Mikesell leaving UO women's team for Ohio State

7 p.m.

ESPN

- Taylor Mikesell is headed back to the Big Ten and to her home state. The former Oregon guard, who entered the transfer portal on Monday, announced she's headed to Ohio State. The Massillon, Ohio, native averaged 9.3 points, 2.4 rebounds and 1.8 assists in 24.9 minutes over 24 games with 20 starts this season for the Ducks. Mikesell, who came to UO from Maryland last summer, has two years of eligibility remaining. She was one of three guards to leave the Ducks this offseason, along with Taylor Chavez (Arizona) and Jaz Shelley (Nebraska), and all three ended up at other Power 5 programs.

GOLF

Bradley leads after 1st round at PGA Tour's Valspar Championship — Keegan Bradley can't recall having an easier time than he did Thursday at Innisbrook. He missed only one green. His longest par putt was just over 4 feet. It added to a 7-under 64 and another great start in the Valspar Championship. Bradley ran off four birdies over his last five holes and a two-shot lead on a day of low scoring not typically seen at this PGA Tour stop. Riviera winner Max Homa had eight birdies and was in a large group at 66 that included

Emiliano Grillo and Ryan Moore.

Constantly playing against one another, including poking fun at one another with a sarcastic comment after one hits a less-than-ideal shot, has brought the best out of the two elder statesmen of the Storm team.

"You are always trying to one-up each other and then you keep going lower and lower without even realizing it," said Hughes, who admitted he might have shot a little better than his 74 Wednesday had he been in the same pairing as Renner. "Then it just feels normal to shoot under par

Goodell received plenty of kudos for his hosting of last year's draft in casual wear from his home.

On Thursday night, dressed in a suit, he lauded the folks who sit in the seats.

"We all agree over the past season, one thing we missed the most was all our fans," Goodell said.

"And we can't wait to have all of vou back in First Energy Stadium and every stadium across the league this season."

While Wilson was expected to go to New York, Lance was something of a surprise.

He played only 17 games for his FCS school, but his offseason workouts sold San Francisco.

"It was awesome getting to know coach Shanahan a little bit," Lance said. "He is an awesome dude and what he has done on the field speaks for itself."

Florida tight end Kyle Pitts, considered by many the best athlete in this draft, went fourth to Atlanta, followed by wide receiver Ja'Marr Chase of LSU, who sat out last season, to Cincinnati.

The first player from national champion Alabama off the board was wideout Jaylen Waddle to Miami, where he will be reunited with quarterback Tua Tagovailoa.

Oregon's Penei Sewell picked by Lions at No. 7

Detroit Lions general manager Brad Holmes found what he hopes will be a cornerstone for the Lions' rebuild Thursday, taking Oregon offensive tackle Penei Sewell with the seventh pick of the first round.

Sewell, considered the best lineman in the draft, should provide immediate help to an offense that ranked 20th in points scored and total yards last season and has undergone a complete metamorphosis this offseason.

The Lions traded longtime starting quarterback Matthew Stafford to the Los Angeles Rams for Jared Goff and three draft picks in January and overhauled their entire receiving corps, letting Kenny Golladay, Marvin Jones and Danny Amendola walk in free agency.

They return Pro Bowl starters T.J. Hockenson and Frank Ragnow, along with most of the rest of their offensive line, but entered the week searching for a No. 1 receiver and help at the right tackle/guard

Sewell started at left tackle at Oregon as true freshman and won the Outland Trophy as the nation's best lineman as a sophomore before opting out of last season due to COVID-19 concerns

Brien Bouyea, communications director for the National Museum of Racing and Hall of Fame, said many Black jockeys left for Europe because of better working conditions and never returned. Manny Ycaza came from Panama and blazed a trail for Latin American jockeys, who used riding schools and other factors that changed ontrack demographics.

Husbands said Carmouche becoming the first Black jockey to win the Kentucky Derby since 1902 "would be a blessing. It would bring tears to a lot of people's eyes."

The usually talkative and confident Carmouche paused several times trying to put into words what it would mean to follow the footsteps of jockeys like first Derby winner Oliver Lewis, Winkfield and Murphy.

"From my perspective, if I win this race, it would touch a lot of people," Carmouche said. "A lot of people will be crying, a lot of people will be happy and a lot of happy tears."
