Minkah Fitzpatrick: Some people questioned the decision the Steelers made last season to deal a first-round pick to Miami for the playmaking safety despite an injury to quartermade the playoffs a remote possibility.

Fitzpatrick elevated a defense that helped Pittsburgh finish 8-8, meaning the pick fell to 18th instead of the top 10. Fitzpatrick has had another strong season with 11 passes defensed and four interceptions, including a pick-six in the first game against Cleve-

Chase Young: The No. 2 overall pick in the draft has had a big rookie season in Washington. He helped bolster an already strong defensive line that has been the strength of the team and gives it a chance against Tom Brady and the Buccaneers.

Young had 7½ sacks and four forced fumbles. Young started the season fast and then hit a lull. But he has seemed to son with four sacks, two forced fumbles, three fumble recoveries and one defensive touchdown over the final six games. Jonathan Taylor: After a slow start to his rookie season in Indianapolis, ranking tied for 23rd in rushing with 428 yards in his first 10 games, Taylor emerged as a star down the stretch to get the Colts to the postseason. He ran for 741 yards in the final six games with 150 against the Raiders and 253 in the playoff-clinching win over Jacksonville. Only Derrick Henry was more productive in that stretch and Taylor finished third on the season with 1,169 yards. The Colts will likely need another big performance to keep pace with the high-powered Bills on Saturday.

Chris Godwin and Mike vans: The two 1ampa bay wideouts have been among the most productive receivers in the league but never managed to make it to the playoffs until Brady arrived in 2020. Evans is the first player to begin his career with at least 1,000 yards receiving in each of his first seven seasons but is nursing a left knee injury that leaves his status in doubt this week. Godwin was slowed a bit by injuries this season but still has 3,015 yards and 23 TDs over the past three seasons.

Cleveland Browns quarterback Baker Mayfield (6) scrambles against the Pittsburgh Steelers last Sunday in Cleveland. Mayfield leads the short-handed Browns against the Steelers in the wild-card round. The Browns' last playoff appearance was in 2002.

Invitations have also been extended to defensive tackle Haskell Garrett and linebacker Pete Werner.

There are perhaps 20 players who could potentially be drafted in April after playing for the Crimson Tide and Buckeyes.

Quarterbacks

Ohio State's Justin Fields was amazing against Clemson, throwing six touchdown passes and showing off accuracy and arm strength all over the field. He also displayed poise and toughness, playing most of the game after taking a nasty hit to his side.

That came after an inconsistent and truncated season that has called into question Fields' status as the best available QB behind Trevor Lawrence.

"There's a lot of buzz around the league about (BYU's) Zach Wilson being the No. 2 pick in the draft behind Lawrence," said Dane Brugler, a draft analyst for The Athletic. "Fields, with what he did, it changed that a little bit. He's making teams kind of go back and reconsider."

The Alabama defense has

Ohio State defensive back Shaun Wade plays against Indiana in November in Columbus, Ohio. Wade may have a chance to prove his worth to NFL scouts if he has any success in defending Alabama receiver DeVonta Smith in Monday's championship game.

had some bumpy moments, but it is still the most talented group Ohio State has faced, starting with SEC defensive player of the year Patrick Surtain III. The junior will probably be the first cornerback drafted if he declares.

Plus, Fields will be tested by Alabama schematically.

"Give (Tide coach) Nick Saban 10 days to figure you out and to find your weaknesses, that's terrifying," said Matt Miller of NFL Draft Scout.

Alabama quarterback Mac Jones is among the second tier of quarterbacks in the upcoming draft that includes Florida's Kyle Trask and maybe SMU's

Shane Buechele. Jones has been superb, but he doesn't have athletic traits comparable to Fields and Lawrence. Jones is surrounded by top-end talent, and offensive coordinator Steve Sarkisian has done a good job of scheming receivers open and creating mismatches.

"He's a very, very difficult evaluation because how do you separate him from just an elite situation," Brugler said of Especially on the heels of former Alabama star Tua Tagovailoa's rookie NFL season, which was solid but far from spectacular.

Wade's world

Ohio State cornerback Shaun Wade made the All-America team, but that was a generous evaluation based on reputation and last year's play when he was a nickelback and slot corner.

His move to the outside this season has been spotty at best and indicative of Ohio State's cornerback play in general. Now, he gets to face Smith, a sure first-rounder, and the gemstone of Alabama's prolific passing game. "If I'm Alabama and Steve Sarkisian, I'm getting DeVonta Smith on (Wade's) side of the field as much as humanly possible because no one has been able to stop him," Miller said.

Brugler said Wade's future might still lie at safety.

"At the same time, if he goes out there and performs at a high level against Smith, then all of a sudden that's a different conversation," Brugler said. "But based on what we've seen from Shaun Wade this year, it just doesn't seem like a realistic possibility."

In the trenches

Alabama defensive tackle Christian Barmore is a thirdteam All-American and a third-year sophomore, so he is no sure thing to enter the draft.

The 310-pounder has not played at a consistently high level that would make him a lock first-rounder. Still, Brugler said the defensive line class is thin at the top of this draft and Barmore has a chance to be best of the bunch.

Barmore will face a good test in Ohio State's interior line. All-America guard Wyatt Davis and Meyers are likely Day 2 draft picks with bottom of the first-round potential.

Sermon delivers

Ohio State running back Trey Sermon has gone on a remarkable late-season tear with 636 yards rushing in his last three games. He should expect to see a lot of linebackers Dylan Moses and Christian Harris, the top two tacklers for the Crimson Tide.

Nagy said Sermon looked like a potential starting NFL running back before injuring his knee last season while at Oklahoma.

"He's gotten his opportunity these past few weeks there for Ohio State and he's taken full advantage of those, but to do it against a Nick Saban defense in a national championship game would just be that next level for him," Nagy said.

Prep sports

Q: Is there a threshold the OSAA has to reach to return to sanctioned sports. or do all counties have to be open for sports to return?

A: We have talked about it with our board. Does age of schools that are able to? As of yet, we haven't done that. It has been more of the approach we took in Season 1 — if you can do it, then let's do it.

Q: If sports like volleyball (indoor sport) and football (currently prohibited) cannot go on Feb. 22, could we see those sports move or canceled?

A: We talked a lot about that when we met with the board in December and we shuffled the seasons around. Certainly the outdoor activities we feel good about. Those indoor ones or football, or basketball and wrestling later in the year that are still prohibited, if something doesn't change at that point and they are still prohibited, then what are our options? Options would include moving them again.

Q: With schedules already cut to the bare bones, can seasons be condensed anymore or will there have to be decisions to cancel the seasons?

A: We condensed them a little bit in August, and then condensed them again. I think you get to the point where you can only condense something so much. I don't know that we are there; if we aren't, then we are really close. It is really interesting because the narrative has changed as we have talked with people. Early on it was 'we want eight weeks.

As time has gone on and because of the mandates and things we haven't been able to play, some of those responses have changed to 'we just want to play anything.
