SPORTS BRIEFING

BASKETBALL

Ducks' Lawson transferring to Memphis — Former Oregon forward Chandler Lawson and his brother, Johnathan, who was previously committed to UO, are both headed to Memphis. Their father, Keelon Lawson, announced his sons were committing to the Tigers Thursday morning on radio in Memphis. Chandler Lawson entered the transfer portal earlier this month. Johnathan Lawson was released from his letter of intent following Chandler's entering the transfer portal.

Beavers' Alatishe to go through pre-draft process, expected to return to OSU — Oregon State forward Warith Alatishe plans to submit his name as an early entry for the 2021 NBA draft, but he is expected to return to school and play for the Beavers next season. Alatishe, a junior who transferred to OSU after spending two years at Nicholls State, averaged 9.5 points and 8.6 rebounds a game. The 6-foot-7 forward was one of three players to start in all 33 OSU games this season. Oregon State

NFL Draft

CB Bryan Mills, North Carolina Central

Mills, who is 6-1, made five interceptions and had eight pass breakups in 2019. He got a Senior Bowl invitation even though North Carolina Central didn't have a fall season in 2020.

OL Quinn Meinerz, Wisconsin-Whitewater

Meinerz, the lone Division III player on this list, also didn't play this fall because the pandemic prevented

Wisconsin-Whitewater from having a fall season. The 6-3, 320-pound Meinerz gained plenty of attention in Senior Bowl workouts despite breaking his hand that week. He's most likely to play center in the NFL.

WR Cade Johnson, South Dakota State

Johnson was a 2019 finalist for the Walter Payton Award that goes annually to the top FCS player. Johnson entered the transfer portal when South Dakota State delayed its season, but he ultimately decided to enter the draft. He caught a combined 139 passes for 25
