Probate Court Notes.

Order of sale of real estate of the W. D. Hudspeth estate.

I. L. Poujade released as administrator of the partnership property of Jones & Poujade.

Geo. Fry, administrator of the I. B. Hawkins estate, filed semi-annual account.

Sale of real estate of George W. McKnight estate approved.

The republican majority of the New York legislature made a record that should greatly assist the democrats in regaining control of the state. Ditto, ditto Kentucky.

It is expected that ten million dollars worth of gold will be taken out of Alaskan gold fields this year but most of us know something about the difference between expectation and realization.

Henry Watterson says Mr. Cleveland will seek the presidency every four years as long as he lives. Well, suppose he does. That won't hurt anybody, as he will never get it again!

Chauncy Depew is wise enough to make light of his failure to get an office from Mr. McKinley. He says he has been turned down so often by republican presidents that he has almost become used to it.

We don't know whether the report that Mr. McKinley had to give up walking and take to horseback riding, in order to escape the importunities of the hungry pie hunters is true or not, but we know that he has bought a horse and rides him for exercise, instead of walking as he did when he first took office.
