Daily Bridge Club Cy's wrongful defense By FRANK STEWART

Tribune Content Agency

"Wendy is still on your case?" I asked Cy the Cynic.

Cy, a chauvinist, and Wendy, my club's feminist, are adversaries even when they are partners.

"After the penny game," Cy bit out, "she asked me what I wanted for lunch. When I told her, she said I was wrong.'

The two were today's East-West. Wendy led the jack of diamonds against South's game.

"Dummy played low," the Cynic said, "and I signaled with the seven. South won and led the A-Q of trumps. Wendy won and led another diamond, but South ruffed the third diamond, drew trumps and claimed. Wendy said I was as slow as next-day delivery in a nanosecond world."

BEST CHANCE

Since Wendy probably has four trumps, Cy's best chance is to try for a forcing defense. To duck the first diamond is unlikely to gain. Cy must grab his ace and lead the KING and a low club. To lead low first won't do. South must ruff, and when Wendy takes the king of trumps, she leads the ace of clubs. South must ruff again and has lost control.
