

What's Available NOW On hulu

“Movie: King Arthur: Legend of the Sword”

Guy Ritchie’s ungainly 2017 retelling of the King Arthur legends originally was intended to be the first of six films, each following different characters from the English saga ... but this opening chapter, revolving around Charlie Hunnam’s Arthur, drew largely negative reviews and failed to recoup its budget. Djimon Hounsou, Aidan Gillen, Jude Law and Eric Bana also appear.

“Santa Evita”

This seven-part drama series from executive producer Salma Hayek Pinault follows the mystery of what happened to the body of beloved former Argentine first lady Eva “Evita” Peron in the years following her passing in 1952 at age 33. Natalia Oreiro, Diego Velazquez and Francesc Orella head the cast. (ORIGINAL)

“The Americans”

Keri Russell and Matthew Rhys earned critical praise and Emmy love for their portrayal of Soviet KGB agents who pose as an average American couple living in Cold War-era Washington, D.C., in this spy drama that aired on FX from 2013-18, all six seasons of which stream here. Keidrich Sellati, Holly Taylor and Noah Emmerich also star.

“Movie: Not Okay”

From writer/director Quinn Shephard (“Blame”) comes this darkly funny satire that stars Zoey Deutch (“Before I Fall”) as Danni, a misguided young woman who fakes a trip to Paris to boost her social media presence. But when a terrifying event occurs in the real world, it becomes part of the story of her fake trip. Dylan O’Brien and Mia Isaac also star. (ORIGINAL)

Checking in with MICHAEL STRAHAN

celebrity scoop
BY JAY BOBBIN

Though he made news himself not that long ago by going into outer space, Michael Strahan still has days when he’s amazed to have his “Good Morning America” seat.

The NFL veteran has been a host along with George Stephanopoulos and Robin Roberts on the weekday edition of the ABC program since 2016, and with all the news there is to cover now, he’s glad to be there. Still, he admits the show is “a beast. It’s the hardest thing I’ve ever done, first and foremost ... but secondly, it’s so interesting, and that’s why I love waking up and going there.

“I never get there and say, ‘I don’t want to be here.’ It is not Groundhog Day there. The news constantly changes, and there are always interesting interviews. It always keeps you engaged, and I have learned so much at ‘GMA.’ It’s all progressively gone in the right direction for me to be ready for it.”

Indeed, after his celebrated NFL career as a New York Giants defensive end, Strahan gained television experience from his work with Fox Sports (which continues) and his tenure as Kelly Ripa’s “Live” co-host. Now, he also operates a production company (which helps make the Strahan-hosted revival of “The $100,000 Pyramid” for ABC) and a clothing line, so his schedule is full.

“I’ve always got more than one thing going,” recent Blue Origin space voyager Strahan confirms, “but the good thing – and maybe I learned this from sports – is knowing how to compartmentalize, and to have a great team. I know what I need to do, where I need to be, and just get it done.”

Birthdate: Nov. 21, 1971

Birthplace: Houston

Current residence: New York

Marital status: Divorced; has a son and three daughters (including twins) from his two previous marriages

Other television credits include: “NFL on Fox,” “Fox NFL Sunday,” “GMA3: Strahan, Sara & Keke,” “Man in the Arena,” “More Than an Athlete,” “WWE Salute to the Troops,” “black-ish,” “Nightcap,” “Inside Amy Schumer,” “Nashville,” “Entourage,” “Are We There Yet?,” “Brothers,” “Chuck,” “SpongeBob SquarePants,” “Finding Your Roots With Henry Louis Gates, Jr.,” “Beat Bobby Flay,” “Fox NFL Kickoff,” “Lip Sync Battle,” “Who Wants to Be a Millionaire,” “Alpha House,” “The Real Housewives of Atlanta,” “America: The Story of Us,” “The Greatest Game Ever Played,” “CNN Heroes: An All-Star Tribute,” “Pardon the Interruption,” “CenterStage”

Movie credits include: “Charlie’s Angels,” “The Lego Ninjago Movie” (voice only), “Ice Age: Collision Course” (voice only), “Magic Mike XXL”