ONE OF THE BOYS.

An Episcopal clergyman of Grand Rapids, Mich., who belongs to the Order of Elks, attended a meeting the other evening. The chairman noticing his presence said: "I see our Rev. Brother ——— among us this evening. And as this is such an unusual occurrence, I think he will have to be assessed $5." The recter put his hand into his waistcoat pocket, and marching up to the desk, put down his "V" and made a nice little speach, in which he told how glad he was to be with his brother Elks, and ended by inviting them to come and hear him preach the next Sunday evening. Some one mooved that the Elks accept the invitation and go in a body to their brother's church, which was unanimously carried.

The next Sunday evening the front pews of the church were filled with Elks, and when the Rev. Mr. ——— assended his pulpit, he said: "I am delighted to see so many of my brother Elks here this evening but as it is such an unusual occurrence with the most of them, I think they should each be assessed $1. Let your light so shine, etc."

The way the silver dollars rattled on that plate was a caution. The contribution was much hearier than usual, and the Elks voted their reverned brother all right.

WILL NOT BE PUSHED.

Washington, Oct. 4.—The Oregon delegation is at sea as to the collector of customs at Portland, and the Geer declination has upset the slate. No one has been recommended for the collectorship yet. It is not known what the plans are. it may be safely predicted that Oregon appointments will not be pushed, and that no one faction can name the officers.

The delegation has recommended John H. Hall, of Portland, for district attorney, but he will not be appointed, as other Oregon republicans have recommended Judge Fee, and the president has been informed that Hall's appointment would be most unsatisfactory.

The recommendation of O. Summers for appraiser is not objected to, but the sound-money republicans do not want the appointment made until something satisfactory is agreed on regarding the collector and attorney.

The recommendation of the delegation for marshal may go through in time, as he is a man from east of the mountains.—Oregonian.

CATTLE THIEVES.

Sheriff Kilburn of Baker City, Ore., and posse, engaged in a battle with two cattle thieves about 9 o'clock Monday night on the lower Powder river. In all about 40 shots were exchanged. It was dark when the sheriff and his men came upon the bandits who had with them 80 head of cattle: Both sides opened fire and Fred Hull, one the thieves, was shot through the arm and arrested latter in Baker City.

It was the plan of the thieves to drive the cattle into Idaho and exchange them, and then drive the strange cattle back here for slaughter.—Vale Gazette.

Police Judge Miesner fined H Dale $50, Al Vaughn $35, M L. Crawford $35, and two Chinese $25 each, for violations of the city gambling ordinance. These fines were paid and will considerably swell the proceeds in the city treasury. but just why one individual should be compelled to pay a greater fine than another, for exactly the same commission of offense, was not explained by the court when he imposed the fines: But that, we presume is the courts business and he has a right to set the amount of any fine where he pleases just so long as he stays within the provisions of the ordinances under which he is acting at the time. It is no use to kick, "those who dance must pay the fiddler."—Weekly Epigram.

An exchange contains an interesting dialogue, said to have occurred between a young lady and her mother soon after the former's graduation from a female college. The daughter expressed a desire to continue her studies along lines of psychology, philology, etc. To this the mother emphatically replied: "Stop right where you are. I have arranged a thorough course for you in roastology, boilology, darnology and hustleology. Now go and get on your working clothes.

We understand that some of the prominant [?] citizens here propose circulating a petition to the county court for the removal of the present justice of the peace and constable of this precinct. If they will pursue their investigation far enough they will probably find that nothing short of an act of God or the legislative assembly will enable them to accomplish this happy result.—Sumpter News.

MUSIC.

By music, minds an equal temper know,
Nor swell too high, nor sink too low!
If in the Breast tumultuous joys arise,
Music her soft assuasive voice applies;
Or when the soul is press'd with cares,
Exalts her in enliv'ning airs.
Warriors she fires with animated sound,
Pours balm into the bleeding Lover's wound;
Melancholy lifts her head,
Morpheus rouses from his bed,
Sloth unfolds her arms and wakes,
Listning Envy drops her snakes;
Intestine War no more our passions wage,
And giddy Factions hear away their rage.—Pope.
