MAIN STREET, HARNEY, OREGON

507 Street, Burns, Oregon.

A cleaner naval victory was never achieved than that of Commodore Dewey over the Spanish fleet off Manila—the late Spanish fleet it should be, as it no longer exists. Three cheers and a tiger for Dewey. May he continue to do 'em in the same style.

We've got the men, and we've got the sand; We can lick 'em on sea, and we can lick 'em on land. We're remembering the Maine; We're downing Spain.

Cubans in the U. S. are lining up nobly to assist our boys in the final fighting for Cuban freedom.

Dixie Doodle Dandy has never been surpassed as a fighting tune. It's a winner every time.

If Sampson or Schley either is given an opportunity they will duplicate Dewey's great naval victory.

Fitz Lee's hold on that Major general's commission is as good as his hold upon the affections of his people.

The man who volunteers as a private acquires more available political capital than he who gets a commission through his social or political pull, and he deserves it.

The U. S. can dictate the terms of peace with Spain, after the Maine has been fully avenged, without any European assistance, and what is more, it will.

The Spaniards tore down a wood eagle in Madrid and smashed it to splinters, but when it comes to dealing with the live bird they are not doing any smashing to speak of.

The Oregon Congressional campaign—the election is in June—will attract its share of attention, notwithstanding the general interest in the war news. The silver men hope to confine the issue to finance—the free coinage of silver against the single gold standard.

Congress is in session and should remain in session as long as there is war; therefore there is no occasion for the enormous issue of bonds—$600,000,000—provided in the bill that passed the house and is now before the senate. Congress should wait until it is known that the war will be a long one—at this time all indications point to its being short—before providing for an issue of bonds.
