Five hundred million of bonds at 3 per cent will cost the people $150,000,000 in interest l'in ten years. Five hundred million of legal-tender notes would have cost nothing. They would be new money which would immediately vitalize business and make times prosperous. Between good and evil the goldites, as usual, have chosen to do the country the latter.—Watchman.

The selfish things! We have not yet seen a thing in the Oregonion or any of the republican papers to indicate that they were at all grateful for the services of the middle-of-the-road populists Of course they did not help much but they should have credit for what they did do. The republicans take all the glory to themselves and never a word for the middle-of-the-roader.

by W. J. Bryan, democratic candidate for president in 1896, has been accepted by the government and will be added to the contingent for the Philippines. Bryan has been commissioned colonel of the regiment by Governor Holcomb. If Colonel Bryan and his regiment are sent to the Phillipines, as is likely, he may be nominated and elected president in 1900 without having an opportunity to take "part in" the campaigu. Those who are now laughing in their sleeves at the skillful way a promising presidential candidate has been gotten rid of may not be able to fully appreciate the sequel.

The Oregonian of June 9th devotes considerable space to comments from Eastern gold bug papers on the result of the election in Oregon. Those papers, as well as the Oregonian, insist that it was won on the money question and that the war with Spain did not enter into the campaign at all.

Before the election one could not pick up a republican paper published in this state without reading something in regard to supporting the republican ticket and thereby uphold the administration in the war. There was not a republican speech made during the campaign but what the speaker referred to the war and that if the republican ticket was defeated it would mean that the people of Oregon were not loyal to the flag-traitors to their coun-
