Daily Bridge Club Millard's overtake

By FRANK STEWART Tribune Content Agency

"Declare this contract," Cy the Cynic said, showing me today's North-South cards. "You're at four spades. West leads the queen of hearts.

I said I would play low from dummy, ruff the third heart and take the K-Q of trumps. If trumps broke 3-2, I would draw the last trump and play a low club from both hands in case of a 4-1 break. If East won and led a diamond, I could take the ace and run the clubs to discard diamonds. "What if trumps split 4-1?" the Cynic asked.

"Then I start the clubs at Trick Six, hoping they break 3-2," I said. "When a defender ruffs, I win any return and go to the ace of trumps to finish the clubs.

SAME PLAN

"My plan was the same," Cy said. He filled in the East-West cards. "But East was Millard.'

Millard Pringle is a quiet little man who often gets lost in the maze of defensive rules.

"When dummy played low on the second heart," Cy said, "Millard played the ace! I hope I never find out why. He then led a diamond. Make four spades now."

DAILY QUESTION

You hold: ▲ A 8 5 ♡K 4 2 ◊ 6 2 A Q 7 3 2. You open one club, and your partner bids one spade. Not in today's deal raised to two spad with this hand. Do you agree w that call? ANSWER: I agree. In r experience, raising a major-s response with decent three-ca support in a suitable hand is winning action. Anyway, no oth bid is attractive. A rebid of two clu would promise a six-card suit. bid of 1NT with two low diamon doesn't appeal. North dealer
