"He aware men will have to be careful not to overstep the bounds of their own power, and the people of the world will not look after them, but will let them alone."

These are the words of the great philosopher, and they are as true now as they were then. In the days of the great republic, the people were the masters, and the government was their servant. But in these days of the great empire, the government is the master, and the people are its servants.

Shot Near the Heart.

One evening last week the report of a revolver brought out a large crowd to near the Log Cabin saloon, on front street, where Wm. S. Johnson, alias "Omaha Bob," lay with a bullet in his breast, near the heart.

It appears that Johnson was resisting arrest by Officers Jos. Hammond and James Baisley, and was shot in the affair by Officer Baisley.

The ball struck at a point midway on a line between the heart and pit of the stomach, making a terribly fatal wound.

Johnson is extremely sorry that he was shot, and desires that the coroner's inquest should be held as soon as possible.

Johnson had a fight with the Miners and was previously pronounced a lawbreaker, offering to fight anyone.

It is reported that "Omaha Bob" reached his hand toward his hip pocket, whereupon the policeman shot him.—Baker Democrat.

Rev. Dr. Charles A. Berry of the Queen Street church, W. Liverpool, replying to an influential American writes:

"My view, and I think it is generally held by rational Englishmen, is that the present situation in Spain is a very serious one, and that the United States Government in the aid Power which can restore order, and which will refer to the Spanish Executive is justified in insisting upon order, even if it becomes necessary to superintend the management of affairs."

Jerry Simpson's remarks upon the London trade mark in Representative Dingley's hat, in the house the other day, have been far reaching. One day this week Mr. Dingley was taking a stroll down Pennsylvania avenue. As he reached the National hotel corner, half a dozen youngsters with news papers under their arms spied him. One of the broke out into the erst-while popular vaudeville song:

Where did you get that hat?
Where did you get that tile?
The others joined in the refrain, and it was given with a will. The distinguished protectionist from Maine never looked up but plodded along down the avenue.

Pool, Wm. McKinley, how he is beating the days! Hanna and his corruption found contributors holding $300,000,000 of Cuban bonds are on one side, and the American people demanding the liberation of Cuba from Spanish despotism on the other. There is no doubt which side will win if war is not precipitated by the treachery of the Spaniards before the patriots of Cuba are enslaved to the bond holders.
