Daily Bridge Club

Good news, bad news

By FRANK STEWART
Tribune Content Agency

The play by today's declarer reminds me of an old dictionary that had pages torn out in both the front and back: It went from bad to worse.

South's leap to four spades was bold. He ruffed the second heart, drew trumps and took the ace, king and queen of clubs. If the jack had dropped, South could have pitched a diamond from dummy on his ten, losing at most two diamonds and a heart.

As it was, West showed out on the third club: bad news. South ruffed his last club in dummy and led a diamond to his king, and West took the ace: worse news. East got two more diamonds for down one.

bid two diamonds and he jumps to three hearts. What do you say?

ANSWER: Partner's jump is game-invitational. If he wanted to commit to game, he could have bid four hearts or made a temporizing forcing bid. Since your values are minimum, to pass is indicated. If vulnerable, with more to gain by making game, you might risk four hearts.

NORTH
♠ K 10 9 8
♥ 7 4 2
♦ 6 5 3
♣ K 5 4

BETTER

The news could have been better. After drawing trumps, South can ruff dummy's last heart and take the A-K of clubs. When East follows low on the next club, South plays the ten.

When the ten wins, the contract is safe. But even if West took the jack, South would make four spades. West would have to lead a diamond, letting South's king score, or lead a heart, conceding a ruff-sluff.
