UO women's program hires Hairston as assistant coach

— Jackie Nared Hairston is returning to Oregon. Most recently an assistant coach at Arizona, Nared Hairston is joining Kelly Graves' coaching staff at UO, where she was director of creativity and video during the 2017-18 season. Nared Hairston helped lead the Wildcats to a 21-6 record and their first Women's Final Four and NCAA title game appearances this past season. She developed Arizona's guards, including 2021 Pac-12 Player of the Year and twotime defensive player of the year Aari McDonald.

COLLEGE SPORTS

UO improperly transferred $5.8M to shore up athletic budget — Amid a pandemic-caused financial crisis in its athletics department last year, the University of Oregon improperly borrowed $5.8 million from a bond reserve fund, money that was exclusively dedicated to paying off the bonds that paid for the school's new basketball arena. The university moved the money in June to shore up the athletic department's finances. But the transfer was prohibited under terms governing the bonds. Treasury officials demanded that the deal be undone. University officials said the athletic department didn't know the transaction posed a problem "due to a bookkeeping error."

GOLF

Burns, Bradley tied for lead at PGA's Valspar — Sam Burns kept piling up birdies Friday, turning a solid start into a great round of 8-under 63 for a share of the lead in the Valspar Championship. Keegan Bradley got there with one shot. Bradley ended his round by holing out for eagle from 100 yards in the ninth fairway, over a deep bunker to the elevated green. That gave him a 66 and the best uphill walk at Innisbrook. Bradley and Burns were at 12-under 130. Lucas Glover (65), Charley Hoffman (66) and Max Homa (68) were four shots back.

"Games like this are what I really enjoy," Fisher said, "when there are tense situations and it is really competitive."

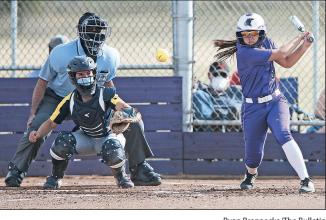

Fisher's pitching prowess did not come out of nowhere. Mauldin has been working with Fisher since she was just 10 years old. He said the best compliment he can give a player is calling them "a gamer." Thursday proved just that for Fisher. 'She battled through it," Mauldin said. "The last three innings, she was dominant. She is a pretty good 14-year-old."

After a slow start and giving up her first run (unearned) of the season, Fisher kept the Ravens off the scoreboard.

"I told (Mauldin) I felt off today," Fisher said. "He told me to do what I do. Then I just pulled myself together those final three innings."

If the pitching was not enough, Fisher drove in both runs in the final innings to clinch the win. In the seventh inning, Fisher hit a flyball to right field that hung and danced around in the wind. By the time the ball dropped, Fisher was able to circle the bases for an insidethe-park home run to tie the game 1-1.

Her game winning RBI was slightly less dramatic — with the bases loaded, she was hit by a pitch to bring home what would prove to be the winning

"I think she has all the tools," said Fischer, the Ridgeview coach who spent 23 years as the head coach at Oklahoma State and is a former pitcher. "She throws plenty hard, should probably show her change up a little more, but that's just me ...

I think she has a great future, without question?

The opposing freshman pitcher in the circle for the Ravens also had a standout performance. Kilby Johns struck out eight Bend batters and kept the Lava Bears off the scoreboard for nearly the entire game. "She neutralized us with her change up," Mauldin said, "and then got some of our younger girls with her rise ball. It was just good softball."

Thursday's matchup could become a common occurrence with both freshmen taking claim to their respective team's pitching slot. Central Oregon could be in for three more springs of memorable pitchers' duels between Fisher and Johns.

"This rivalry will be very strong for very long," Fischer said. "If they both continue to get better, they are going to be awesome."
