it doesn't matter how many go to Klondike there will be enough left to run for office.

Louisiana has decided to hold a constitutional convention to revise her constitution.

The United States is still sending relief supplies to the starving Cuban pacificos.

The snow and ice locomotives for Alaska are to be built at Portland and shipped from that port.

500 reindeer are now enroute from Norway for the Klondike to be used by the government relief expedition.

The governor of Kentucky made sure that his message would be read when he sent it to the newspapers and overlooked the legislature.

The doings at the secret session of senate leak out in some way; or at least the daily papers have it as quick as though an open session was held.

The native Spaniards of Cuba have tired of the war and autonomical resolutions and want the island freed or annexed to the United States. It is feared that they will provoke U. S. intervention and bring us into a war with Spain.

Conard Beck, a machinist, 46 years of age, is the first man in the world to have his stomach removed. Last week the operation was performed. When the abdomen was opened it was found that the disease extended the whole length from the esophagus to within one inch of the pylorus. All the stomach viscera were removed. Then the pylorus was sewed to the esophagus, making a complete and perfect duct. The fact that Beck has survived thus far is encouraging to science. This morning Beck was conscious but extremely weak.

According to the Alaska Miner a gentleman who has just escaped from the Klondike region, gives the following account of some things that happened there: "A man told me that he wintered up there seven years, that it was so cold in January that they froze the flames of their candles and sold them for strawberries. He said they kept their fires over night by putting them out in the air and letting them freeze, and then thawed them out in the morning. He said he had seen four men die of colic from eating whisky that was frozen so hard it wouldn't thaw inside of them. He said the cows gave ice cream till they froze to death. He said he knew a clerk in a hotel on the Yukon that got rich selling the diamonds he wore, said diamonds being nothing on earth but ice crystals that didn't thaw out until after the clerk got out of the country. He said he had seen a man fall off the roof of a barn and freeze so stiff before he hit that he broke in two when he hit the ground. He said he had seen smoke freeze in a chimney till the fire wouldn't draw, and he knew of one case where the smoke froze after it got too feet up and fell back on the house, knocking a hole in the roof big enough to drive a yoke of steers through. He said the reason that nights were so long in that country was that the dark got froze so hard the daylight couldn't thaw its way through in less than six months." Ex.
