The great northwest is the home of the sheep, and this region can clothe the world, and its manufacturing industries are going to be well represented at the Oregon Industrial Exposition. The extensive woolen mills and wool-scouring mills at Pendleton are going to have an exhibit second to none. Thereon E. Fell, their manager, is full of enterprise, and will work with a will to show up the wool interests of the Northwest. He will set up a loom in the exposition building and weave blankets, and show the people all about how it is done, including the weaving of handsome Indian robes which have found favor everywhere and supplied everything of the kind from Alaska to Arizona.

The Salem Woolen Mills will also put in an exhibit, and make a good showing in all their lines, and doubtless every woolen mill in the state will take the matter up and complete for prizes.

Scrofula
Makes the misery of thousands of people. It manifests itself in many different ways, like going, swelling, running sores, boils, salt rashes, eruptions and other eruptions. It is caused by a mucus which flows from the lungs down the spine, and is the last vestige of a scrofulous person eradicated by Hood's Sarsaparilla, the One True Blood Purifier.
Thousands of voluntary testimonials are on file, after the medicine is used by
