planning session here, April 12-16

The annual grand session of York Rite Masons of Oregon will be held at the Masonic Temple in Bend next week, opening Sunday, April 12, and continuing through Thursday, April 16. Some 500 persons, members of the various branches, are expected to attend all or part of the five days.

This will be the first time for Central Oregon to host the grand session in a number of years. Maurice F. Roberts, Redmond, is grand commander of the Grand Commandery, Knights Templar.

The session will open with religious services Sunday at 2 p.m. at the Masonic Temple.

The Grand Commandery will meet Monday at 9 a.m., with Roberts in charge. Lyman C. Palmer of Eugene, North Pacific department commander of the Grand Encampment, will represent Paul M. Moore, grand master of the Grand Encampment of the United States of America.

The Grand Council of Royal and Select Masters will assemble Tuesday at 9 a.m., under the direction of Herman R. Huse, Reedsport, grand master. The Thrice Illustrious Masters degree will be conferred Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons will convene Wednesday at 9 a.m., under the leadership of Claude F. Sanders, of Winchester Bay, grand high priest.

Knights of the York Cross of Honor will be meeting Monday at 4 p.m. This branch is comprised of men who have served as head officer of all three bodies, in their home towns.

A special program of activities is being arranged for wives of Masons who will be accompanying their husbands to Bend.

Green Guards presented with copies of two original songs

SISTERS — At the April meeting of the Sisters Green Guards Mrs. Rex Trowbridge presented each member with a copy of two original songs written by Rex Trowbridge, "Timber" and "On to Oregon." She also gave some background on these and played recordings of them, and the children sang with the records. The meeting was held at the home of their leader, Mrs. John Newman, who served refreshments.

Thirty Sisters High School students turned out on Saturday for a clean-up day at the grounds of all three schools. In the evening the group, costumed in their work clothes, enjoyed a dance at the multi-purpose room.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hooker of Baker visited Monday at the Walter Hockett home.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Brandon were weekend guests in Springfield at the home of her brother and family, the Roy Wilsons. They also visited with other relatives in Springfield and Eugene. Mrs. Brandon's father, Roy Wilson, returned home with them for a visit.

Mrs. Marge MacDonald's third grade class recently visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Barclay to see their new ten-day old colt. On returning to the school the children walked through the woods and along

School choirs to participate in Bend clinic

A Central Oregon vocal clinic featuring high school choirs from the tri-county region will be held in Bend Saturday. The time will be 8 p.m. in the Bend Senior High auditorium.

In former years, bands and a choir of the area joined in a music festival in Prineville, but this year, the project has been divided. Last Saturday, bands participated in a program in Prineville. On Saturday of the present week, the choirs will come to Bend.

There will not be a mass choir this year, but each choir from each school in the Mid-Oregon area will take part in the clinic. An honor choir, a select group from all Central Oregon choirs, will sing four numbers.

Directing the choir at the clinic will be J. Manzo from Eastern Oregon College. His choir received a standing ovation in Casper, Wyo., at the All-Northwest convention last April.

Tickets will be on sale through the present week, up until Saturday, and will be available at the door the night of the performance.

Norman K. Whitney, director of music in the Bend school system, said some 300 students will be here Saturday for the clinic.

Special to The Bulletin

FORT ROCK — Precipitation at The Poplars, weather station southeast of Fort Rock totaled 2.81 inches the first three months of the year. This compares with 4.11 inches in 1963.

The 1963 total of 13.44 inches produced good range feed for wintering and snowfall has been light.

Blue Bird dad-daughter banquet held

Blue Bird Girls of Bend entertained their fathers at their annual Dad - Daughter Banquet last night, at the Elks Lodge, with some 300 persons attending.

Theme for this year's banquet was "The Camp Pinewan Story" which was carried out in the program and by table decorations prepared by the individual groups.

Master of ceremony duties were shared by Darrell Liska, member of the Camp Fire board, and Mrs. Barbara Reynolds, Camp Fire executive director.

General chairman of the event was Mrs. William Schatzenkerk, whose daughter, Carol, was honored during the evening as Blue Bird winner of the candy sale poster contest.

Highlights of the program were group singing, led by Mrs. Darrell Liska, with Mrs. Ernest Liska as accompanist, and a skit presented by the "Singing Blue Birds," a third grade group led by Mrs. Liska, Mrs. Schatzenkerk and Miss Caroline Berg.

Members of the Horizon Club (senior high school Camp Fire Girls) assisted with serving, with Mrs. Eddie Berg in charge of kitchen arrangements. The work of setting up tables was handled by Earl Reynolds and Tom Winbigger, assisted by a group of high school boys.

Camp Fire Girls will hold their Dad - Daughter Banquet, Wednesday, April 8, also at the Elks. Redmond banquets were held last week.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Huettl, Butler Road. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Page, 1132 E. Second Street.

Both young people attended Bend High School.

A reception in honor of the newlyweds will be held Sunday, April 12, at 1:30 p.m. at the Pine Forest Grange Hall.

Judge reports lack of choice on delinquents

PENDLETON (UPI) — Umatilla County Judge D. R. (Sam) Cook, told with other judges about overcrowding at MacLaren school in Woodburn, said Monday he "has no choice" but to continue sending delinquent boys there.

Cook said there was a "definite" need for a maximum security farm home in Eastern Oregon, but lacking such facility there is nothing else to do with youthful offenders but send them to MacLaren.

His comments came after receiving a letter from J. N. Peet, secretary of the Oregon Board of Control, advising county judges to "debar some of the commitments which would normally be made to MacLaren school and instead to try either probation or other approaches between now and June 1."
