All aboard! Agatha Christie's "Murder on the Orient Express" arrives at Cascades Theatre Friday for a laugh-filled trip across Europe — at least until the luxury train becomes mired in snow and a murder occurs. Even then, the train may stop in its tracks, but the comic moments do not.

For the next three weekends, Cascades Theatrical Company will present the humorous whodunit, directed by Robert Flanagan, who makes his directorial debut after memorable performances in "These Shining Lives" and other productions. The play stars a well-cast array of local actors as the train's colorful passengers. You may not think of the mystery as
